A homegoing service for the mother of a University of South Florida Administrator has been planned. The victim of a homicide, her body was discovered early Saturday morning.

Services and interment for Mrs. Sarah F. Davis, mother of Dr. Mack (Janette Spencer) Davis, Sr., Dr. David Davis, Tampa, and Mrs. Angela (Calvin) Collins, of Atlanta, will be held on Saturday, in Brooksville, FL.

Services will take place at 2 p.m., at Faith Evangelical Presbyterian Church, 200 Mt. Fair Avenue. Interment will take place at the Brooksville Cemetery, 1275 Olmes Road. A repast will follow at the Kennedy Park Recreation Center, 899 Kennedy Blvd., in Brooksville.

The family will receive friends at a Memorial on Friday, May 21st, from 6 p.m. until 9 p.m., at 815 St. Francis Street, Brooksville, FL.

The body of Mrs. Davis was discovered by Hernando County Sheriff’s Office deputies responding to the home early Saturday morning for a wellness check. Police said there was no sign of a burglary and the home was locked when they arrived.

Mrs. Davis, 80, moved into the home with her husband, Mack Davis, Jr., nearly 50 years ago. She lived alone since the death of her husband who died on May 13, 2009. They were married for more than seven years ago, and alerted the schools immediately.

Awareness Needed For New Drug

In April 2007, a warning about a sweetened and flavored drug began spreading all over the country. The drug is known as Strawberry Quick (Crystal Meth) and looks like pop rocks candy that stinks in your mouth. In its current form it is dark pink and has a strawberry scent to it.

According to sources the drug first appeared in western states in January 2007, and was first discovered in Nevada. Another report states it has been found in some schools in Texas, and nationally 21 children have died after using the drug.

David Friedberg, Security Director for the School District of Hillsborough County, said they were aware of the drug more than seven years ago, and alerted the schools immediately.

A native of Hernando County, Mrs. Davis graduated from Florida A & M University, where she earned a Bachelor’s Degree in Education. She launched her career as an educator that spanned more than 30 years in the Hernando County School District.

In 1995, Mrs. Davis began a second career with the Hernando County Sheriff’s Office as a clerk of the School Street Substation. She retired in October 2009, and was recognized for her numerous service by Sheriff Richard B. Negret.

Sgt. Donna Black, spokesperson for the Hernando County Sheriff’s Office, said the investigation remains very active. However, no additional information has been released and no one has been charged with the murder.

Young Father Fatally Shot
In Front Of Mom's Apartment

Tamora Dorn said there are many things surrounding the death of her only brother she's not happy about.

According to Tampa Police, Derek Anderson, 21, was shot to death in the parking lot of an apartment he shared with his mother at Johnson/Kenneth Court Apartments on 43rd Street.

Detectives are getting conflicting information on the shooting, but did say he was shot in the back.

Residents at the complex said Anderson was returning from visiting a friend when he was shot. He had a backpack on that contained clothes.

After he was shot, police said Anderson made it up the stairs to his mother's apartment where he collapsed. A neighbor began CPR, but he had no pulse. Tampa Fire Rescue transported him to Tampa General Hospital where he was pronounced dead.

Police said the shooting suspect is a Black male in his 20s last seen dressed in all white with a black bandana around his neck.

Dorn, who also lives in the complex, said she heard a gunshot and called to check on Anderson.

"When I got no answer, I went over there. When I got there, he was laying in front of our mother's apartment. Dorn said she can’t under-

School Board Cancels Classes For Good Friday

BY IRIS B. HOLTON
Sentinel City Editor

During their regular meeting on Tuesday, members of the Hillsborough County School District finalized its calendar for next year. One of the amendments to the calendar the board made was to not have class on Good Friday.

The board voted 5-2 to cancel classes on Good Friday for students. It will serve as a teacher conference day for teachers.

Ms. Linda Cobbe, spokesperson for the Hillsborough County School District said the calendar was changed for a number of reasons, including the FCAT testing.

"The teachers didn't want the students out of class for Spring break before FCAT testing was completed. It just so happens that the last day of FCAT testing falls on Good Friday and Spring Break begins the following Monday."

A large crowd of concerned parents attended the meeting.

Many of them pointed to the high number of absentees last month on the religious holiday.

For the past five years, the School Board has been forced to address the day, which is a Christian holiday. Those against canceling classes on that day feel that school should be in session. In 2008, school board members voted to have classes on Good Friday. The result was an absentee rate of 58% of the student body and nearly 40% of the bus drivers.

This year, 42% of the student body and nearly 20% of the students were absent.

