Woman With Kidney Disease Completes Medical Training Course

BY LEON B. CREWS

In honor of National Kidney Month, Fresenius Medical Care conducted a nationwide search of more than 130,000 patients through more than 1,700 facilities for 31 outstanding patients. These patients were recognized for their living their lives to the fullest while managing a chronic illness.

One of the patients selected was 33-year-old Tanysha Pitts, who is a full-time student and active community member while sustaining her night-time dialysis treatments.

By switching to night-time treatments in 2008, Pitts was able to free up her days to dedicate her time to her studies as a medical assistant and volunteer in the community. As an African American woman, Pitts understands that minorities are at a higher risk than the general population for Chronic Kidney Disease and she takes an active role in encouraging other patients to research dialysis treatment options, including trying the nighttime program.

Pitts said she was 14 when first diagnosed with the kidney problem. "I didn't get depressed about it then, and my parents were very supportive. It really didn't affect me until I reached my mid-20s. That's when I realized how the ailment limited some of the things I enjoyed doing. It took me 16 months to realize I could beat this, return to school, and still travel. I just decided I wasn't going to allow this to beat me."

Pitts said for anyone else going through this, she would encourage them to do as much as they can for others, keep moving, and keep striving. "Whatever you do, don't dwell on it. Have as normal a life as possible."

Pitts completed her internship last Tuesday and is now officially a medical assistant.

Stephanie Hall, Area Manager with Fresenius Health Care For Tampa, said the hardest thing for anyone with CKD is for them to lose control of the things they normally do.

"Going through dialysis can be traumatic for some until they work through the emotional and physical part of it."

"The fact Ms. Pitts has taken control of her life and didn't allow this to take over life proves it can be done and is very inspiring."

Pitts said she hopes her success will help encourage others suffering from CKD.

"You have to be strong to overcome any traumatic experiences. I believe people are a lot stronger than they know, and if life is important to them, they will do whatever it takes to prolong their lives."

Cultural Center Announces Open House Event

BY LEON B. CREWS

For decades, Taft Richardson had been a creative artist, doing things with bones no one else ever dreamed off. Because he had compiled such an array of artistic pieces, he and his brother, Harold, sought to establish a museum to display his craft as well as other African American art. A lack of support caused that idea to never happen.

The museum was to be named Moses House, and before all of the pieces could be put together for a museum, Taft Richardson passed in 2008 from prostate cancer. He was 65.

His brother, Harold, said with Lance Arney sought sponsors and a sight for the museum in honor of Taft, and were fortunate to have a building on River Cove Street in Sulphur Springs donated to them.

On Saturday, April 3rd from 1 p.m. until 3 p.m., "The Moses House, A Cultural Center For Social Justice," will have an open house to show off their new home.

The mission of The Moses House is to enrich the lives of children and youth through creative expression, cultural...
WASHINGTON — The House passed on Sunday the Senate's health care reform bill and a package of measures meant to reconcile differences between the Senate bill and the one it passed last year.

Here's the latest on what's happening:

11:48 p.m. President Obama says the Senate's vote on health care wasn't an easy vote but it was the right vote.

Speaking from the East Room of the White House, the president, who made health care reform a priority for his administration, said the vote wasn't a victory for a political party but for the American people.

Obama said the reform plan won't fix everything wrong with the nation's health care system, "but it moves us decisively in the right direction."

11:30 p.m. The House has passed the package of fixes meant to reconcile differences between the bill the House passed last year and the Senate bill it passed earlier Sunday night.

Those votes were 220-211. The Senate would vote to approve the changes to its bill this week by a simple majority vote.

A Bittersweet Victory For The American People

And this is why Representative Emanuel Cleaver (D-Mo.), was spat on, as he mounted Washington Capitol House steps! This is why Representatives John Lewis (D-Ga.) and Andre Carson (D-Ind.), both Black, were pelted with racial epithets by so-called “Tea Partiers” whose role in this is why the same protestor screamed anti-gay epithets at Representative Barney Frank (D-Mass.) who happens to be gay. Sunday night, the United States Congress passed a healthcare bill, which would give coverage to millions of formerly uninsured Americans. And no matter what Tea-Partiers do or say, we say, “IT’S ABOUT TIME!”

