August 1st is National Minority Donor Day and an opportunity to encourage African Americans, Hispanics, Asians and other multi-cultural people to exercise their choice to save a life, the life of a neighbor, child, friend, or even someone in their immediate family, by sharing their decision to become an organ donor.

In 2000, Perry Johnson was living in Akron, Ohio working as a high school track coach.

"I've always been an athlete. I was a college All-American and spent an exhibition season with the Chicago Bulls. When I didn't make the squad, I started teaching and playing in an over-40 league."

While playing in the over-40 league, Johnson passed out unexpectedly during a game. As it turned out, that was the first of many symptoms that led to a diagnosis of cardiomyopathy - a condition that can cause deadly inflammation of the heart muscles.

"After the diagnosis, my life changed dramatically. As an athlete, I was trying to work hard and stay in shape, but the heart problem wouldn't allow me to work out like I wanted to."

"My father had one of the original pacemakers, and when I was born I was told I had a heart murmur, but I'd grow out of it."

Johnson suffered two heart attacks while working for the Boy Scouts Of America. He also spent three months in a hospital in Cleveland before moving to Tampa. He spent four months in Tampa General Hospital and had a pacemaker installed.

"When I was first told I had a heart problem, I was in denial. I just didn't want to accept what I was being told."

On March 26, 2006, Johnson received a heart transplant, thanks to the generosity of his 18-year-old donor, Raphael Ortiz.

"It started in Ohio and when I came to Florida, I spent a lot of time in the hospital before I got the call that a match had been found."

"Now, I just hope this 40-year-old body can keep up with my 18-year-old heart."

Johnson has received a new lease on life, and his family and friends have found the experience as awesome.

"I met them in Miami, and it was an emotional experience for all of us. They've invited me to join them in Puerto Rico this summer."

"I really owe a lot to my wife, Diane, for helping me get through it. If you have faith in God, you know things will work out. This certainly strengthened me spiritually."

Johnson said today he's in great shape, 64 years old, and enjoying spending time with his eight children.

"I feel I'm a blessed man. All of my children are dear to me, along with my grandchildren and great-grandchildren. God has a mission for me, and that's why I'm still here."

"Anything I can do to promote organ donation, I will, and my message is, you can't take it to heaven with you, so leave it so you can help someone else."

Johnson said he's looking forward to attending the induction ceremony of his late brother, Gus Johnson, into the NBA Hall of Fame on August 12th.

City Council Delays Decision On Future Of Historic Downtown Buildings

BY IRIS B. HOLTON Sentinel City Editor

During the mid and early 1960s, African American citizens throughout the county held demonstrations to oppose discrimination and unfair treatment. One of the methods used as a means of protest was sit-ins held at lunch counters that refused to serve Blacks.

During that time, several high school, college students, ministers, and community activists took part in sit-ins. In Tampa, the downtown Tampa Woolworth’s Department Store was historical protests held during the national Civil Rights Movement.

During the years that followed, citizens interested in preserving the history of earlier eras were successful in having the Kress Building designated as a local historical landmark. However, the Woolworths Building and the J. J. Newberry Building never received historic landmark designations. The owners at the time resisted the movement.

On Thursday, members of City Council discussed the issue and decided to continue the discussion until the August 26th meeting.

An agreement made between the City of Tampa and the owner was to preserve the façade (front) of the two buildings as opposed to having them designated as historic landmarks.

City Attorney Chip Fletcher informed Council members that an agreement was reached in 2005 between the City of Tampa and the respective owner(s) of the buildings. The terms of that agreement were to preserve the front of the buildings and that the other portions could be demolished and developed.

Attorney Fletcher also informed the Council that their vote would either allow the buildings to be demolished in their entirety or continue to preserve the fronts. Councilwoman Gwen Miller said she couldn’t understand how the Kress Building received the historic landmark designation and not Woolworth’s where the actual sit-ins took place.

Councilwoman Yvonne Capin suggested a historic marker be placed on the site or photos of the sit-ins be posted in the lobby of the new building.

Chairman Thomas Scott stated that more information needed to be obtained and that the decision be delayed. “I’m supportive of us trying to preserve the history of that building. The terms of that agreement were to preserve the history of that building, he said.

Mother Still Waits On Answers 2 Years After Murder

BY IRIS B. HOLTON Sentinel City Editor

Two years ago as many mothers were preparing to send their children off to college, one mother was planning to bury her only child. The murder of the 17-year-old remains unsolved in Tampa Police Department’s files.

It was during the early morning hours of July 27, 2008, that Levi Dixon, Jr., was shot and died. He was at a friend’s home at 2526 W. Walnut, at about 4:19 a.m., an unidentified assailant kicked the door in and shot him.

Dixon ran from the home, but died a short distance away.

Police have not yet relegated the murder to the cold case files. They continue to investigate it as an active investigation. “We feel that there are people out there with information about the shooting. We are asking those people to come forward so that Levi’s family can have some closure,” a spokesperson for the Tampa Police Department said.

Dixon was a senior at Blake High School at the time of his death. He had a promising future and wanted to work in the gospel music industry. He was preparing to enterBethune-Cookman University at the time of his death.

Ms. Pearson, who is planning a memorial celebration for her son on Saturday at her home, is asking anyone with any information to come forward. “He was a good kid and he didn’t deserve this,” she said.

Blacks And Police Need A Meeting

The recent shooting of two Tampa police officers has clearly demonstrated that a poor relationship still exist between the Tampa Police Department and the Black community.

It was a call for a summit between members of the two groups.

Two things we all must accept. The first is that Blacks are both human beings and United States citizens who aren’t about to leave this country.

The second thing that we all must accept is that the Tampa Police Department serves a valuable purpose and we all need the police.

With those two key factors accepted and laid on the table, a group needs to be brought together to engage in some talk and some actions designed to bring about a better working relationship between the Black community and the department.

The group should include community activists, community leaders, street level police officers, leaders of the police department, elected officials and the Mayor of the city.

These folks will form the summit designed to figure out the problem and come up with some solutions.

Participants will be required to leave their egos, their shoulder ships, militant conduct, their disrespect, their ranks and their intent to be a detriment to the summit rather than a help. Once this is done, a genuine effort to establish a good working relationship between the two groups should be attempted.

All participants should be free to put their concerns before the body. There must be free and open discussions and no one should be offended.

Once problems are presented and discussed, parties should be free to defend or criticize whatever is laid before the parties.

All parties should be willing to compromise in an effort to get rid of the misunderstandings, the disagreements, policies that are outdated, and most importantly attitudes that are no longer acceptable.

This is a very timely and important article. It is tragic when anyone gets killed. It is really tragic when two police officers are shot down and members of the Black community almost feel it is an occasion to celebrate and need to defend the alleged killer.

That tells me that there needs to be some work done in the area of Blacks and police relations. People seem to need to listen to and take some actions. If not, things will only get worse.

The Sole-Man Speaks!

While The Black Community Slept

Recently, I had a conversation with an individual I greatly admire because she speaks her mind and doesn’t care what she likes or not. It’s all the same to her.

And the other day, she said, the City of Tampa, downtown and across-town, was erupting with issues.

I listened intently while she said what she said. Said she, “How can anyone talk about anything else outside of Tampa with all of the political action going on, or about to go on, in this community?”

I stared at the phone receiver, and wanted very much to confess. But the one question I was afraid to ask for fear my friend might think me even more of an idiot, was “WHAT COMMUNITY ISSUES COULD YOU POSSIBLY BE TALKING ABOUT?”

Of course, we in the Black Community know full well what my good friend was talking about.

One of the things she was referring to was what was supposed to be a knock-down-drag-out between incumbent County Commissioner Kevin White and former State Senator Les Miller.

However, thus far, what was supposed to be a screaming has turned out to be a yawner.

Kevin White – beleaguered, battered, but still glib with quips – has perhaps, wisely refused to step into the spotlight with his opponent “Les” Lesley Miller, who many believed once had his wagon tethered to a national political star.

Indeed, the bout between the two has simmered into bantering and an occasional sign-napping. People are abuzz about the restrained way Miller is approaching what many prognosticators predicted would be a slam-dunk for him.

Mind you, this is in spite of a third candidate, a woman tall of stature, though short on recognition, who has stepped into the race as a “Johnetta-come-lately.” Yet, what many voters are saying, Black as well as white.

AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENTS WRECK LIVES!
Trial Over, Mom Can Finally Talk About Her Murdered Son

BY IRIS B. HOLTON
Sentinel City Editor

Ms. Ramona Lawrence has waited for the judicial system to work. Last week, she received her wish when a jury convicted a 22-year-old man for the murder of her son. The conviction was the final chapter in a drama that had played out over the last two years.

Last Friday, Ms. Lawrence was in the courtroom when Tyree Jenkins was sentenced to life without parole for the murder of her son, Willie Cherry, III. Jenkins, 22, was also sentenced to 25 years for the armed robbery of her other son, Adrian Cherry.

Ms. Lawrence said she had forgiven Tyree A. Jenkins for taking the life of her son and she’s glad the trial is over and she can move on. “I forgave him, I didn’t want to forgive him. Now, he and his family have a process they must go through for a lifetime.”

Ms. Lawrence said she didn’t think about any of the what ifs while waiting the four hours for the jury verdict. She said she knew her son enjoyed rap, but that was only a hobby.

The son of late Willie Cherry, Jr., and Ms. Lawrence, Cherry was the oldest of two sons and a daughter. His son, Willie Cherry, IV, was 3 months old at the time of his death.

He had just turned 22 on April 8th and had 18th birthday was the following day on April 9th. The brothers had gone out to celebrate and stopped at the eatery.

At some point, Adrian Cherry was confronted by an armed suspect and when his brother observed the robbery in progress, he intervened. The suspect shot Cherry once in the chest before fleeing the scene. Cherry died at the scene.

Three months after the murder, police arrested Tyree Jenkins, a native of Pasco County. He was charged with the murder as well as the armed robbery of Adrian Cherry.

Detectives John Columbia and Charles Massuccel were the Tampa Police detectives assigned to the case. Ms. Donna Wilson was assigned from the Victim’s Assistance Program.

Ms. Lawrence said, “The detectives did an excellent job in capturing him and I’m grateful.”

The conviction was the last in a series of tragedies.

Organization Kicks Off Back To School Computer Program

BY IRIS B. HOLTON
Sentinel City Editor

Ralph Smith, Founder and CEO of The Computer Mentors Group, Inc., said the "Digital Divide" has not been solved and is remains a barrier to some low-income families. "The U. S. Census Bureau Current Population Survey reports that 31.1% of the 119 million families who responded did not have a computer with Internet access in their homes. This creates a huge disadvantage for children in those families and makes it very difficult for them to compete with classmates and eventually when they enter the workforce."

In an effort to alleviate this situation, Computer Mentors will provide computers to 300 low-income families in Tampa as part of its 2010 Back-To-School Computer Initiative.

The initiative is still in the planning stages, but Smith said some of the families will be chosen from the organization's Tampa HELPS Program. The program allows families without computers access to the Internet to apply for public assistance and employment.

Smith further stated that he is in the process of determining who will receive the computers. However, they will be distributed during the 5th Annual Technology Bowl on October 23rd. The families will be notified prior to the distribution of the computers.

Computer Training

High school students will have the opportunity to obtain computers by entering the organization's Youth Computer Certification & Ownership Program. Students ages 14 through 18 will attend a 2-hour class once a week.

The program is designed in two 3-month phases. At the end of the first phase, the youngsters keep the computers they have built. After completing the second phase, they can move to the advanced phase and remain with the program until graduation from high school.

Smith said Computer Mentors depends on donations from corporations and other organizations to provide technology to low-income families.

He said Computer Mentors, Inc., will also implement a program in middle schools this year for the first time. He is currently seeking community partners to get that program underway.
Storm Damage Leaves Homeowner Devastated

BY LEON B. CREWS

Helen Swindell was raised in her family's home at 3202 Columbus Drive. She said the house belonged to her grandparents, and was handed down to her parents. When her father's health started failing, she moved in to be his caregiver, and when he passed in 2007, the house fell into her hands.

Ms. Swindell said the house was not in great shape and needed some repairs. However, due to her limited income (disability), she was not able to get the work done. On Wednesday, Ms. Swindell experienced another setback in her efforts, thanks to Mother Nature. Severe storms passed through the area and left a lot of damage. Unfortunately, Ms. Swindell's house and vehicle weren't spared.

"My daughter had to be at work at 3 p.m. and I had dropped her off and returned home. The weather was getting bad on my way, and by the time I got home, it was really bad. "I pulled up behind the house, got out of my van, and went inside. My daughter called and wanted me to drop off some drinks at her job, and so soon as I was getting up to do that, the tree fell and hit the house and my van. What really shook me up was the sound of the windows breaking."

Ms. Swindell said once the storm passed, she went outside to see the damage. She was shocked, but relieved because it could have been a lot worse.

"God was with me that day. I usually sit in my car when I pull in and listen to Yolanda Adams. But on this particular day, I got out and went inside. That saved my life."

Ms. Swindell said right now, she needs all the help she can get. The roof of the house is damaged and water is leaking into two of the bedrooms.

"Right now, I consider myself homeless, because I've been told I can't stay here. I have nowhere else to go, and I don't have the finances to live anywhere else or get the tree removed and the roof fixed."

Ms. Swindell and her daughter, Crystal Smith, will continue to live in the house and pray that someone will step forward and help them in their time of need.

The damage to Ms. Swindell's roof will require extensive repairs.

Funds Available To Expand Libraries

Hillsborough County Commission Chairman, Ken Hagan, made a motion to use $9.4 million to expand three area libraries. Bloomington, Upper Tampa Bay and Jimmie B. Keel libraries have been slated for expansion, and Hagan also wants to speed up construction of the new Robert B. Saunders Library on Nebraska Avenue.

Ann Porter, one of several people who were advocates for repairs at the library, said she's thrilled and very pleased.

"I'm happy the Board of county Commissioners approved our request for the renovation and expansion of the library. It's a great tribute and benefit to our community as we move and grow along with the very diverse community of Tampa and Hillsborough County."

Ms. Porter said she saw the need and joined Fred Hearns in helping to get the project done.

Ms. Porter was the first President of the Tampa Branch NAACP and also of the Tampa-Hillsborough County Branch NAACP.

Son Of Former Florida Governor Killed

LeRoy Collins, Jr., a retired Rear Admiral and son of former Florida Governor, LeRoy Collins, was killed early Thursday morning.

According to Tampa Police, Collins was riding his bicycle at 6 a.m. on Hyde Park Avenue when he was hit by an SUV. He was pronounced dead at the scene.

Collins, 76, was the current director of the Florida Department of Veteran Affairs, and a former Senate candidate, having lost in 2006 to Katherine Harris.
Couple Donates Shoes To Children, Homeless

BY IRIS B. HOLTON  Sentinel City Editor

For several years, one Tampa Podiatrist has practiced his profession in his native city. Now, he has established a charity in an effort to give back to the community that has served him well.

Earlier this month, Dr. Paul Sheehy and his wife, Debra, established the Sheehy Foundation. One of the first official efforts to benefit the community will be held on Saturday, July 31st, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., at the Boys & Girls Club, 1218 E. Kay Street. The annual health fair is being sponsored by St. Peter Claver Catholic Church.

Known as the "Kicks 4 Kids" Program, the shoes will be distributed during the health fair to students who complete a school physical and who have a need. The students must be accompanied by a parent or guardian.

Mrs. Sheehy said they will provide between 50 and 75 pairs of new shoes to the students. She further stated that while this is the first official event since the inception of the foundation, they have donated shoes to students during health fairs sponsored by the Boys & Girls Clubs for the last two years.

Additionally, the couple provides shoes to the homeless during the Thanksgiving holiday. They partner with Metropolitan Ministries to accomplish this goal.

Because of his profession, Dr. Sheehy knows the importance of children wearing good shoes. He will also provide free ankle and foot screenings during the health fair.

The son of the late Dr. and Mrs. Paul (Mary) Sheehy, Dr. Sheehy graduated from Tampa Catholic High School. He earned his Doctor of Podiatric Medicine in Chicago, Illinois. He completed his residency at the University of Osteopathic Medicine and Health Science and his laser training at Wenske Laser Center, both in Chicago, Illinois.

He is married to Mrs. Debra Grady Sheehy and the father of one son, Paul, III, who is a student at Morehouse College.

NCNW Sponsors Bus Trip To 'Holy Land'

BY IRIS B. HOLTON  Sentinel City Editor

When people think of the Holy Land, they travel to the country of Israel and visiting the land where Christ traveled. However, there is a place in Central Florida that replicates the land.