In 2009, the holiday came about during the scheduled Spring break.

Board members Susan Valdes, Doretha Edgecomb, Jennifer Fallero, Jack Lamb, and Candy Olson voted against canceling classes on Good Friday. Board members April Griffin and Carol Kurdell voted against making the day a non-student day.

Robbing In The Hood

No, Tampa is not Nottingham, and the College Hill Library is certainly not Sherwood Forest. But the scenes being played out in the request to divert construction funds from the Robert W. Saunders Library to the College Hill Library “kills Peter to pay Paul.”

Attorney General Eric Holder says terrorists should be tried in New York today. Tomorrow he doesn’t know where they should be tried. He hems and haws on when, and if terrorists should be read their Miranda rights.

Where Are The Children

It’s 9 o’clock, on a Friday morning. Do you know where your children are? If they’re school age and Black, they’re probably at home with them. Why are they at home with you? They’re at home because they’ve probably been suspended from school.

The situation of Black student suspension is probably one of the best kept secrets in the entire school system. And that’s unbelievable, given the fact that it is the second largest school system in the state of Florida.

During the school year 2006 – 2007, almost 2,000 Black students stayed home. Their reasons for being suspended ranged from chewing gum illegally to possessing a cell-phone against the teacher’s will. One student was sent home because he was drinking a small bottle of Gatorade, which he had been given in a previous class as a reward for outstanding class-work.

Another student was summarily sent home because his tone of voice seemed to make him combative, in the teacher’s opinion. And yet another student was sent home because he seemed simply to be in the wrong place at the wrong time. Indeed, in this era of no school suspension, “someone needs to write a book about the growing number of reasons why students, especially Black students are being put out of class.

Law Enforcement Takeovers?

Where is the Black police chief who came first, the chicken or the egg? Many of us are left pondering such a question when considering the debate on Clearwater’s, Pinellas County, and Hillsborough County’s police departments.

In fact, we are left wondering if Clearwater’s selection of a Black police chief had any impact on escalating the serious discussions to close down one of the state’s major police agencies.

What’s more, we wonder how Sheriff Jim Coats can save the City of Clearwater $10 million after Chief Sid Klein retired. We will watch with great interest to see how this major implosion determines if Sheriff Coats can maintain or improve the levels of community relations, emergency response time, community policing, diversity and staffing, with all the other tasks on his desk, county-wide.

Clearwater is nowhere near the size of Safety Harbor, Dunedin, Oldsmar or Seminole, which currently are patrolled by the County Sheriff.
A Different World

To the casual observer watching news reports about the horrific accounts of shootings and beatings of young women at schools like Spelman College, the University of Virginia and the University of South Florida, college campuses have suddenly become hotbeds of violent activity.

However, the ugly truth of the matter is, as disturbing and unfortunate as these incidents are, they're far from uncommon.

Being microcosms of a larger society, these miniature cities suffer the same illnesses that plague the environment they pattern themselves after.

Students at these institutions are just as likely to fall victim to assault, rape, robbery and theft as they would be in any densely populated urban center in the country.

In my four years at an H.B.C. (Historically Black College) during the early nineties, I had my nose broken twice, both eyes blackened at one time or another and received a permanent scar on my scalp, courtesy of more than a few brawls with frat brothers, football players, local hooligans, and students from other colleges who were brave enough to come onto our yard talking trash after heated sporting events.

I have seen men throw women into dumpsters; watched women run over men with their cars; witnessed a Q-Dog stomp a female out after she dared to sit on an Omega Psi Phi plot; and ducked way too many bullets during after party shootouts.

I survived it all and still managed to make it to class by being quick with my wit and even swifter with my feet.

Along with my studies, these occurrences were also part of campus life. Events that, for better or worse, forever shaped my thinking as I entered into adulthood.

To “disillusioned” parents who believe they’re sending their bundles of joy to educational incubators with controlled environments, think again. University officials can only do so much to protect your children. With four to five thousand 18-20 year-olds from all over the map co-existing in a wide-open setting, wise decision-making and not campus police will make the difference in whether or not your child makes it through unscathed.

So next fall, when you’re walking through Wal-Mart purchasing laptop computers, twin-sized bed sheets and mini-refrigerators to help your son or daughter’s freshman year flow smoothly, be sure to swing by the departments that sell common sense by the bulk, because when they enter that different world, where anything can happen, that’s the one item they’ll need more than anything else.