But what do the American people say? Will it be that a so-called silent majority of mostly white Americans will continue to support this to nixed at President Obama for winning the election that they will not even realize that there are more white Americans without health insurance than any other group in America? Will a predominantly Republican opposition see this as simply an Obama victory rather than as a humanitarian change whose time has come? Or years from now, will the idea of every American not having health insurance have become as unthinkable as a cosmonaut landing on the sun?

When President Franklin Roosevelt introduced social security, many Americans were also up in arms. But we’ve come a long way since then. Now, haven’t we?

Sheroes: Black Women Who Fought in Korea and Vietnam

This month’s columns have been dedicated to Black women in the military in celebration of Women’s History and Awareness Month because of the contributions of Black women in the military have gone unrecognized. Thus, you and I may not have heard of some of the women whose lives I will share with you today.

During the Korean War, the United States military fully integrated, eliminating 300 all-Black units and integrating more than 90,000 Black soldiers into previously all-white military units. Black women were among the more than 600 Army nurses who served in Japan.

Corporal Arline Haywood served in Japan and Okinawa and the Philippines in direct support of the war.

Other Korean War Black female soldiers included Doris Allen, who served as a military newspaper editor in Japan from 1951 to 1953. Army nurses Lieutenant Martha R. Cleveland (later promoted to Colonel) and Lieutenant Nancy Greene Peace were both assigned to the 11th Evacuation Hospital. Army nurse Lieutenant Evelyn Decker was assigned to the 8055 MASH unit near the frontlines.

African American soldiers served at military bases in Japan, Okinawa and the Philippines in direct support of the war.

Corporal Arline Haywood, assigned to the Yokohama Engineer Demolition Detachment. Soldiers get the supplies they needed to fight.

Today's Birthday — The cosmos provides the challenge of intense work this year. To make the most of your opportunities, keep your purpose in mind with the help of a note on your mirror or a mantra on your tongue. Observe carefully before you criticize. Dream as big as you dare!

Aries (March 21-April 19) — A female livens up the work environment with rude jokes about people in power. Try not to fall off your chair laughing. Remember the punch line for later.

Taurus (April 20-May 20) — The taskmaster is back! Never let it be said that you can’t get the work done. Let co-workers fend for themselves.

Gemini (May 21-June 21) — Today you understand what someone’s been trying to tell you for the last few days. Sometimes distance allows you to perceive the level of caring.

Cancer (June 22-July 22) — Words truly matter today. What you say now could come back to haunt you. Stick to practical concerns if possible.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22) — You might take up a new area of study now. Someone needs to do the research, and it might as well be you.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — Set the bar high where communication is concerned. Clarity is essential. Add persuasive language to clinch the deal.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) — Who said hard work can’t be fun? If you have someone to share the task, you can enjoy the sore muscles. At good music, and a tea party later.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) — Ease into work. You don’t need to hit the ground running. Take a moment to review and choose the best strategy. Caution wins over impulsiveness.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — It’s Monday. Embrace your work, pay attention and save the dreamy mood for later. Persuade yourself that you’re in the right place.

than 4,000 people. Approximately 1,000 of those jobs will be permanent positions.
During the job fair, prospective employees will be interviewed for positions including general labor, skilled labor, project managers, foremen, and site supervisors.
The development team is seeking potential employees to participate in all phases of the project. Subcontractors are required to be licensed, qualified, insured, and preferably bondable.
Representatives from ZMG Construction and Encore's development team will be on hand to meet with potential employees. They will also have scopes and plans available for review.
The project is possible as a result of approximately $38 million in stimulus funds that Tampa received from the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act earlier this year.
The first phase of the project is to complete the infrastructure, which includes all roads, sidewalks, underground utilities, water lines, sewer lines, lighting, electrical, landscape, signage, signalization, and all other phases.
The project is expected to be completed within the next 5 years. Anyone interested in construction is encouraged to attend the job fair.