On Saturday, August 21st, members of the National Council of Negro Women (NCNW) will host their first Annual visit to the Holy Land Experience in Orlando. Those visiting the site will have the opportunity to enter an exact replica of the Garden Tomb where the body of Jesus was buried.

The trip is being sponsored by the Education Committee of the Tampa Metro Section of the National Council of Negro Women, Inc. Ms. Josephine Townsend, Chairperson of the Education Committee, said this is the first time that the organization has made the trip. However, they plan to make it an annual event.

"We believe that this will be a positive experience. This replica offers a breathtaking representation of the Temple of the Great King. We would like to share this experience with others who would like to visit this location, but were unable to because of transportation."

"The exhibit offers a visual of the ancient land where Jesus walked spreading the word of Christianity. It also encompasses some of the many places mentioned in the Bible that chronicled His experience in that region while on earth before the Crucifixion. The exhibit also provides a replica of the tomb where Jesus body was placed before His resurrection."

Ms. Townsend said the organization feels the visit will offer a different experience for both its members and the community in general.

The Tampa Sports Authority Board of Directors held their annual reorganization meeting on Tuesday. Each year, the board elects the officers for the following year.

This year's governing board will consist of Frank Debose, Chairman; Tony Muniz, Vice Chairman; and Randy Lawson, Secretary/Treasurer.

Debose was appointed to the board five years ago by Mayor Pam Iorio, and said his primary focus will be the three golf courses the sports authority operates.

"I want to get Rogers Park performing well. The financial aspects haven't been as I expected. We have some plans for Rogers Park, especially getting players to use the course. "We also have a long history with the Tampa Bay Buccaneers practice facility, and there are some issues that must be resolved. The issues have been ongoing for 4 years, and I want it resolved."

A mother who was diagnosed with kidney failure several years ago has died. She was 49 years old.

A native of Mobile, Alabama, Ms. Ida Mae Mason moved to Tampa as a youngster and grew up in Robles Park. She attended the public schools of Hillsborough County, including Hillsborough High School. It was as a young adult that Ms. Mason began experiencing health problems. As she matured, her health continued to deteriorate and she was diagnosed with kidney failure. Ms. Mason began dialysis at the age of 32, and continued the treatment for ten years.

Ms. Mason became ill on last Friday and was transported to St. Joseph's Hospital. She died on Sunday afternoon.

As a result of her health problems, Ms. Mason lived on disability and was unable to afford life insurance. "She couldn't afford life insurance because it was just too expensive," her sister-in-law, Mrs. Salita Mason said.

Her brother, Rev. Samuel D. Mason, said his only remaining sister was very popular and people knew her because she often participated in talent shows. "She was well known in the community. She had a beautiful voice." She was also known for her love of doing hair.

Ms. Mason is survived by 3 daughters, a son, 11 grandchildren, 7 brothers, and numerous other family members and friends.

The Mason family will gather at the Robles Park Pond on Saturday, July 31st, at 11 a.m.

Funeral services for Ms. Mason have been tentatively planned for Saturday, August 7th. Harmon's Funeral Home is in charge of handling arrangements.

Anyone wishing to contact the family can call Rev. and Mrs. Mason at (813) 215-2265.

Local Promoter New National Marketing Director For ‘Good Times’

Corey Curry, entertainment promoter and product marketer in the area for more than 13 years, has been named the new National Marketing Director for Good Times USA LLC.

Good Times is a national tobacco company that is well known in over 96 states and Alberta, Canada as the new leader in the Cigarillo and Blunt Wrap industry.

Curry attended Tampa Catholic High School and graduated from Jefferson High School. He later attended Morehead State University to play running back for current New York Jets coach, Rex Ryan, and graduated with a Bachelor’s Degree in Business Administration, with an emphasis in marketing and minor in management.

Curry’s duties will include marketing to the end users of their product, and utilizing hip hop as a major vehicle.

With Curry’s guidance, Good Times is in current discussions with national artists such as Waka Flacks, DJ Khalid, Snoop Dogg, Rick Ross, and local artists such as Tom G., T. G-Zeezy, and Shawty to produce endorsement deals for videos, mix-tapes, Good Times remixes, and creation of official Good Times songs for national distribution and the company’s website.

After only a month on the job, Curry has already made a deal with Shawty to feature Good Times products in his upcoming video. He has also created his first official Good Times Promotional Tour that will be a 45-city tour and will feature the company’s products at 15 various Black College Classics and 30 other major marketing events around the country.

On Thursday, July 29th, Good Times will be hosting Shawty in their office for a check presentation.

Local DJ Says Career Is Now ‘Strictly Business’

For almost two decades, Derek “Doc D” Dixon has been the most sought after DJ in the area. He’s worked with virtually every promoter in the city, and knows what it takes to draw people inside a club and make sure they are properly entertained.

Recent events have changed Doc D’s mission, and now he’s completely focused on moving forward and giving the people what they want.

“I can’t be surrounded by controversy from outside forces. I’ve been doing this too long to allow that to happen.”

“Right now, I’m at a new location on Friday nights, and believe me, it’s strictly business. I feel I’m at home and I haven’t felt like that in a long time.”

Doc D said he’s tired of the politics in the industry and wants to pull on his roots to return club to where they used to be.

“As a DJ at the Garage when it opened, I was educated for the first time on the politics of the industry. I’ve experienced all of the highs and lows, and there are a lot of wannabes out there. I appreciate the promoters out there who took the time to show me what it takes to run a club and to always put the people first and give them what they want. As long as people feel appreciated, they will come back.”

Doc D said he’s happy the people at the Caribbean Hut recognized his energy and felt their club was the right fit for him.

“I found out about the Caribbean Hut when I was working a party that moved to another location. And this opportunity fell in my lap. Now, I’m in a bigger room and everything is accommodating. The food is free and cooked on the premises, and the drink specials are decent.”

Doc D is trying to get another nomination for the Southern Entertainment Awards in the categories of Slept On DJ and Old School DJ.

To vote for Doc D, go online at southerncorporal.com/balot/nominate.

“Just getting the nomination would be an honor for me. It would mean I’ve been recognized twice nationally as a top DJ.”

Black Journalists Association Announces 2010 Scholarship Contest

BY LEON B. CREWS
Sentinel Staff Writer

The Tampa Bay Association of Black Journalists are announcing their 2010 Scholarship contest.

This year, TBABJ will be handing out $5,000 to deserving students of color who are pursuing a degree in journalism. Because of the growing demand, the organization will give away its first scholarship to graduate journalism students this year for $1,000. In addition, two undergraduate students will receive scholarships of $1,000 each, and one undergraduate student will receive a $2,000 scholarship.

Kevin Graham, Scholarship Chairman and Vice President of Print for the TBABJ, said he’s honored to enter his third year as chairman.

“We’ve seen a lot of applicants over the years so we know students are being exposed to a career in journalism. Many of them already have the talent and skills, but need to be fine tuned. Journalism is a multi-media enterprise and involves so many different aspects. It’s definitely more than just print media, and you need to have a lot of skills in different areas.”

Graham studied journalism at the University of South Florida, and said he fell in love with journalism as a 16-year-old.

“I find this career to be fascinating. I don’t always agree with the way some journalists apply their craft, but I still love it.”

Graham said it is their desire to empower young journalists of color to join the ranks of the working press.

“Please encourage high school seniors, undergraduate and graduate students of color to apply for this scholarship by September 10, 2010. Applications must be postmarked by that date to be considered. Scholarship winners will be announced this year during TBABJ’s Griot Drum Awards Ceremony that will be held November 18, 2010 at the Dr. Blaise F. Allano Conference and Banquet Center, 11606 McKinley Drive.

Students currently enrolled in college or graduating high school seniors are encouraged to apply.

Contact Kevin Graham at (813) 857-4906.

Ashley

This week’s spotlight feature is Ashley. This young lady was gracious enough to allow us to feature her. Ashley is dynamic in her personality, and has a very engaging smile. She’s always full of energy and mature enough to put things in perspective when it comes to her friends and how she spends her free time. World Adult Kickball Association Comes To Tampa

The World Adult Kickball Association was founded in 1998 in Washington, D.C., and has spread to more than 30 states, as well as internationally in London and Iraq. The WAKA has opened a club in Tampa, the Florida Bayshore Division, and they play on Thursdays at 7 p.m. at the Police Athletic Park on West Diana.

