CITY OF TAMPA MAYOR MEETS WITH SENTINEL EDITORIAL BOARD

Tampa Mayor Bob Buckhorn has been in office about 120 days. Most of those days, he said, have been used to prepare the budget that he presented to the Tampa City Council at 9 a.m. Thursday. Shortly thereafter, he presented those same numbers to the Editorial Board of the Florida Sentinel Bulletin and gave an outlook for the next year. From left to right are: Randolph Kinsey, C. Blythe Andrews, Ill, Bishop James H. Howell, Gwen Hayes, Mayor Buckhorn, S. Kay Andrews, and Wilbert Malphus.
Post Office In Black Neighborhood Only One To Close In Tampa

BY IRIS B. HOLTON
Sentinel City Editor

Earlier this week, Patrick Donahoe, Postmaster General for the U.S. Postal Service, announced possible closures of more than 3,700 post offices in the country. The Produce Station at 2610 E. Hillsborough Avenue is among those listed for possible closure.

Donahoe said in a press release that more than 35% of the Postal Service's retail revenue comes from expanded access locations such as grocery stores, drug stores, office supply stores, and other venues. "Our customer's habits have made it clear that they no longer require a physical post office to conduct most of their postal business."

He also said that if locations are closed, they will be replaced with Village Post Offices, operated by local businesses such as pharmacies, and retail stores and other retailers who would provide services such as stamps and flat-rate packaging.

Ms. Nancy Ross, spokesperson for the post office in Tampa said, "These post offices are being studied for possible closure. There are no imminent closures. No retail offices will close before December 2011."

The Tampa Produce Station is the only post office in the Hillsborough County on the list. There are 15 others in Florida on the possible closure list.

Ms. Ross said the study criteria for closing would include the effect of closing a Post Office would have on the community served and the employees of that facility; economic savings to the post office, and other factors the Postal Service deems necessary.

When contacted by the Sentinel, Kathy Castor, U.S. Congresswoman for District 13 said, "Our neighbors depend on having convenient access to the post office. We will fight to keep post offices open in local neighborhoods, especially where transportation is challenging. I plan to meet with post office officials and fight to keep these post offices open."

Former State Legislator Les Miller, Jr., said, "I don't have anything to do with the post office's closing, but that post office has served many people for several years. It is unfortunate to hear that it is on the chopping block and something needs to be done about it. It is a fairly new building, it has substantial parking, and it serves many people in several zip codes.

"I remember when the Ybor City Post Office was on the chopping block, Jim Davis fought to keep it open. Residents who want to keep it open should contact Congresswoman Castor and let her know so that she can start fighting the possible closure."

FAMU To Bestow Honorary Doctorate Degree On Civil Rights Attorney

During its Summer Commencement on Friday, August 5, 2011, Florida Agriculture and Mechanical University (FAMU) will bestow and Honorary Doctorate Degree in Human Letters upon one of Florida's and the nation's most noted civil rights attorneys.

Tampa attorney, Warren Hope Dawson is a native of Mulberry and a product of Polk County Schools. He is only the second Black graduate of a high school, public or private, to become a lawyer. He received a BA Degree in Political Science from Florida A&M University in 1961; was a commissioned officer in the United States Army, and was active duty from 1961-1963. He received a Juris Doctor Degree from Howard University in 1966.

Atty. Dawson had this to say about the recognition: "The joy and good feelings I felt when I learned of the University's decision are best described by the lyrics in a current gospel song, which says: "I've had some good days; I've had some hills to climb; I've had some joy and some sleepless nights. But when I look around and think things over, all of my good days outweigh my bad days, and I just say Thank You Lord - I won't complain."

Atty. Dawson has always shown himself as a leader. While a student at FAMU, he was a student leader, Army ROTC Distinguished Military Student; and Voice of "The Marching 100," lead speaker on the FAMU Varsity Debating Team and a member of the University Choir.

His civil rights work in the federal courts included 27 years as the lead counsel in Mourning v. The School Board, a school desegregation case that involved the Hillsborough County School District. He also intervened as counsel in Warren v. The City of Tampa, a voting rights case that ultimately eliminated the racially repressive at-large system of electing the City Council in Tampa and the County Commission in Hillsborough County.

As an organized leader, Atty. Dawson served as the 40th President of the National Bar Association, National President of the Howard University Law Alumni Association, and one of the founders of the Edgecombe Bar Association.

His many recognitions and awards include: "The 100 Most Influential Blacks in America," Ebony Magazine, May 1983; induction into the National Bar Association Hall of Fame, August 2007; and recipient of the Distinguished Alumni Award, FAMU, April 1992.

More Than 50 Pay Respects To Slain Former Robinson High Star

On Wednesday night at a South Tampa home, more than 50 friends and family members gathered to pay their respect to former Robinson High School basketball star, Desmond Allison.

Allison, 31, was fatally shot Monday in Columbus, Ohio. According to police in Columbus, Allison and another man were shot during an argument outside an apartment complex. Allison was pronounced dead at a hospital and the other man survived his injuries.

Allison was described as one of the last genuine two-sport stars as he was also a better than average football player.

Allison attended Kentucky University and became a member of their basketball team under head coach Tubby Smith. When Smith arrived at the university, he instituted a no-tolerance policy on any players who broke the law.

Allison, during his junior season in 2000, was arrested for DUI and marijuana possession, and was automatically dismissed from the team after pleading with Coach Smith to keep him on.

Allison later signed with Martin Methodist College in Tennessee and as a senior, averaged 14.7 points and led the school to the NAIA National Tournament Sweet 16.