Prior to the events of September 11, 2001, James Averill had been a Corporate Controller. However after the collapse of the Twin World Trade Towers and the deaths of so many people, Averill left and has been living in Tampa since 2004.
Graduating with a triple major from Julliard College in Pennsylvania, Averill said his passion for money management sent him in the direction of finance.
Now the manager of Pro Tax, a tax service on Fowler Avenue, Averill said he handles not just personal taxes, but corporate and partnership taxes as well.
“From the outside, some people may think operating a tax service isn’t that complicated. I can tell you after 30 years in the business that the changes in the industry make my job very difficult. You have to constantly stay on top of all the latest publications. We also have a support unit that helps us with the changes as well as a great referral service.”
Averill said what sets his business apart from the others is his experience, honesty, and understanding of how to deal with people.
“To be a people person, you have to be able to convey trust and confidence. You have to virtually become a member of our customers’ family. You sometimes will find yourself dealing with each generation and they depend on you.”
Averill said he’s already done four generations of taxes for a family. He also said the political climate plays a big role in what he does.
“You have to understand what our job is and I have been fortunate enough to predict some of the events that have developed, especially the financial crashes. Through different presidents, the changes have been traumatic and dramatic.”
Averill said he hopes the personal approach he takes in dealing with his customers has worked.
“I think it has, because they refer others to me, and they keep coming back.
“Once you build a reputable business, people will feel comfortable when they sit in your office. You have to make sure they understand everything, because it’s their finances that they are trusting you with.”
Averill invites anyone to come to his office at 2550A Fowler Avenue, and judge for themselves.
“I guarantee no one will ever leave my office feeling they don’t know what’s going on. When you earn the trust of people, you can’t let them down.”

Magnet School Students Find Success As Artists

BY LEON B. CREWS
Sentinel Staff Writer

Two Magnet School students from St. Petersburg are on the way to success in the music industry. Yung Ron and Yung J.R. (Rodricks Roberts and Ezra Davis, III), have been working hard in their community.

Known as the 2 Man Army, Yung Ron and Yung J.R. attend Gibbs High School, and both are honor students.

The duo started in 2005 when they met in middle school as drummers for a local band. Unlike many of today’s aspiring young artists, Yung Ron and Yung J.R. are involved in their community’s drum-line where they practice most of their performances, showmanship and skills.

Both young men participate in Teen Domestic Violence Awareness, and in fundraisers for charities to help low income children with New Life Foundation.

The artists recently competed in The Bay To Bay Area Idol hosted by a local radio station. They won first-place honors as hip hop artists and have also been featured on videos, newspapers, radio, clubs, and magazines.

The 2 Man Army will be appearing in an upcoming film, “Sunshine,” due for release in early Spring on HBO. They have also been nominated for the 2010 A&R Music Awards, and were awarded the Indie Artists Of The Year.

Family Wants Man's Death Investigated

Early Friday morning, a Tampa Police officer attempted a traffic stop on a vehicle for a possible DUI. The vehicle was traveling at 10-miles-an-hour without headlights north on 22nd Street. When the officer turned on his lights, the vehicle turned onto 19th Street and stopped, police said.

As the officer approached the car, the vehicle fled. The officer turned south onto 21st Street and reportedly did not pursue. Air Service was on patrol in the area and followed the vehicle overhead.

Police said the vehicle was traveling recklessly and hit two unoccupied parked cars in the 1900 block of 18th Avenue. It traveled 14 to 15 blocks before it crashed head-on into a parked van.

The driver was later identified as Eric Peoples, 26. Police reported that the entire incident was videotaped by Air Service and the tape clearly shows no ground units pursued the vehicle.

According to a representative for the family, they are asking for an investigation into the incident and say there are a lot of questions that haven’t been answered.