Commissioners Fire Auditor; Discuss Administrator

BY LEON B. CREWS
Sentinel Staff Writer

On Wednesday in a unanimous 7-0 vote, the Hillsborough County Commissioners terminated the employment of Internal Performance Auditor, James Barnes. Barnes’ tenure has been full of controversy since he was hired in April 2007. According to reports, after he was hired, he immediately sought a pay raise for himself and his staff before they had completed any work.

Barnes gave a report to Commissioners last year that County Administrator Pat Bean had given herself and County Attorney Renee Lee 1% pay raises in 2007 without telling them. This led to Comm. Kevin Beckner calling for a criminal investigation by FDLE. On March 4th, he accused them of reading his e-mails between July and November 2009 seeking information on the investigation.

Last Wednesday, Barnes fired his remaining employee, Billy Poulos, claiming he had engaged in a pattern of unprofessional behavior. Barnes further expressed his disgust with Poulos when he had him escorted from County Center by security and ordered the locks changed to the auditor’s office.

On Wednesday, Commissioner Ken Beckner suggested the same treatment for Barnes when he requested security make sure Barnes and his belongings were escorted from the building due to the close proximity of his office to their chambers. Comm. Ken Hagan also requested all access to the internet be removed as it pertains to Barnes.

As far as County Administrator Pat Bean is concerned, it was decided that Commission Chairman Hagan, Acting County Administrator Mike Merrill, and Bean’s attorney, Ken Tinkler, would meet to negotiate Bean’s departure. They decided that in two weeks, Bean would either reach a successful negotiation on her departure, or be fired.

Comm. Rose Ferlita said she still would like to see Bean resign with dignity.

In a 7-0 vote, commissioners agreed to meet again in two weeks, and then go from there.

Commissioners did not discuss the tenure of County Attorney Renee Lee during Wednesday’s session, and Comm. Ferlita said that was by design.

“I opposed all along dealing with all three at the same time. We all want to wait for the conclusion of the FDLE investigation before any decision is made on Renee.”

Calls to the other commissioners were not returned before press time.

Barnes has agreed to appear as a guest on the Michelle B. Patty/King Cobra Radio Show to tell his side of what caused him to be fired.

The show is broadcast on WWBA AM 820 every Saturday from 10 a.m. to 11 a.m.

East Tampa Group Receives Special Awards
BY LEON B. CREWS
Sentinel Staff Writer

On March 27th at the Hillsborough County Annual Neighborhood Conference Awards Luncheon, the East Tampa Community Revitalization Partnership received a commendation in recognition from the Tampa City Council for the 2010 Best Umbrella Association Award.

The award was initially presented to ETCRP Chairperson, Evangeline Best, by the Hillsborough County Office of Neighborhood and Community Relations, and will be presented again on Thursday, May 27th, at 9 a.m., at the City Council meeting.

Best said this is the second time they’ve received the award.

“So many things are happening right now. I want to accept this honor with the people who made it possible, not just the ETCRP.”

“We’ve also received awards for the Robert Cole Lake on Martin Luther King, Jr. Boulevard and 19th Street, and our Strategic Plan.”

Best said the ETCRP had almost 40 personal awards they were handing out and the ETCRP got two of them.

Evangeline Best
ETCRP Chairperson

“It’s always special to be recognized for the work you do. We’ve tried so hard to change the standard of living in East Tampa, and our job isn’t done yet.

“Everyone out there in their own special way has helped make this recognition possible by staying involved at our community meetings, recruiting others to get involved, and participating in the planning process through our standing committees. Some have stepped forward as a president or coordinator of our neighborhood groups to insure these groups are informed, involved, and have an opportunity to give input in the revitalization of East Tampa.”

State CFO Candidate In Tampa To Dialogue With Black Women

Josephine Hubbard, Dr. Sharon Andrews, Loranne Ausley, hosts, Ann Porter, Cassandra Davis, and Valerie Goddard.

For Loranne Ausley, the visit to Ann Porter’s home to talk with Black professional women and retirees would begin a dialogue with the community across the state.

Ausley, a former member of the Florida legislature, is the Democratic candidate for Chief Financial Officer (CFO). Ausley has a solid record of support for issues that are priorities for the Black community. She discussed healthcare insurance and education issues with the group. Ausley’s campaign was very visible in the effort to urge the Governor to veto the unpopular SB6 teacher tenure bill. A longtime and established child advocate, she currently heads Healthy Kids Corporation, a $300 million public private entity providing health insurance to the many children who fall through the cracks. Ausley said her commitment to healthcare and education emphasizes the fact that, “she’s focused on the next generation not the next election.”