The rules of kickball are similar to other base sports, only easier and open to all skill levels. The WAKA plays with 11 fielders, 5 innings, 2 base coaches, bounces, no head shots, one base on an overthrow, forced outs, no ghost men, and bunting is allowed so get a good catcher on your team. There must be both male and female players on the field at all times.

The average player is in his/her mid-twenties or 60+. The WAKA championship game is held annually in Las Vegas, Nevada.

For more information on this new league, call (601) 953-7225 and speak to Courtney Silvaggi.

NFL Won’t Discipline Michael Vick

Vick spoke at length to commissioner Roger Goodell over the phone about the latest incident and Vick’s progress during the investigation, sources said. Goodell implored Vick to make better decisions and warned him to take more care in how he conducts his personal life.

Vick said Monday that he cried following the shooting after his 30th birthday bash, but not because he had done anything wrong. The Eagles quarterback said he cried because he had let people down by putting himself in a situation he now knows he should have avoided.

Uncle: Wright’s Body Found In Memphis

LORENZEN WRIGHT

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — Relatives and friends of Lorenzen Wright gathered Wednesday to pay their respects for the former NFL player who has been missing for 10 days.

Wright’s uncle, Curtis Wright, said that police called the player’s father, Herb Wright, on Wednesday afternoon with the news he had died.

Remembering Lorenzen Wright

In the NBA, sometimes the simplest acts of kindness can seem extraordinary. Former Clippers strength and conditioning coach Johnny Doyle remembers what Lorenzen Wright did for him.

The family issued a statement through a cousin of Lorenzen Wright, Camella Loyd: “Lorenzen’s family has come together to mourn his loss and honor his legacy. We appreciate your thoughts, prayers and condolences as they are comforting at this very difficult time. Additionally, we ask that you please respect our privacy as we try to cope with his sudden loss.”

Wright’s mother, Deborah Wright, said that police called the man was Wright, she wrote they could not confirm the victim’s identity Wednesday night. But Thursday, the Commercial Appeal of Memphis cited law enforcement sources confirming the man was Wright.

The family issued a statement through a cousin of Lorenzen Wright, Camella Loyd: “Lorenzen’s family has come together to mourn his loss and honor his legacy. We appreciate your thoughts, prayers and condolences as they are comforting at this very difficult time. Additionally, we ask that you please respect our privacy as we try to cope with his sudden loss.”

Andre Dawson Inducted In Baseball Hall Of Fame

CUBS CELEBRATE RECORDED HISTORY—Andre Dawson, who endured 12 knee surgeries to forge an impressive 21-year major league career, was inducted Sunday into the National Baseball Hall of Fame, becoming just the 203rd player in the game’s long history to receive the honor.

“Thank you for welcoming this rookie to your team” said Dawson, who played for a decade in Montreal before signing with the Chicago Cubs as a free agent. “It’s an honor beyond words. I didn’t play this game with this goal in mind, but I’m living proof that if you love this game, the game will love you back. I am proof that any young person who can hear my voice right now can be standing here as I am.”

The 56-year-old Dawson took the podium as Cubs and Expos fans roared their approval and began his speech by thanking his loyal fans from both cities.
Jack Tatum Dies From Heart Attack

Tatum died Tuesday at age 61 in an Oakland hospital. The cause was a massive heart attack, according to friend and former Ohio State teammate John Hicks. Tatum had battled diabetes and other health problems for years, Hicks said.

The collision with Stingley happened Aug. 12, 1978, at Oakland Coliseum.

Stingley was cutting inside when he lunged for a pass which fell incomplete. Bearing down at full speed from the opposite direction, Tatum met Stingley while the receiver was off balance and leaning forward. Stingley crumpled to the ground, his fourth and fifth vertebral severed.

Over the years, Stingley would regain limited use of his body, but he spent the rest of his life in an electric wheelchair. He died in 2007.

There were never words of consolation or an apology from Tatum, and the two players never spoke after the hit.

Wolves Trade Sessions To Cavaliers

The Cleveland Cavaliers completed their first post-LeBron move on Monday night, trading troubled guard Delonte West and point guard Sebastian Telfair to the Minnesota Timberwolves for point guard Ramon Sessions, 7-footer Ryan Hollins and a second-round pick.

The Cavaliers tried to start the roster makeover by signing restricted free agent point guard Kyle Lowry to an offer sheet, but the Houston Rockets matched it. So they settled on Sessions, a quick, pick-and-roll specialist who spent last season backing up rookie Jonny Flynn on the woeful Wolves, as their new point guard.

Paul Refrains From Denying Trade Interest

NEW ORLEANS — Hornets All-Star Chris Paul said his meeting with Hornets general manager Dell Demps, head coach Monty Williams and team president Hugh Weber on Monday was "really, really well." He added that he was "excited" by Williams' approach to coaching.

Paul even went so far as to say he's "never been able to envision" continuing his NBA career anywhere but New Orleans, the city where he became an NBA All-Star, the face of his franchise and one of the most popular figures in the community.

And yet, when given the chance to say without reservation that he did not want to be traded, Paul said now was not the time.

Woodley Won't Hold Out

Despite unhappiness with his current contract, Pittsburgh Steelers Pro Bowl linebacker Lamarr Woodley will show up on time for training camp when players are due to report on Friday.

The Steelers recently decided they will not renegotiate Woodley's deal before the start of the 2010 season. After recording 25 sacks the past two seasons, Woodley will make $550,000 in the final year of his rookie contract.

Pittsburgh traditionally does not negotiate contracts during the season, which means talks are not expected to resume until 2011 when Woodley is due to become a free agent.

Clarett Taking Classes At Ohio State

COLUMBUS, OH — Ohio State University says former football star Maurice Clarett has been granted re-entry to pursue his degree after he spent more than three years in prison.

Ohio State spokesman Jim Lynch says in a statement that Clarett started classes on Monday after he was readmitted by the College of Education and Human Ecology, where he was originally enrolled.

Clarett says in a statement that it is a "surreal feeling to be back at Ohio State" and that he doesn't want to be a "distraction or nuisance" to the football team or other students.

Wyclef Jean Considers Running For President Of Haiti

Wyclef Jean is making headlines after announcing that he's considering running for President of his native country of Haiti.

The Yele Haiti head has reportedly been considering a bid for presidency since 2007 when he was made ambassador-at-large for the country.

Now with the 2010 election on the horizon and President Rene Preval unable to seek reelection,

Diddy To Be Sued By NYC For $996,000

New York City officials are investigating a number of residents including Sean "Diddy" Combs after they say they collectively owe the city an estimated $1.9 billion.

Diddy's flagship company, Bad Boy Entertainment, is facing legal action for illegally plastering posters around the city leaving them with a $996,000 bill that has reportedly yet to be paid.

Finance Commissioner David Frankel is fed up with Diddy and the several other people that account for the city's billion dollar debt.

A spokesman for Bad Boy has since described the bill as a "bureaucratic error", and tells the NYDN that it was "paid by a partner company three years ago, but the city hasn't updated the record."

A city spokesman said lawyers are reviewing the issue.

Beer Thrown On The Game And His Kids

It seems that someone took The Game's no beef kindness for weakness at a concert in Los Angeles last weekend.

At a concert, The Game was cloning a show and decided to bring his kids on stage to say "Hi" to the fans.

After both his children spoke on the mic, The Game tells the fans to enjoy themselves and be safe." At this point a heckler must have thought the love fest was getting too deep, and threw beer on The Game and his kids.

Singer Al Jarreau Hospitalized In France

PARIS — Grammy-award winning singer Al Jarreau was in intensive care in a French hospital last week after encountering breathing problems in the Alps that forced him to cancel four concerts.

However, a note on his official Web site said the 70-year-old Jarreau was in "good spirits" and "looking forward to getting back out on the road."

Jarreau fell ill before a concert at a jazz festival in the French mountain town of Barcelonette, in the southern Alps.

He was taken to the intensive care unit in the city of Gap.

Jarreau, who started out in jazz before crossing over into pop and R&B, canceled two shows in Germany and another in Azerbaijan besides the one in France, his agent said.

Jarreau is one of the few artists to have won Grammys in three separate categories — jazz, pop and R&B — like Michael Jackson.

C-Murder Case Under Investigation

Two j udges who presided over New Orleans rapper C-Murder's trial for the 2002 murder of 16-year-old Steve Thomas, are now under investigation.

Judge Martha Sassone and Judge Ellen Kovach are being investigated by a secret panel after the office received a credible complaint against one of the judges who presided over the controversial case.