There were witnesses to the entire incident and they said he was being pursued,” said the family representative.

Family members of Peoples said they had no insurance on him and have been hosting fundraisers since his death to cover funeral expenses.

The fundraisers will be held every day at the car wash on Central Avenue and Lake, and the car wash at Lake and 29th Street. Donation buckets are in Aliana’s Meat Store on 22nd Street, King’s Grocery on 22nd Street, and dinners are also being sold at the Lake and Central and Lake and 29th Street locations.

Woods Says He's Nervous' About Reception At Masters

Tiger Woods acknowledged "living a lie," saying he alone was responsible for the sex scandal that caused his shocking downfall from global sporting icon to late-night poster boy for profanity.

"It was all me. I'm the one who did it. I'm the one who acted the way I acted. No one knew what was going on when it was going on," Woods told the Golf Channel in one of two interviews last week night.

A second one was aired on ESPN, which will also telecast the first two rounds of the Masters. Woods plans to end four months of seclusion and return to golf at the tournament next month. Talking about these plans marked the only time he smiled during either interview.

"I'm sure if more people would have known in my inner circle, they would have stopped it or tried to put a stop to it," he told the Golf Channel. "But I kept it all to myself."

Later in the same interview, Woods reported on his physical progress. "I've been out there on the field every single day," he said. "I feel like I have a good pulse."

Woods answered questions on camera for the first time since his early morning crash last November, yet again divulged few details about the crash, his marriage, his stint in a rehabilitation clinic or his personal life.

Woods insisted those matters would remain private, just as he had said in a statement on his Web site right after his crash and again Feb. 19 when he apologized on camera in front of a handpicked audience but took no questions.

"A lot of ugly things have happened...I've done some pretty bad things in my life," he told ESPN's Tom Rinaldi.

Last week, a woman who claims to be one of Woods' mistresses released an embarrassing transcript of text messages she said he sent her.

Woods admitted that four months of nearly nonstop public ridicule had caused him shame. "It was hurtful, but then again, you know what I did," he told the Golf Channel.

"And I'm the one who did those things. And looking back, it's so clear, I get it. I can understand why people would say those things. Because you know what? It was disgusting behavior. It's hard to believe that was me, looking back on it now."

Woods announced Dec. 19 that he would take an "indefinite break" from golf and was in a Mississippi clinic from the end of that month until early February. Asked by ESPN to describe the lowest point, he replied, "I've had a lot of ugly things happen...but what I didn't think it could get any lower, it got lower.

He did, however, look more comfortable and composed than he did last month, wearing golf clothes and smiling several times when talk turned to the Masters, a tournament he won four times.

Woods said he couldn't wait to get back, though he had reservations about how he'll be received.

"I'm a little nervous about that to be honest with you," he told ESPN. "It would be nice to hear a couple claps here and there."

Lawyers For Tiger Woods Attempt To Shut Down Sex Toy Ring

Miami Dolphins running back Ronnie Brown, a restricted free agent, was reported arrested Friday night on suspicion of driving under the influence. He was released Saturday.

According to the Miami Herald, Brown was pulled over near his hometown of Rome, Ga., for making a lane change without using a blinker. Brown is said to be "disoriented" over the incident and has hired an attorney.

He has no prior arrest record.

The Dolphins placed a first-round tender on Brown earlier this offseason. While another team could opt to sign him in exchange for a first-round draft pick, the fact that Brown's coming off surgery to repair a Lisfranc fracture in his foot almost guarantees he'll be back for his sixth season with Miami.

Rocket Ismail To Work As Bull Riding Announcer

NEW YORK — Former NFL wide receiver Rocket Ismail has a new job as a television announcer for bull riding.

Ismail will serve as a correspondent for some of the Professional Bull Riders telecasts on cable channel Versus. He became interested in the sport when he took part in "Ty Murray's Celebrity Bull Riding Challenge" on CMT.

The former Notre Dame star played nine seasons in the NFL, making 365 catches for 5,495 yards and 28 touchdowns.