She is seeking the very powerful CFO post currently held by Alex Sink. Sink is running for Governor. The CFO oversees Banking and Finance, and Insurance Regulation. She is the Comptroller, Fire Marshall and Treasurer for the State of Florida.

The Rays: The Best Baseball Team

The Tampa Bay Rays just may be the best team in baseball. This could be true because they have the best record in the league. They certainly have the best pitching in baseball. The team is blessed with five young, very talented starters. In Shields, Price, Nelma and Davis, the Rays are set at the position.

Every position player on the team is a threat to hit with power and with speed to match. The defense is among the best in the league. The Rays also have a number of players who can play more than one position.

The Rays have demonstrated the ability to win on the road. As early as it is, I would say that the Rays are on their way back to the World Series.

On Saturday, May 22nd at the Staples Center in Los Angeles, California, Showtime Boxing was putting on a big event that will feature bantamweights Rafael Marquez (37-5, 32 KOs) vs. Israel Vazquez (43-4, 31 KOs).

Also fighting on that card will be Keith “One Time” Thurman from Clearwater. He will face Varden Gasparian in a 6-round fight being co-promoted by Oscar De La Hoya’s Golden Boy Promotions, Gary Shaw Productions, Espinoza Boxing Promotions and Zanfer Promotions. He’s also represented by JMB Entertainment and Sports Group of Tampa.

Thurman has held seven national titles, including a Pall National 2006 Trials Belt.

The 21-year-old Thurman said he started boxing when he was 7 after watching an exhibition fight at the YMCA.

“After a week, I went home and told my mom that’s what I wanted to do.”

“My father is a martial artist, and they all thought that’s what I was going to do. But, my mother put me in Karate. She said she was going to take me there every day, but I never went. Then, I went to a camp and I fell in love with it. I started playing basketball and baseball. Then, I started boxing under my father’s guidance. He trained me for about 10 years.”

Addai's Days Numbered In Indy

With so many personnel decisions on the horizon, including locking up Peyton Manning for around $100 M, signing Joseph Addai seems a longshot after this season for the Indianapolis Colts.

Addai has been a very good back for the Colts. But after that, it should be time to turn to Donald Brown and find someone to work as his backup. That's life in the NFL.

Dolphins' Marshall Out Until Training Camp After Surgery

DAVIE, FL --- Brandon Marshall milled about the Miami Dolphins practice field, donning an orange cap and cleats.

He'll be doing a lot more of that over the next few weeks.

Marshall is recovering from surgery, the details of which neither he nor Dolphins coach Tony Sparano would disclose.

After winning the Super Bowl as a rookie, he led Miami in touchdown catches as a sophomore. He eventually was escorted out near a security office but kept his hands under his body to avoid handcuffs. That's when police say an officer used a stun gun on Buie's back for about 5 seconds.

Celtics Guard's Stepfather Arrested, Stun Gun Used

ORLANDO --- The stepfather of Boston Celtics guard Marquis Daniels was arrested and subdued with a stun gun during Game 2 of the Eastern Conference finals against the Orlando Magic.

The Orlando police report shows 55-year-old Willie L. Buie was charged with resisting arrest with violence during Tuesday night's game. Celtics spokesman Jeff Twiss confirmed it was Daniels' stepfather.

Officers responded to a disturbance in a lower-level section during the second half.

Police say they tried to escort Buie from his seat, but he refused, using expletives at officers and swinging his arms free.

Knicks' Chandler Charged With Drug Possession

NEW YORK --- New York Knicks swingman Wilson Chandler was charged Wednesday with a minor drug offense after police said they found marijuana in his car during a traffic stop.

The officers recovered a plastic bag of marijuana from the console in the car and five other bags from the trunk, weighing under 2 oz. in total, D.A. Richard Brown said.

Chandler, 23, and passenger, Lamonte Yarbrough, 22, were charged with 5th degree criminal possession of marijuana, a misdemeanor. They were given desk appearance tickets and must appear in court July 1. They were not taken into police custody.

Two Tied To Darrent Williams Case Accept Pleas

DENVER --- Two men who refused to testify against a man convicted in the death of Denver Broncos Darrent Williams, pleaded guilty to being an accessory to perjury.

As part of a plea agreement, Kataina Jackson-Keeling, 21, and Mario Anderson, 22, admitted they were in contempt of the court. They pleaded guilty Tuesday.

Denver prosecutors had accused them of lying to a Denver grand jury investigating Williams' death in a drive-by shooting early on New Year's Day 2007.

Jurors convicted Willie Clark in March of first-degree murder and sentenced him to life in prison plus 1,152 years.

Gulf of Mexico Oil Spill Response.

What we’re doing. How to get more information.