Although Sassone was the convicting judge in the case, Kovach is being investigated for her alleged ties to the rapper and for her use of the bill as a "bureaucratic error", and tells the NYDN that it was "paid by a partner company three years ago, but the city hasn't updated the record."

A city spokesman said lawyers are reviewing the issue.

DMX Begins 90-Day Jail Sentence In LA

LOS ANGELES — Rapper DMX surrendered to a judge Monday to begin serving a 90-day jail sentence for a 2002 reckless driving conviction.

DMX, 39, whose real name is Earl Simmons, was originally charged with drunken driving, but those charges were later dismissed.

Court records show DMX was found in violation of his probation in January and was supposed to surrender in March. He didn't appear in court and a judge revoked the rapper's $100,000 bail.

C-MURDER

At the re-trial in 2009, C-Murder was again convicted of the shooting, but controversy broke out when a juror Mary Jacob claimed that she voted to convict the rapper after being pressured by a fellow juror.

C-Murder, who is serving a mandatory life sentence, is currently planning an appeal of the latest ruling on the grounds that the juror in question was forced to convict him and that Kovach's advertisements also prevented him from receiving a fair trial.
Super producer Rodney "Dark Child" Jerkins has revealed that he will be releasing a new Michael Jackson album with new material.

In an interview Jerkins revealed that he has a lot of unreleased tracks that he plans on releasing as a tribute to the late great King of Pop. Although it hasn't gained official clearance, Jerkins states that the album will be coming soon.

"You know there is a lot of red tape, but it's definitely going to happen."

In the interview Jerkins and Ray J also recalled what it was like working with Michael Jackson.

"It was a blessing and a dream of mine since I was a kid," Rodney said. "Ever since I was 11-years old, I knew I wanted to be a producer and I knew I wanted to work with him."

Jerkins also states that Michael played a huge role in teaching him the business and how to publish his music.

Old Spice Guy May Not Have Helped Old Spice After All

According to industry-watching site WARC, the ubiquitous campaign for Old Spice body wash, "The Man Your Man Could Smell Like" actually corresponded with below-average sales.

The campaign appeared to be aimed at both women and men (the Old Spice Guy addresses "Ladies," but the tagline at the end is, "Smell like a man, man.") The ads were funny, and transcended the viral marketing stigma to become a legitimate hit on blogs and social networks. Surely, an entire new generation was introduced to the brand.

Lauryn Hill 'Repercussions'

A previously unreleased track from Lauryn Hill has hit the net.

Titled "Repercussions", the track is believed to be an outtake from 1998's Miseducation of Lauryn Hill that features the soulful songstress speaking on the ills of the world.

Horoscopes

Today's Birthday — Broaden your personal mission in life this year. To achieve this, deepen your spiritual connections. First develop a contemplative practice that relaxes your mind. Then acknowledge instances in which you lose it. This year, you will be asked to find your peace, Leo (July 23-Aug. 22) — You don't have to be felt by the limiting thoughts of others. Break out of the box and apply your own values as you speak logical resolution.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — Isolate yourself with a partner, if you need. Quiet time is essential for clear communication. Budget for household repair expenses.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) — To narrow your focus and get all tasks accomplished, find a secluded corner. Spend ten minutes figuring out the logic first.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) — Give up the idea of trying to please everyone. Instead, provide for people's basic needs and reserve additional perks for later.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) — Social activities take all of your spare time. If you want a moment to yourself, set your alarm 10 minutes early. Remain flexible.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — You feel squeezed by boundaries set by people who don't understand your situation. Work within those limits today, and plan tomorrow's strategy.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) — The world seems more flat today than before. Boredom eventually occurs. Allow yourself to indulge in monotony or routine.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20) — Broads your focus to include areas newly discovered. Spend a little to achieve a lot. Don't break the bank in the process.

Aries (March 21-April 19) — Your attitudes line up on two opposing teams. At first, it seems all the big guys are on the other side. But your team know's they're doing the right thing.

Taurus (April 20-May 20) — Decide to be flexible today. You'll be sorry if you're not. Accept a few barbs to get some beautiful roses. Compromise for success.

Gemini (May 21-June 21) — You may feel boxed in by restrictive requirements. Follow the rules as much as you can. Bend one, but don't break it.

Cancer (June 22-July 22) — Mystical magic seems to surround you, and old concepts may shift. Today difficulties melt away, and impossibilities become likely.

Movie Reviews

Salt — Angelina Jolie (Salt) delivers big time in this action-packed spy thriller. Must-See! 2nd at box office - $36M. (Budget $110M) [*]

Inception — "Tell Me I'm Not Dreaming" — This psychological thriller directed by Christopher Nolan (Dark Knight) and starring Leonardo DiCaprio is a classic. No. 1 at box office - $143M. (Budget $160M) [*]

The Sorcerer's Apprentice — A Disney fantasy film starring Nicolas Cage. Good special effects. Too long (2 hrs/30min) - $42M (Budget $150M) [*]

Despicable Me — 2010 best animation over Shrek and Toy Story! Kids and adults will love this movie. No. 1 at box office. Made $161M. (Budget - $69M) [*]

Predators — A fresh storyline makes this particular Predator movie very good. Don't miss it! Made $46M. (Budget - $40M) [*]

The Last Airbender — Highly disappointed! Director M. Night Shyamalan could have done a better casting. Made $125M. (Budget - $500M) [*]

The Twilight Saga: Eclipse — The vampires and werewolves join together to save Bella (Kristen Stewart). For the teen fans, don't miss it! Made $279M. (Budget - $66M) [*]

Grown Ups — Could have been funnier starring Adam Sandler and Chris Rock. I still enjoyed it! Made $142M. (Budget - $80M) [*]

Knight And Day — Never miss a Tom Cruise movie. You can bet he's going to bring the action. Made $72M. (Budget - $117M) [*]

Jonah Hex — This western received bad reviews, but I personally enjoyed it. Made $101M. (Budget - $47M) [*]

Toy Story 3 — You couldn't get a better send-off for Woody, Buzz Lightyear and Co. Andy leaves for college and his mom donates the toys to a daycare. (2 hrs. long) Made $357M. (Budget - $200M) [*]

Karate Kid — Excellent feel good / drama starring Will Smith's son, Jaden, and Jackie Chan. Adults and kids will love this one. Will and Jada produced the movie. Made $173M. (Budget - $40M) [* plus some]

The A-Team — 1980s TV show gets a remake with more action and new stars. Quinton "Rampage" Jackson plays Mr. T's role as "B. A. Baracus" (2 hrs. long) Made $75M. (Budget - $110M) [*]

Get Him To The Greek — Hilarious comedy about the music industry. Diddy was good in this role. Definitely, not for kids. Made $60M. (Budget - $40M) [*]

Killers — A hitman ( Ashton Kutcher) falls in love with a carefree computer expert ( Katherine Heigl). Comedy/action-packed. Made $45M. (Budget - $75M) [*]

MRS. LORENCE GOODRICH HART

A requiem mass for the reposal of the soul of Mrs. Lorence Goodrich Hart of Tampa, who peacefully passed on to her eternal home on Friday, July 30, 2010, will be held on August 3, 2010, at 1 p.m. at St. Peter Claver Catholic Church, 1611 N. Nebraska Ave., Father Hugh Chikawe, pastor, officiating. Interment will be in Rest Haven Memorial Park Cemetery.

Lorence married Samuel Hart on January 7, 1936, and to this union was born two sons, Eric and Mark Hart.

She attended St. Peter Claver Catholic School from kindergarten to middle school and then graduated from Middleton High School. She followed her dream to become an educator by graduating from Morgan State College, in Baltimore, MD, class of 1948. She then pursued and received her Master's Degree from Teacher's College of Columbia University in 1950. Her teaching career took her to schools in Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, and Tampa.

She has been an active member of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Inc. of Tampa, Fla., since 1957. She has served as President and was a member of the National Council of Negro Women (NCNW) and served over 45 years. She was recently awarded the 2010 Mary McLeod Bethune Achievement Award by the NCNW. She also volunteered tirelessly for 20 years with the Criola Center of Tampa, Inc. a telephone hotline and line for the elderly.

Mrs. Hart was afforded the opportunity to travel the world through her Delta connections and family reunions; traveling abroad to Spain, England and France, enjoying a family reunion; traveling abroad to Spain, England and France, enjoying family vacations and attending numerous other states-within the U.S.