Washington Nationals Release Elijah Dukes

Last Wednesday, the Washington Nationals released outfielder Elijah Dukes, a sudden move with 2-1/2 weeks left in spring training. Dukes played his high school baseball at Hillaborough High School.

Dukes, 26, was expected to be the starting right fielder this season for the Nationals, but they announced the transaction after their exhibition game at the Houston Astros.

Last Wednesday was the last day the Nationals could put him on waivers and pay him 30 days termination pay at the minor league rate of his split contract instead of 45 days at the major league rate. So he is owed a little under $41,000 instead of about $109,000, which he would have been due had he been released later in spring training.

The officials said the move was based on Dukes' performance and was not connected to any off-the-field issues.

Team Manager, Jim Riggleman said, "Elijah was a great player. He's done a lot of work. He's got no issues. It's just a baseball decision."

Dukes hit .242 with 31 homers and 123 RBIs in three seasons with Tampa Bay and Washington. He was limited to 188 games with the Nationals the past two seasons because of injuries.

Dukes was signed to a one-year contract paying him $444,000 in the majors and $249,300 in the minors.

Lebron Excited To Get Z Back

CLEVELAND — LeBron James said he'd love to see Zydrunas Ilgauskas leave. He'll be one of the first to welcome him back.

"He's a good friend of mine and a great teammate," James said hours before Ilgauskas is eligible to resign with the Cavaliers. "If that's the case of him coming back I'll be super happy."

Ilgauskas was dealt to Washington at the NBA trade deadline for a chance at a three-man deal that brought Antawn Jamison and Sebastian Telfair to Cleveland. Ilgauskas' contract was subsequently bought out and he can resign with Cleveland as early as Monday.

James Becomes Youngest To 15,000 Points

CHICAGO — LeBron James became the youngest player to score 15,000 points when the night began, giving Kyrie Irving's mark by more than two years in the first quarter of the Cleveland Cavaliers' 92-85 victory over the Chicago Bulls on Friday night.

James had 29 points against the Bulls to push his total to 15,026.

Three points shy of the milestone when the night began, James soared in for a hard right-handed dunk on a break about 4:40 into the game. He then hit two free throws about 40 seconds later, giving him 15,001 career points.

James reached the milestone at 25 years, 77 days, and he did it in his 540th game. Bryant was 27 years, 136 days and playing his 667th game.
Michael Jordan Calls Owning Bobcats 'Dream Come True'

CHARLOTTE, NC -- A relaxed Michael Jordan broke into a wide smile as he sat at his desk Thursday night amid his whirlwind week of realizing a longtime goal of becoming an NBA owner.

Soon, though, that steely resolve that defined his superstar playing career peeked through as he fielded a question about his commitment to turn the Charlotte Bobcats from a money-losing, non-playoff team into a winner in both areas.

"It's motivating," the six-time NBA champion said of the naysayers who joke that he'll be more worried about tee times than season ticket renewals. "I've never been asked to be out at the forefront of an organization. I never had the financial commitment to do that. Now I have. Now I'm involved. How can I not? When I'm owning 80 percent of the basketball team, not put my face on the organization?"

Jordan's $275 million purchase of the club from Bob Johnson was approved by the rest of the league's owners on Wednesday. The North Carolina native spent his first full day on the job insisting he's ready to "dive in with my sleeves rolled up" to turn around the six-year-old franchise, while downplaying the significance of becoming the first former player to own an NBA team.

"I'm not wearing that on my sleeve," he said. "For me, everybody just wants to see us win. Doesn't matter if it's me. Doesn't matter if it's Bob. Doesn't matter if it's anybody else. I'm happy to be in this position and given this opportunity by Bob.

Mayweather, Mosley Embrace Olympic-Style Drug Test

NEW YORK -- Floyd Mayweather Jr. and welterweight champion Shane Mosley will undergo Olympic-style drug testing for their May 1 fight in Las Vegas, which they hope will set a new standard for boxing.