Since the tragic accident on the Transocean Deepwater Horizon rig first occurred, we have been committed to doing everything possible to stop the flow of oil at the seabed, collect the oil on the surface and keep it away from the shore.

BP has taken full responsibility for dealing with the spill. We are determined to do everything we can to minimize any impact. We will honor all legitimate claims.

This is an enormous team effort. More than 2,500 of our operational and technical personnel from around the world are working tirelessly in coordination with the U.S. Coast Guard and federal, state and local government agencies. We are also getting tremendous support from specialists across the industry to resolve an unprecedented set of technical issues.

On the seabed, we are using multiple technologies to reduce the flow of oil and ultimately stop it. On the surface, hundreds of boats of all sizes, including local fishing fleets, are working together to contain and collect the spill. More than 1.2 million feet of boom is already deployed.

Our efforts along the coast are being organized through 14 staging areas across Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama and Florida, coordinated by three command posts in Houma, Louisiana; Mobile, Alabama; and St. Petersburg, Florida.

But the greatest response of all is from the more than 10,000 people working with BP full-time or as volunteers. We are also grateful for the dedicated support of the federal, state, and local government officials and emergency responders. None of this would be possible without the tremendous commitment of these volunteers and officials.

We will continue to keep everyone fully informed about the events as they unfold. For current information on the spill and response plan, please use the following websites:

Vanessa Williams Joins 'Desperate Housewives'

LOS ANGELES - Actress Vanessa Williams will trade her scheming ways on TV comedy "Ugly Betty" for a role on a show where just about everyone seems to be plotting something: "Desperate Housewives."

The ABC network said on Tuesday that Williams will play "a wicked new housewife" in the upcoming new season starting in September, in a regular role that will see her make an appearance in just about every episode.

"Desperate Housewives," which had its 2010 season finale on Sunday, stars Teri Hatcher, Marcia Cross, Felicity Huffman and Eva Longoria Parker as four denizens of suburban Wisteria Lane. Their lives are more dramatic and often times sordid than the facade they try to maintain, but they stay close friends.

Williams played Wilhelmina Slater, an editor of fashion magazine Mode on the ABC comedy "Ugly Betty," which ran from 2006 until it was canceled this year.

Megan Fox Dropped From 'Transformers 3'

Actors Megan Fox, and Shia LaBeouf at the premiere of 'Transformers: Revenge of the Fallen,' in Berlin.

LOS ANGELES — In a surprisingly sudden axing, Megan Fox will not return to star in "Transformers 3," which began shooting in Los Angeles.

The actress last year likened the franchise director Michael Bay to Hitler and Napoleon, and said he was "a nightmare to work for." Still, it is unusual to eliminate an actor or actress so closely associated with the movie, not to mention a key character in the movie, just as it begins production.

The move is also unusual since word around Hollywood talent agencies was that Bay and writer Ehren Kruger were planning on creating a female nemesis for Fox.

Lil Wayne Phones Home From Riker's Island

With an infraction as a result of being caught with musical contraband, the next moves in regards to Lil Wayne's sentence have been unsure.

Currently working on The Nino Brown Story Pt. 3, set to drop in June, DJ Scooby Doo was able to phone in and get a status update from the Young Money general himself.

Given his reaction to the discovery of his music, Wayne gives the fans the scoop on how he is living right now while he's incarcerated.

"I'm coolin'... I'll be home soon. If you worryin', don't worry too much but if you ain't worried than something's wrong."
Mariah Carey And The-Dream Being Sued For Stealing Music

A producer and song writer are claiming that Mariah Carey and The-Dream are guilty of stealing songs. Along with a laundry list of other names, they are currently being sued for copyright infringement over the song “My Love”, which was featured on Dream’s second album Love Vs. Money.

Young Jeezy Rewards Georgia Students For Passing Tests

In between preparing for the June 22nd release of his Thug Motivation 103 album Young Jeezy is still finding time to give back.

The CTE head and founder of the Street Dreams Foundation partnered with the LightHouse Foundation to reward students who successfully passed Georgia’s Competency Tests or CRCT.

Jeezy rewarded the students by renting out the Metrolina Skate & Bowling Center and treated the children to a day of fun.

Crips Gang Confronts Waka And Gucci Mane At Video Shoot

At a recent video shoot with Waka Flocka Flame and Gucci Mane, an unidentified man approached the two and seemed straight mad.

Although he said he had no problem with Gucci, he seemed to have a real problem with Waka’s right hand man, Waka Flocka Flame.