Mrs. Hart was a lifelong member of St. Peter Claver Catholic Church.

She was preceded in death by her husband, Samuel Hart; parents, Banka Burr Carter, Goodrich; and Mazie Carter Prince Goodrich; sister, Ernestine Swenn; brother, Alvertus Prince; and aunt, Fannie Coleman.

She leaves to cherish her memories: sons, Mark S. Hart, Sr., Eric H. Hart, II, and Eric H. Hart, III; and many extended relatives in Tennessee, Illinois, Kentucky, South Carolina, New Jersey and Virginia.

The viewing will be held on Friday, July 30, 2010, from 5-8 p.m. There will be a Catholic wake service from 6-7 p.m. The friends are asked to meet at the church on Saturday for the funeral service.

Five big reasons to consider
Wilson Funeral Home:

1. We work harder to earn your business.
We can’t afford to provide anything less than impeccable service, or to leave you with less than the best impression possible.

2. You’re not just our client, you’re our boss.
We don’t lose sight of who we’re working for. After all, you’re the one we answer to.

3. We arrange funerals, we don’t sell them.
It is our responsibility to honor your wishes and respect your budget.

4. We like meeting families, not goals.
Like you, we are a part of this community supporting our neighbors when they need us.

5. We spend time with you.
Arranging a fitting tribute is important to you, and you don’t deserve to be rushed.

RODNEY ROBILLARD

On Tuesday, Hillsborough County Sheriff's deputies arrested five people after catching them with disguises and at least 19 different identification cards.

According to reports, an alert was issued Monday for two vehicles that were involved in an incident at the Bank of America on North Dale Mabry. Deputies said occupants of the vehicles tried to get money with false identification.

On Tuesday, a deputy reported seeing the same vehicle at the Days Inn on Busch Boulevard. Detectives said they believe the suspects were committing auto burglaries and stealing identifications from the Tampa, Orlando, and Port Lauderdale area.

Investigators reported several wigs and disguises were recovered.

Arrested and charged were Kathleen Mahoney, 45, Travis Bowles, 30, Elizabeth Prather, 38, Derriane Woods, 28 and Rodney Robillard, 33.

OFFICER FATALLY SHOOTS CEO IN PARK

An undercover officer shot and killed an Atlanta man Friday after he propositioned the officer in a gay pickup area and became combative.

DeFarr Gaymon, 48, was shot in the chest in Newark's Branch Brook Park after a plainclothes officer reported that the man approached him while masturbating.

The unidentified officer says when he pulled out his badge and told Gaymon he was under arrest; he shoved the officer to the ground, ran and threatened to kill him if he approached.

Essex County Prosecutor Robert D. Laurino says that the CEO of Credit Union of Atlanta was combative to the officer who had returned to the park to retrieve handcuffs he dropped during a previous arrest.

The family of Gaymon has released a statement saying, "We know that the police killed an innocent man, with no history of or disposition towards violence."

Leaking For Oil
Crews are cleaning Gulf Coast beaches 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. When oil is spotted, the Response Command Center is notified, a Shore Cleanup Assessment Team (SCAT) is mobilized and cleanup begins immediately. Cleanup efforts are being coordinated from 17 staging areas in Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama and Florida. Over 33,000 people are involved in the cleanup operation.

If you see oil on the beach, please call 1-866-448-5816 and we'll send a team to clean it up.

Cleaning Up the Beaches
The number of people mobilized to clean up the beaches depends on the size of the affected area. Individual teams can number in the hundreds, and thousands of additional workers remain on call. Working with the Coast Guard, our teams continue cleaning up until the last bit of oil has been removed. As a result, in most cases when oil reaches a beach, it is even possible to keep it open.

Our Responsibility
Our beach cleanup operations will continue until the last of the oil has been skimmed from the sea, the beaches and estuaries have been cleaned up, and the region has been pronounced oil-free. And none of the costs of our efforts will be paid by taxpayers.

Our commitment is that we'll be here for as long as it takes. We may not always be perfect, but we will make this right.

Show Support For The President On His Birthday, Aug. 4th

PRESIDENT BARACK OBAMA
...44th U. S. President

BY IRIS S. HOLTON
Sentinel City Editor

On Wednesday, August 4th, President Barack Obama, will celebrate his 49th birthday. As the first African American president in the history of this country, President Obama has been the target of continuing attacks.

In an effort to show solidarity and support for the president, citizens throughout the country will wear memorabilia from his campaign or red, white, and blue.

Some readers shared their comments about showing support for President Obama on his birthday.

Dr. Sam Wright said, "I don't have any paraphernalia, so I must get a ribbon or two to show my support! President Obama is doing his best to fulfill his campaign promises and I stand behind him 100%."

Atty. Clinton Paris said, "Sylvia Darby, Obama represents much more than the Office of the President of the United States. He represents what is possible in life, and we all, regardless of our present conditions or the situations in life we find ourselves at any moment, should strive to achieve whatever it is in life we aspire to be. For this reason, my family and office will celebrate his birthday and election, not just this year or while he is in office, but every year."

Ms. Ann Jenkins, "Yes, I will be supporting our President of the United States of America on his birthday. He deserves to be praised, he is doing a wonderful job. I know that it seems like we are not reaping benefits, but we are. "We must remember that Rome wasn't built in a day, and neither will President Obama be able to fix the problems that we're behind him to fix in a day. So, everyone should support him on his birthday. I will have on my t-shirt, my cap, and my Obama watch on August 4th. Happy Birthday, Mr. President."

James Ransom said, "Yes I Will! President Obama is demonstrating amazing leadership in the face of complex adversity and challenges. I believe that he is currently on a path of being one of the greatest U. S. Presidents and World Leaders of all time. "We all should celebrate his birthday. I will wear one of his campaign buttons in celebration of his birthday. 'Happy birthday,' in advance Mr. President."

"President Obama's Inauguration was the first I have attended, and he is the first President that I have met or been near. I will support with the good and bad!"

Howard Harris said, "The Chamber of Commerce spends $3 million/week to defeat President Obama's agenda. Despite this in just a year and a half, he has successfully gotten through Congress: A stimulus package providing tax cuts to the middle class and fixing our roads and bridges; Health care reform providing care for all; credit card reform which did away with the small print; 4) student loan reform; 5) fair pay for women; 6) Nuclear weapons agreement with Russia, reducing the number of weapons; 7) Wall Street reform; and 8) extending unemployment insurance among many other accomplishments. Additionally, our President won the Nobel Peace Prize. I will knock on doors between now and November to encourage all to go to the polls to send President Obama help."

Ms. Gloria McNair said, "I will either wear my Obama tee shirt with him and his family on the front or wear red, white, and blue attire in support of our President."

Carl Warren, Jr., said, "I believe this a great idea for showing solidarity for President Barack Obama. I will wear one of my t-shirts on that day. I believe, if the so-called "T-Forty" participants can show their solidarity when opportunity arises, supporters of President Barack Obama can show our support when a special occasion such as this arises."

Danny Green said, "I will wear my tee shirt and pin that day to support President Obama. I'm so proud of him and the way he is handling the country with all of this turmoil going on."

Grandparents Support Group Hosts Annual Youth Awareness Day

Tender Loving Care (T. L. C.), a grandparents support group, hosted its annual Youth Awareness Day recently at the Carver City Lincoln Gardens Civic Association.

The event featured arts and crafts for the younger youth with games and face painting. The older youth were entertained by the Tampa Police Department, who gave a presentation on their K9 dogs.

A USF student demonstrated Power Point technology. The Children's Home Inc. presented information on foster care.

The youth participated with songs, poem reading and stop dancing.

A coordinator from the USF Florida Kinship Center spoke about the importance of summer reading and gave books to the youth.

A planned nutritional menu was donated by Bonnie James.

The grandparents who planned and attended the event were: Sylvia Darby, Earlene Cohen, Mary Neal, Gladys Henderson, Troylin Mills, Chairperson; Helen Davis, Secretary; Barbara Edwards, LaShawna Jones and family, Monica Duncan, Shantha James and family.

Shown with the grandparents, grandchildren, other youth and program participants are: Trinity Baptist, Charity Linda, Mantau, Jasmine Neal, Rianna Cordova, Amari McCoy, Trevin, Tiauna, Anthony Powell, Aunzia Powell, Jania Davis, Tommy Turner, Travis Galmey, Jayla W. Jackson W., Groversian Campbell, Korrin Campbell, Tiay Campbell, and Dee Campbell.
Tampa Model Visits Several Cities During Tour

BY IRIS B. HOLTON
Sentinel City Editor

Two months after graduating from Tampa Bay Technical High School, Danny Green became a member of the U.S. Army. He became a career soldier and served his country for several years.