Representatives of the two fighters joined Travis Tygart of the U.S. Anti-Doping Agency on a conference call last week to discuss the program, which is more extensive than the testing that currently falls under the jurisdiction of state athletic commissions.

"This is one of the biggest events I've seen in the sport of boxing, and if this introduces Olympic-style testing to boxing, we not only have delivered a great fight but also leveled the field for athletes," Richard Schaefer of Golden Boy Promotions said.

Mayweather and Mosley will be subjected to an unlimited number of unannounced blood and urine tests before and after the fight, and the results will be stored so USADA can test them in the future. The samples are screened for all drugs currently banned by the World Anti-Doping Agency, including human growth hormone and designer steroids such as THG.

Yet Lakers coach Phil Jackson said Sunday he can’t predict a return timetable for Bynum, who strained his tendon early in the third quarter of the defending NBA champions’ win over Minnesota on Friday night.

"We really have nothing definitive about it,” Jackson said. "We really don’t know how this therapy is going to come out. The best thing I heard today is that he felt better from Day One to Day Two.”

Ravens, Redding Agree To Deal

BALTIMORE -- The Baltimore Ravens and former Seattle defensive end Cory Redding have agreed on a two-year deal.

Redding started only three games for the Seahawks last season but has 18 career sacks over seven NFL seasons, the first six with Detroit. The 29-year-old has played in 101 games, 79 of them as a starter.

The 6-foot-4, 295-pound Redding fills a void left by the departure of Dwan Edwards, who signed as a free agent with the Buffalo Bills last week.

Redding was an unrestricted free agent. His best season came in 2006, when he had 16 starts and finished with eight sacks and 70 tackles.

He was drafted by Detroit in the third round in 2003 out of Texas.

Diddy In Talks To Buy Soccer Team

Bad Boy mogul Diddy has his hands in a lot of business ventures and according to his camp he is looking at one more. Diddy has taken an interest in London's historic soccer team Crystal Palace. The team which was founded in 1905 has recently seen financial hardships due to lack luster player performance and also went to administration which could possibly demote the team to a lower sports bracket.

"Diddy was in London meeting football fixers a couple of weeks ago. The finance is in place, he's just deciding who he thinks he'll make a bid for. Portsmouth were mentioned but he thought Palace were a better idea," a source said. "He could cover their debt. He liked the name as well."

Apparently, Diddy has been looking at a number of English football clubs, but was won over by Palace's name.

Diddy, who is worth over $300 million dollars, is more than able to take care of the substantial debt that the team has accrued. The legendary hit maker has said to be in the process of making a bid.

50 Responds To Sextape Lawsuit

In 50 Cent's attack on Rick Ross, a sextape was released and was reportedly one of Ross' baby mothers. Apparently, the woman didn't take too kindly and filed a lawsuit against Jackson for the video.

In true 50 form, the rapper brushed off the accusations by simply stating that it was Pimpin' Curly behind the ordeal, and said to Tim Westwood, "Let me tell you the ill part. A person tries to say that you've done a mental harm to them. Then they might want to consider the recordings of Rick Ross saying that she's an actual call girl and the pamphlets that I'm showing in the tape, says that she's available."

Romeo Lands Film, Comic Book Series

Master P's son, Romeo has confirmed that he was starting his own record label and continuing work with his College Boys Hip-Hop group after his departure from the University of Southern California basketball team.

Now he's taking things to new heights with an animated movie and comic book series.

Titled "RESQY", the movie by Outside The Box Vision will be the precursor to a video game and comic book series. Described as an "action animated adventure at its highest level of quality", Outside the Box hopes to targets kids and adults with their cutting edge technology.

Young Jeezy Changes Name

It must be the routine for rappers to go through a name change when they get to a particular point in their career.

Bow Wow dropped the "LIL", Killer Mike became "Mike Bigga", Game dropped the "The" and Diddy has changed his name as often as people change their drawers throughout the week.