At the confrontation, the man who claims to be a Crip says that CTE was not the people who ran up on Flocka and shot him, but it was him.

Chris Brown Plays To Packed House At Benefit Concert

RICHMOND, Virginia – Chris Brown headlined the “Virginia Stand Up! A Call to Action” benefit concert last Saturday night, and the superstar singer couldn’t have been more giving, doing his best to please the packed house.

“Can I slow it down for the ladies?” Brown asked the shrieking audience, comprised mostly of females and local supporters. “I mean really slow it down.”

With that, the energetic crooner jumped off the stage and walked through the crowded singing “Say Goodbye” to his fans, shaking as many adoring hands as he could along the way.

“There’s never a right time to say goodbye,” he sang. “But we know that we got to go our separate ways.”

Brown ran through selections from all three of his albums, including early hits from his 2005 self-titled debut such as the chopper “Yo (Excuse Me Miss)” and

DMX Opening New Season Of VH1’s ‘Behind The Music’

Airing on June 7 at 8 p.m., ‘Behind The Music’ is set to make its on-air comeback and will kick off the new season by profiling Ruff Ryder’s member DMX.

NAACP Outraged On Texas Schools Rewriting History

NAACP President Benjamin Jealous and former U.S. Education Secretary Rod Paige are outraged on Friday, the Texas Board of Education will decide whether to rewrite the state’s social studies curriculum, which puts a conservative slant on American events. The new standards, if passed, will guide how history and social studies are taught to more than 4.8 million public school students over the next 10 years. Jealous and Paige are now fearing Black students will not get a full understanding of African-American history.

Jealous and Paige gave testimonies in front of the school board demanding a longer deadline for Friday’s final hearing and asked for the committee to revisit the planned rewrites.

Receive Them In Jesus' Name

There are some people we see living in and around our communities that some think are not productive and should move. Some people reside in places knowing that they are not accepted because they do not fit in.

While in prison, Paul is confronted by a young man out from one of the communities he communicates with. In his letter to the Philemon, Paul writes to encourage him to receive this young man.

Paul says to him that I could command you to do what you ought to do. But instead, I am going to appeal to you on the basis of love (16. 8-9). Instead of trying to force someone to do the right thing, perhaps you can appeal to his or her sense of right.

Paul knows that what he is about to ask Philemon to do is difficult, but appeals to it out of his duty to do it out of love. There are many things you are asked to do, to force you, but out of your Christian duty.

Paul identifies a young man who is now a son to him (16. 10). Him being a son to Paul points to the young man being born again and changed. Paul has accepted this young man and taken him into his care.

This is similar to what God has done for you. He has taken you into His care and adopted you as His own. God wants those who live in your communities to receive you on His behalf.

Paul acknowledges that before the young man was useless to them (16. 11). The young man was a slave and was not working well enough for his master. Oftentimes there are some who are not profitable for the community in which they live.

But after having an encounter with God, their usefulness changes. After spending time in a positive spiritual environment God will send you back with a different purpose and mission.

God has the power and the ability to make anyone over. God is able to turn your effectiveness around and make you profitable for the Kingdom.

Paul says that the young man was separated from him for a while so he could come back to him for good. Al-though he went away a slave, he came back a brother (15. 16).

God will change your title and purpose in your community and environment. Since he is now a brother, he should not be looked upon as a slave and having no usefulness.

In our communities of faith although there are some who once lived a sinful life, enslaved to flesh, they should not continue to treat them as outcast. Once you get saved you should no longer see people the same. It is hard, but God appeals to your sense of duty.

Paul makes the connection that if Philemon would receive him, then he should receive the young man (16. 17). When God sends people back into your life, although they were not perfect or profitable before, you should receive them on His name and recommendation.

You are not commanded to receive people who have been changed, but you are compelled to receive them out of your Christian duty.

Early Head Start Director Announces Expansion Event

BY LEON B. CREWS
Sentinel Staff Writer

Louis Finney, Jr., Hillsborough County Early Head Start Director, is announcing a big event on May 25, 2010. The grand opening of the new Kiornins facility at 1502 East 2nd Avenue will be celebrated with a tour that will begin at 10 a.m.

Finney said the big announcement will be about the expansion of low income slots for Head Start children by 420.

“"We were able to acquire $6.8 million in federal funds that will not just give us 420 openings, but add over 100 jobs. The new facility will be strictly for infants and toddlers, 10% of which are disabled or with special needs.”

Finney said although they are excited to have received more funds than any other Head Start program in the state, they still have 2,500 on a waiting list.

“The expansion will help alleviate that number and offset the loss of county dollars with federal dollars. We appreciate all the support. Parents are encouraged to attend the grand opening.