It was while in the military that Green discovered his love of travel, and decided that whatever path his life took, there would always be time for pursuing his goal. It was during that time that he realized that life is short and decided to pursue his dreams.

Since his retirement from the military in 1999, Green has made traveling a constant part of his life. In addition to being a professional model, he continues to visit various cities throughout the country and now, internationally as well.

Recently, he embarked upon a 10-day tour of several cities in including Italy, France, Spain, and North Africa. He visited the cities of Rome, Pisa, and Florence, Italy, Monte Carlo, Barcelona, and Palma Mallorca, Spain, and Casablanca, Morocco, North Africa.

While in those cities, Green visited the Coliseum, the Trevi Fountain, St. Peter Square and the Vatican, and the Leaning Tower of Pisa.

"I feel very blessed that I am able to travel as much as I do. Life is too short to not try to accomplish some of your goals," Green said. Each year his travel calendar is filled with engagements such the Tom Joyner Foundation Cruise, the BET Awards Show, the Stellar Awards, and numerous other concerts and events. He also has the distinction of attending the Inauguration of President Barack Obama.

In addition to working as a Route Manager for Brinks Security Company, Green is a professional model who works with an agent. He credits his agent as being instrumental in making sure that he is in the right place at the right time.

Green said he enjoys traveling, modeling, and attending the many functions that have become a part of his life. He has also made friends with many of the stars he has met as they continue to meet at different functions.

The son of Mrs. Thelma Green and the father of one adult daughter, Dannetta, Green is a Tampa native.

In life we all have to choose how we look at and examine every situation. One of the most common is from the age old saying, "Is the glass half empty or half full?"

This is the message Paul is conveying to the church in Philippians 1:15-29. He has made up his mind as to how he will look at the situations of his life. Paul's life and the believer's life are to be lived for and to the glory of God. Each person's life is a sermon that points to the will of God. Paul says that some preach Christ out of envy and rivalry and others out of goodwill (vs. 15). The ones who do it out of envy preach for selfish ambition (vs. 16) and the latter out of love (vs. 17).

As you live your life you must ask yourself the question: why are you living the life of Christ and for what reason do you preach life's sermon? Are you doing what you are doing for your own selfish ambition and promotion? Are you living the life because you truly and sincerely love God for who He is?

He concludes this question by letting everyone know that the main purpose is for Christ to be preached (vs. 18). In every situation, regardless of a glass being half empty or half full, or for selfishness or love, Christ must be preached. People must choose why they do what they do for the Lord. Paul has had his share of trials and affliction. In his current place he is under house arrest. Instead of dwelling on the negativity (half-empty), he sees his situation as a way to glorify God (half-full).

He lets them know that he is confident that through their prayers, his situation will turn out for his deliverance (vs. 19). Regardless of his situation he maintains his faith and hope in the deliverance of God. Although his future looks dim and he experiences time of loneliness, he still believes that prayer changes things. "I eagerly expect and hope that I will by no means be ashamed, but with bold­ness believe that Christ will be magnified in my body, whether by life or death" (vs. 20).

Because he has realized that it is not about him but all about Christ, he maintains that Christ will be glorified. However, Christ is magnified is okay with him. As people of God we must accept that sometimes God's magnification is in life and other times through death. Paul does not have to fear the unknown of death because he knows that in the end there is something greater awaiting him. He has understood his life in two dimensions, on earth and in heaven.

He does not know which one he wants, life or death (vs. 23). He knows that in order to be with Christ he must leave the body and ministry of the flesh. There is a need for him to remain alive. There are people who need him and who need to hear the word of God. For that reason he wants to stay.

Do you know why you want to continue to live? Your reason for life must be beyond clothes and eating, traveling and sight seeing. The purpose for life and living must be so that you can spread the gospel of the good news and to help those around you come to know the God who is able to save.

On the other hand, he has a desire to depart so he can be with Christ (vs. 23). He does not do anything to help the process along while going through trials and tribulations, but he also does not have a reason to fear death and dying.

Tampa District Church School Convention Held At St. James AME Church

The Tampa District held the Church School Convention at Saint James AME Church, Progress Village, Rev. Michael Price, Host Pastor.

Rev. Henry Green, III, of Midway, Alabama, proclaimed God’s Word during the youth witness hour. Rev. Michael Bouie of Allen Temple AME Church continued the evening service. Music was by the Mass Choir of Allen Temple AME Church.

On the second day at the noon day service, Rev. Walter E. Daniels, Sr., Presiding Elder of the South Atlanta District of the North Georgia Annual Conference, proclaimed the Word.

At the evening service, Rev. Dr. Henry Lyons, pastor of New Salem M. B. Church, opened the service and was in charge. Rev. Lyons’ message came from 1st Corinthians 1:17, 18, “Preaching and Witnessing.” Among those other than the pastor who helped to make sure the event was a success were: Cathalene Kinser, host church, Church School Superintendent; Charlene Bland, Host Christian Education Director; Rev. James C. Givens, District Christian Education Director; and Rev. Henry E. Green, Jr., Presiding Elder. Rt. Rev. McKinley Young is the Presiding Prelate. (Photos by Lomax McIntyre)

Among the families present was: Wade, Wendy Teasey and Megan Watson.

Among the ushers, Tracy Melendez, Barbara Burnett and Ruth Price.

In attendance at the convention were: Beissie Rodriguez and Gloria Andrews.

Rev. Michael K. Bouie, pastor of Allen Temple AME Church.

Petition For County Mayor Fails

According to Hillsborough County Charter Review Board member, Gerald White, the petition for County Mayor initiated by Mary Ann Stiles has failed to get the appropriate amount of signatures to make the ballot.

"I think this is a victory for the African American citizens of Tampa. The four African Americans on the petition has not given up. "She's gone on record saying she won't give up, and we'll do our best as advocates for all citizens of the county."

"We will be voting on the internal auditors position, either to remove the post or have it changed. My concern is that the post could be used for political purposes. More than $2.8 million has been spent since the position was created 6 years ago, and only 5 audits have been done."

White said if Stiles had been successful, he's sure counter-measures would have come into play.

"I still feel a County Chairperson should be elected by the voters and given limited power. I wouldn't change the title to County Mayor, because that would give people the wrong impression."

Moffitt Cancer Center Awarded $2.5 Million Grant

The National Institutes of Health has awarded a $2.5 million grant to Moffitt Cancer Center researcher Eduardo M. Sotomayor, M.D., to develop novel therapies for B-cell lymphomas and particularly for mantle cell lymphoma. The NIH RO1 grant will be awarded over five years.

Moffitt, which treats all types of lymphomas, is one of the referral centers for mantle cell lymphoma, an aggressive type of B-cell non-Hodgkin lymphoma. Studies are translated into phase I and II clinical studies, with the aim of finding lifesaving treatments.

Cancer Symptoms You Can’t Ignore

Part 1

Warning Signs For Women

Breast cancer is the most common cancer women face. Breast self-exams can spot unusual lumps, which should be taken very seriously. Any time you feel an abnormality, lump, or lump in the breast, you should see your doctor for a breast exam. A mammogram and other imaging tests may also be needed to determine the cause.

5 Mind-Blowing Benefits Of Exercise

1. It reverses the detrimental effects of stress.
2. It lifts depression.
3. It improves learning.
4. It builds self-esteem and improves body image.
5. It leaves you feeling euphoric.

Pesticides And ADHD

Here’s another reason why you might want to consider going organic. Exposure to common pesticides may increase children’s risk of developing attention deficit hyperactivity disorder (ADHD). Washing fruits and vegetables can reduce pesticide exposure, but the best option is to eat organic foods, which are produced without toxic or persistent pesticides.

What Not To Eat For The Best Brain

There are several foods that have a negative effect on brain health and should be avoided. They are:
1. Salty foods such as chips and high-sodium canned soups.
2. Processed foods high in simple sugars, including sweetened juices, candy, and cookies.
3. Foods high in saturated fat and cholesterol like red meats and high-fat dairy products.
4. Foods high in trans fat which is shown on the labels by the words "partially hydrogenated.