Maybe instead of dropping names, folks should be dropping albums and mixtapes before they get dropped by their respective labels.

Gaga Sued For $30 M By X-Lover/Producer

DEATH ANNOUNCEMENT

TRENT CARRILLO

The Hillsborough County Sheriff’s Office reports that last Thursday around noon, deputies responded to what appeared to be a home invasion on Hollyberry Court in Brandon.

When deputies arrived, they heard what sounded like a struggle in the garage of the house. Two individuals, Joshua Barrington, 19, and Joshua Hinkle, 18, came out of the residence and reportedly told deputies they had been robbed by two suspects. The suspects had fled the rear of the residence as the victim’s got out of the front.

Deputies in the area searched and found two suspects. Willie Staten, 20, was found hiding behind a shed. Deputies also recovered items from under the shed that were used in the home invasion (a 9mm handgun, a mask and personal property of Barrington and Hinkle). Trent Carrillo, 18, was found walking down Bell Shoals Road and was arrested.

Deputies later learned that not only the two suspects, Staten and Carrillo, were involved, but that one of the victims, Hinkle, along with Michael Reaves, 35, were also involved in the conspiracy to rob Barrington.

Hinkle, a friend of Barrington, had arrived at his residence earlier in the day and was sending text messages to the other suspects to let them know that he had unlocked the front door of Barrington’s residence and it was safe to arrive for the alleged purpose of robbing Barrington of marijuana. When the suspects arrived, they proceeded with the robbery and to make it look real, they also robbed Hinkle and were in the process of tying up the victims when deputies arrived.

Reaves was later identified as the individual that transported the suspects to the residence and allegedly provided them with the handgun.

Reaves had a 2-year-old child in the car at the time of the incident.

Soldier Charged With Attempted Murder

A 31-year-old member of the Armed forces surrendered to police on Wednesday morning, according to a spokesperson for the Hillsborough County Sheriff's Office. According to a spokesperson for the Hillsborough County Sheriff's Office, Corey Deandre Glover, who recently returned home from a six-month deployment overseas, awoke and discovered his wife was not home early Wednesday.

Glover reportedly called her cell phone and did not get an answer. Police said he then began riding around looking for her. He saw her car parked in front of a neighbor's house around 4 a.m. The couple became involved in an argument.

Glover is said to have then gone to his trunk and obtained a 9 mm handgun. He went to the residence and allegedly broke the glass in the door. The resident inside came to the door and Glover is alleged to have pushed the door open, trying to gain access. At some point during the struggle, the gun discharged, but no one was injured, police said.

Man Killed In Domestic Dispute

Police said a citizen observed the dispute involving a man and woman. The man was reportedly hitting the woman. The citizen and witnesses attempted to intervene in the altercation and the victim threatened to kill the witnesses.

The victim approached the citizen and threatened the citizen while reaching in his waistband. The citizen, who had a concealed firearm and permit, feared for his life and fired at the victim. The victim died as a result of his injuries.

The citizen was identified as Willie Jones, 24. The shooting victim was identified as Eudoardo Castillo, 26.

Tampa Police Homicide Detectives are investigating the shooting.

Man Arrested After Alleging Ramming Marshal's Car

The man was a Largo resident and charged with attempted murder, armed burglary of a dwelling, and criminal mischief. He is being held without bond at the Hillsborough County Sheriff's Office.

According to a spokesperson for the Hillsborough County Sheriff's Office, Corey Deandre Glover, who recently returned home from a six-month deployment overseas, awoke and discovered his wife was not home early Wednesday.

Glover reportedly called her cell phone and did not get an answer. Police said he then began riding around looking for her. He saw her car parked in front of a neighbor's house around 4 a.m. The couple became involved in an argument.

Glover is said to have then gone to his trunk and obtained a 9 mm handgun. He went to the residence and allegedly broke the glass in the door. The resident inside came to the door and Glover is alleged to have pushed the door open, trying to gain access. At some point during the struggle, the gun discharged, but no one was injured, police said.