7 Things You’re Doing To Cause A Stroke

Out of all the various stroke risk factors, scientists have found that the below seven are at the very top:

1. Eating A High-Fat Diet. The same foods associated with heart attacks, including red meat and anything fried, can also raise your risk of a brain attack.

2. Being Single. If you’re a man who’d like to cut his chances of a fatal stroke, get hitched. But there’s a catch: The marriage has to be a happy one.

3. Smoking. Lighting up nearly doubles your risk of stroke, according to the American Heart Association (AHA).

4. Being Obese. More weight means a higher risk of stroke, according to researchers from the University of Minnesota. The biggest culprits, according to the data are high blood pressure and diabetes.

5. Drinking. A study in JAMA Internal Medicine found that drinking one alcoholic beverage a day is associated with a 9.4% increase in stroke risk in women.

6. Being Born In The Wrong Demographic (for a stroke). Black Americans and females are at a disadvantage when it comes to stroke. Researchers report that Blacks are twice as likely as whites to have a stroke, and women aged 35 to 64 are almost three times as likely to have a stroke as men of the same age. Reasons may be that Blacks have higher rates of high blood pressure and diabetes, and women in midlife carry more abdominal fat than men, all risk factors for stroke.

7. Taking Birth Control Pills. Women who take birth control pills have a 30% increased risk of stroke, according to the American Heart Association (AHA).}

Varicose Veins

Go Herbal. If you have varicose veins, try horse chestnut, an herbal extract that strengthens veins and reduces swelling.

Yeast Infections

Pop A Probiotic. If you have persistent yeast infections, head for the vitamin aisle. By supplementing the ‘good’ bacteria it may help to restore the balance of the bacteria that causes yeast infections. Also add foods like: sauerkraut, kimchi, kefir and definitely yogurt with active cultures.

High Blood Pressure

Eat Bananas. People whose diets are rich in potassium are less prone to experience high blood pressure. Besides reducing sodium and taking other heart-healthy steps, eat potassium-packed foods like bananas, cantaloupes and oranges.
Eat More Beans

Beans, also known as legumes, are one of the most nutritional foods in the world. They are full of protein, fiber, and complex carbohydrates and they provide a valuable source of energy. They are also an excellent source of flavonoids, which can help protect against cancer and heart disease.

- Black Beans – are high in folate and rank at the top among legumes for antioxidants and fiber.
- Black-Eyed Peas – provide calcium, folate, vitamin A, a rich source of protein and fiber.
- Chickpeas – also called garbanzo beans, are an excellent source of fiber and a good source of folate and magnesium.
- Kidney Beans – are rich in fiber, folate and iron.
- Lentils – are high in minerals, especially potassium, folate acid and iron.
- Navy Beans – provide virtually fat-free, high-quality protein, plus fiber, vitamin B1, iron, phosphorus and magnesium.

Congestion

Enjoy Ginger. If you are experiencing nasal or chest congestion try ginger. Pour two cups of boiling water over a 1" piece of peeled, grated ginger, steep for 10 minutes and strain. Add a pinch or two of cayenne pepper to the water and drink as needed.

Memory Slipping

Sniff Rosemary. Catching a whiff of this aromatic herb may increase alertness and improve memory. To stay sharp, try smelling fresh rosemary or inhaling the scent of rosemary essential oil before

Lessen Stress

Love Lavender. To ease stress and prepare for bed, soak in a hot bath spiked with a few drops of lavender essential oil. Play soothing music while you bath to further unwind.

Dear Confused:

If a man loves you so much, he will not disappear for two weeks and not contact you. These are signs that he’s immature, selfish and not very responsible. Your relationship ended for a reason and you should move forward instead of two steps back. You have enough kids already and don’t need to add an overgrown man to the bunch. Set an example for your kids by taking care of them, loving yourself and waiting for a man that will treat you right.

Positioned To Win Financially

“Effort only fully releases its rewards after a person refuses to quit.”

Napoleon Hill

Empowered greetings. Last column you received steps to creating a successful budget. Prayerfully you have put those steps into practice. Keep a positive attitude because you can finish what you start if you’re determined. Remind yourself that you are on your way to winning financially. Writing the budget was half the battle. Now you must develop the fortitude to stick to it. Refuse to quit. The budget will only work if you work it. Don’t let other people or yourself through undisciplined spending cause you to abort your mission of getting your financial house in order.

I would like to encourage you to review the balance on your budget sheet. If you had money left over after you accounted for all your expenses for the month, now is the time to determine how to best use these funds to obtain your financial goals. I have provided you with a couple of top priority suggestions below.