Warning Signs For Men

For men, prostate cancer is a major concern, and there are definitely warning signs to be aware of. The most common symptom for men is a change in their urination habits. Though these changes could be indications of an enlarged prostate and not prostate cancer, you don’t know until you get it checked out.

6 Ways To Save Your Teeth

Here are six healthy habits to prevent tooth decay and promote healthy teeth:
1. Brush frequently.
2. Floss daily.
4. Limit sugary foods and drinks.
5. Drink tap water.
6. Get a sealant. Remember cavities don’t just affect kids.

Installing Ceramic Tile

Ceramic tile installation adds beauty and makes for easier-to-clean floors in high-trafficked kitchens and bathrooms. Key home selling points are often features that add functionality, beauty and ease of cleaning, all of which is accomplished by laying ceramic floor tile in key areas of your home.

Crown Molding Installation

Many buyers look for finished homes with special details. Installing molding that’s quality-crafted adds charm and is a sought after decorative finish. Mr. Handyman can install crown molding in your living room, kitchen or master bedroom for a decorative detail that helps potential buyers envision themselves in your home.

Countertop Installation

Granite tile countertops installation is extremely popular for beautiful kitchens that attract potential buyers. In general, installing counter-tops in bathrooms and kitchens that could use resurfaced vanities and counters adds value and interest in your overall home. Even installing laminate countertops can really update the look of your kitchen or bath.

Tile Repair

Unsightly cracks, chips or discolored tile grout can turn off potential buyers. Tile grout repair keeps bathroom’s looking beautiful and prevent major home repairs from leaking water and other costly problems that could keep your home on the market longer.

Obama Criticized For Visiting Ice Cream Shop With ‘Radical’ Logo

The critics and press never sleep if you’re the President— even when on vacation. President Obama was recently criticized by bloggers and right-wing radicals for visiting Mount Desert Island Ice Cream while in Maine.

The President wasn’t criticized for his words or specific actions while at the shop, but instead because he chose to buy ice cream from a shop that allegedly held a “Black Power” symbol as its logo.

The logo, a large closed fist, is reminiscent of the prominent symbol for Black Power, used in the 1960s. Several bloggers have criticized the visit and have accused the shop of selling “Black Power” sundae.

The woman who owns the shop also happens to be white, and represents the racial majority of Maine’s population, which happens to be 1% black.

First Black Politician Elected To Office In Russia

Russian councilman Jean Gregoire Sagbo drives his car along a road in Novoazavodo, a village 100 kilometers (65 miles) north of Moscow.

People in this Russian town used to stare at Jean Gregoire Sagbo because they had never seen a black man. Now they say they see him something equally rare—a honest politician. Sagbo last month became the first black to be elected to office in Russia.

Republican Party Treasurer Accuses Michael Steele Of Hiding Debt

The treasurer of the Republican National Committee is making headlines now that he claims that RNC Chairman Michael Steele is responsible for failing to report the impending debt to the Federal Election Commission.

Pullen also says Steele and his chief of staff Michael Leavitt tried to hide the issue by instructing staff not to report to him.

RNC officials have since denied any claims of wrongdoing and RNC Communications Director Doug Heye has released a statement in their defense saying, “We have always followed the guidelines of our legal counsel and treasurer and have put in place additional oversight to ensure that all invoices are handled in a proper, open and transparent manner.”

Woman Attacked In Hospital

Authorities have arrested a woman in Wisconsin after she reportedly jumped another woman in a hospital after she had given birth.

Kimball Lewis was in the maternity ward at Sinai Hospital, when she was attacked by Shava Wade and three other females, one day after delivering her baby boy who was fathered by the same man who has three children by Wade.

Police state that the altercation was a result of a heated exchange that initially took place on Facebook, where Lewis reportedly wrote: “After I have this baby, I am going to kick your door in.”

In an effort to beat her to the punch, Wade went to the hospital and used a fake name to gain access to Lewis to beat her up.

Teen Mom Tries To Ease Life By Smothering Infant Son

Fort Worth Texas teenage mom Shantaniqua Scott was accused of engaging in a radical act of easing her life by smothering her baby infant.

It was reported that the 17-year-old, Scott’s infant boy, a special needs child—was suffocated by Scott on over four occasions. The child managed to survive for four months.

The baby boy was staying in a video-monitored room when a code alarm sounded that indicated the boy’s vital signs were failing.

When hospital staff viewed the surveillance video, they saw 17-year-old Scott pressing a blanket on the child’s face before placing her hand directly over his mouth and nose. Medical personnel were able to revive the infant and transfer him to pediatric intensive care.

When questioned by investigators, Scott told investigators she didn’t want the kid anymore and that she wanted to go back to living a care-free life without the burden of a sick child.

The infant is still hospitalized, and expected to recover.

Know Your Watering Days

...and avoid costly fines.

The City of Tampa recently moved from the long standing odd or even address irrigation schedule to a new day-of-the-week irrigation schedule determined by the last digit of the property address.

Do you know your days?

Knowing and following water use restrictions can help you avoid a costly violation fine.

Rivalry Between Schools Moves To Classrooms

BY IRIS B. HOLTON
Sentinel City Editor

Recently, the rivalry between two high schools graduated to a new level. This time the competition was not on the football field but in the classroom.

In January, a pilot program entitled Principal's Special Forces Team II (PSFT) was implemented in collaboration with the Hillsborough County Public School District by Ms. Jeannette Bradley, founder of (WWCB) What We Could Be, Inc. The program was launched on January 19th, and concluded on June 10th.

It was designed as a competition that pitted a group of Middleton High School Tigers against Blake High School Yellow Jackets.

At the end of the 5-month pilot program, the academic gains, attendance level, school involvement, parent involvement, and disciplinary records of the students were reviewed. On July 10th, the participants were treated to an Awards Breakfast at the Children's Board of Hillsborough County.

After the information was gathered, it was determined that Middleton High School made the most academic gains. Ninety percent of its students improved their grade point averages. Blake students improved their grade point averages by sixty percent.

Youngsters participating in the program from Blake High School were Sylvia Braddy, Chloe Warren, Reylah Eversley, Tayler Sheehan, Taylor McKay, Sierra Williams, Jordan Worthing, Mariah Horace, Meghan Garvey, Charly Esterna, Tandrika Debrose, Jeana Ortiz, Alexandria Robinson, Donay Jones, and Jordan Goins.

Students representing Middleton High School were Gregory Lewis, Tellis Lawrence, Traevonte Boykins, Timothoeus Williams, Heather Nelli, Rahul Sirigiri, Adrienne McLean, Shyenne, Scott, Rickesha Williams, Antonio Wingfield, Magalia Vance-Peterson, Keith Tutt, Marco Schoenoer, Jemarcus Thomas, Charmell Davis, Angelique Davis, and Eric Green.

Individual awards were presented to the most improvements in every category. Traevonte Boykins and Timothoeus Williams, of Middleton, tied for first place. The Top Tiger Award was presented to Tellis Lawrence, who is a member of the varsity basketball team.

Jordan Goins captured the title of Most Gains from Blake High School. He improved his grade point average from 1.4 to 2.46, outperforming students at both schools. He was presented a special gift certificate to Outback Steakhouse to take his parents to dinner.

The Top Yellow Jacket Award was presented to Calvin Johnson, who is a member of the varsity football team. Ms. Bradley said this is the second time her organization has partnered with the School District in an effort to improve the academic standing of students.

"Because of the School District's willingness to think 'outside-the-box' last year, WWBC, Inc., was able to improve upon the model. This allowed building more evidence to show how life and academic coaching can impact student performance in schools."

Ms. Bradley further stated that her goal is to implement the program on a larger scale. She hopes to allow this group of students to serve as mentors for incoming 9th grade students.

"We think we an impact an entire class where in 4 years, the students will be influenced in a positive way. We want to train the students to become junior coaches on both campuses."

She further stated that the program involved the parents as well as students.

Ms. Bradley was assisted by her Intern, Ms. Whitney Anderson, a Blake graduate who is currently attending St. Leo’s College on a full scholarship.

All of the students were presented awards for participating in the program.

The participants in the pilot program included Adrienne McLean, Angeuqie Davis, Charmell Davis, and HeatheT Neill. Magalia Vance-Peterson is shown on the front row.

Calvin Johnson, Blake High School PSFT Top Yellow Jacket chats with Ms. Dorcasca Edgecomb, Vice Chair of the Hillsborough County Public School Board at the breakfast.

Timothoeus Williams tied for first place as the Middleton High School Top Tiger.