1. Develop an emergency fund to cover unexpected occurrences such as car, home or appliance repairs. A good amount to begin with target and save is $5,000 initially. This money should be kept in an account, but yet accessible to you by check or a debit or bankcard. To help discipline you with channeling money to your emergency fund, have a set amount direct deposited into a savings account on a regular basis. The premise is if you don’t see it you won’t miss it.

2. Use the money left from budget to pay down debt owed on credit cards, car loans and any other outstanding debt you may have. We will focus on how to effectively began to eliminate debt in a future column.

Join me next column as we continue on the road to winning financially. Until then be empowered to achieve your financial freedom!

Buying The Right Computer

These days most people are looking mainly at cost when determining if they should purchase a new computer. A friend of mine recently told me she waited in line four hours to buy a Sony Vaio notebook which was being sold for under $500. However, there is that old saying you get what you pay for. Cost alone should not be the deciding factor when it comes to buying a good computer.

A smart computer shopper must first ask themselves this question. What do I need my new computer for? Is it for school, work, business trips, gaming, or simply recreation? Most computers under the price of $500 will come with specific limitations.

A notebook with a 3-cell battery will only last for 2-3 hours of usage, if you are lucky. You will have to recharge it and will not be helpful for those long road trips. Asus, Acer, and MSI are all now pushing notebook computers that can last as long as six hours or more.

A computer under $500 may not have a workhorse for a processor. A cheap computer will often arrive with a Celeron or Sempron process, which are not designed for heavy tasks such as moving around large spread sheets or desktop publishing. A good computer must have at least 2-4 gigabyte of ram so you won’t have to upgrade any time soon. This way the computer pays for itself over the years of usage.

The brand of the computer can also be misleading. Don’t think just because you bought a HP or Dell that you are necessarily getting a great notebook or computer. All brands have their share of DOAs or sudden death of a hard drive.

Asus, MSI are not as popular but they do make great computers. MSI also provide solid customer support so don’t be afraid of switching from a major common manufacturer like HP or Dell.
14 Year Old Girl Drugged, Raped And Tortured In Basement

Upon returning to New York, that is where the plan was first initiated. Being handcuffed to a chair in the basement of a home located on President St. the young girl was trapped for over two weeks and was injected, by Evans, with a substance that knocked her unconscious, according to prosecutors.

Black Engineer May Have Solution To Save Gulf

Tony Watson, a 31-year old U.S. Navy veteran and 1988 winner of the Black Engineer of the Year Government Award says that stopping the flow of oil can be fixed immediately by new technology ready for immediate deployment. “Clean Beach Technologies has developed new technology equipment that enables three key strategies to be implemented simultaneously to significantly arrest the flow of crude oil to shore,” he says.

Clean Beach Technologies has developed new technology equipment that enables three key strategies to be implemented simultaneously to significantly arrest the flow of crude oil to shore: 1. Open Ocean Recovery 2. Marsh Reclamation 3. Beach Restoration

“We have established partnership with the nation’s largest tug company to deploy the extremely high capacity open ocean oil recovery system we designed. We can begin collecting almost immediately to supplement the tradition-al oil collection methods, but at a much higher rate of collection. We can even look at re-purposing already deployed boats.”

Watson, currently co-chairman of the Black Engineer of the Year Alumni Association, says, “We can collect all of this oil, or nearly so, in rapid time before it reaches the beach.” If we start now, we can even look at re-purposing already deployed boats.

The inventor is a retired Navy CW2 who was an enlisted BT who made chief in six years.

Supreme Court Toughens Laws For Sex Offenders

Sex offenders now have more than just other inmates to worry about, according to the U.S. Supreme Court, depending on the crime; sex offenders may have to spend indefinite time behind bars. The U.S. Supreme Court ruled Monday (May 17) that the federal government now has the power to keep some sex offenders behind bars for life after they have served their sentences if officials determine those inmates may prove “exceedingly dangerous” in the future.

“The federal government, as custodian of its prisoners, has the constitutional power to act in order to protect nearby (and other) communities from the danger such prisoners may pose,” Justice Stephen Breyer wrote in a statement for the 7-2 majority. Although many were for the interjection of the federal government, Justice Clarence Thomas said the federal government overstepped its bounds.

The Adam Walsh act was named after the son of John Walsh, host of TV’s “America’s Most Wanted.” Adam was kidnapped and murdered by a suspected child molester in 1981.

The act also increased punishments for certain federal crimes against children and created a national registry for sex offenders.