In 2002, the 6'6" Allison worked out for the Toronto Raptors and received calls from the L. A. Lakers and Detroit Pistons. He also got a call from the Baltimore Ravens.

In 2007, Allison played indoor football in South Dakota. Allison's jersey, No. 32, was retired by Robinson in 1999.

Family members have asked Wilson's Funeral Home to assist them in having his remains returned to Tampa for services.

Rev. Jesse Jackson: 'We Can Win Florida If We Organize'

On Tuesday, local and state elected officials, along with several clergy and community activists were among more than 300 people who crowded into the 34th Street Church of God to hear Civil Activist Jesse Jackson speak.

Rev. Jackson, Founder of Rainbow/Push Coalition, was in town as the guest speaker for the Coalition on Voter Empowerment Rally to encourage everyone to fight the efforts to control their voting power.

"They (the Tea Party and Republican Party) are using kamikaze tactics, because they don't care about sacrificing anyone for their purpose. This is a civil war on the rights of states. Restrictive voting is not a Black thing, because more whites are being impacted than Blacks with this legislation."

Rev. Jackson said you don't stop an election, you control it by disallowing who can vote and legislating people away from the polls.

"Race has become the front man for economic control. "We can win Florida if we organize. Let's win the 5 protected districts and the others will fall into place. Personal contact and less social meetings. In other words, we need more face-to-face and less Facebook."

Rev. Jackson presented the "Map Of Shame," that outlines vote suppression legislation by state. The map indicates Florida is one of the states with repressive election legislation, along with Ohio. The map also shows Florida as being one of the states that will require a photo voter identification card.

The voting section of the department of Justice is currently reviewing the changes to Florida's election laws that passed the legislature this year as HB 1355 for its compliance with the Voting Rights Act.

Community-based voter registration efforts in several minority communities have been suspended or permanently cancelled because of the new law's registration requirements. The result has been restricted access to voter participation.

Florida's new law cuts by 40% the number of days counties may now offer the opportunity for early voting, including a specific ban on early voting on the Sunday prior to election day.

The new law will also force many voters to vote by provisional ballots even though they are legal, qualified voters. These provisional ballots are only half as likely to actually be counted as a regular, normal ballot.

Commissioners Put Hold On Section 8 Merger Plan

BY LEON B. CREWS
Sentinel Staff Writer

On Wednesday the Board of County Commissioners asked for a continuance before they agree to merge its Section 8 program with the Tampa Housing Authority.

Hillsborough County and the Tampa Housing Authority considered the merger because the county is examining opportunities to consolidate services with other governmental entities where it can be determined that the result will enhance delivery to customers and save taxpayer dollars.

Commissioner Les Miller said a private company called CGI runs the Section 8 program for T.H.A. "The information I’ve gotten is CGI isn’t landlord or tenant friendly. I also want to know by considering this merger, are we privatizing Section 8?"

The County’s Affordable Housing Director, Paula Harvey, said according to the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD), both its program and the one being operated by T.H.A. are managed great.

"There is no attempt to privatize Section 8. Private contractors do our inspections and tenant transitions. Also, according to Margaret Jones who is T.H.A.’s Section 8 Director, T.H.A.’s waiting list is smaller than the county’s. I also understand there is concern over how the merger will affect the waiting list."

Harvey said they are in the process of working out the details on the waiting list as well as finalizing the recording process.

"T.H.A. has another company (CGI) running their program. They had intended to hire the majority of the county staff into their program, consisting primarily of housing counselors."

Comm. Miller said he wants to see that in writing that T.H.A. intends to hire the majority of their staff. "I also want clarification of CGI’s operation of T.H.A.’s program. I want a continuance on this issue so we can have more discussions on this as it relates to the budget. I also want to see Jerome Ryan (T.H.A. CEO) come before us next week to clarify the transition."

Comm. Crist said he had two areas of concern. "First, I’d like to know if we will have any county representatives on the T.H.A. board so we can have some equity on that process. The other issue goes back to the 1980s. A shifting of poverty from the city to the county had a huge impact on our program. The city benefitted from the shift because it lowered their crime statistics."

Harvey said she’s going to see what can be worked out on all the issues raised by the Commissioners, and will return next week.

Decision To Close After School Programs at County Parks Affects 1,800 Children

BY IRIS B. HOLTON
Sentinel City Editor

Wednesday, Hillsborough County Commissioners voted 4-3 to close the after school programs at County Parks. The move leaves 64 employees without jobs and the parents of 1,800 children scrambling to find a safe environment for their children.

Commissioners Les Miller, Jr., Ken Hagan, and Victor Crist voted to spare the parks. The last day of operation is September 30th, the end of the County’s fiscal year.

"This is very unfortunate that this had to happen. However, the program is no more, it’s absolute, and 64 employees have lost their jobs. I think other cuts could have been made to save the program, but we were outvoted."

"The argument of those in favor of cutting the program was that the County’s operation was now down from 6,200 children to 1,800. My argument is that those 1,800 still need the programs," Commissioner Miller said.

He further stated that Commissioner Hagan has left the door open for the cuts to be revisited. However, Commissioner Miller pointed out that a Budget Amendment comes into play after the budget has been finalized "and only if circumstances change for the better."

"The parks will still be available for different types of programs for the community. We have a very active seniors citizens program at the Progress Village Center that will continue to function. If people want to use the center, they will need to make reservations."

Currently 10 regional centers will provide services for parents. Construction on the 11th center, slated for the Progress Village area, has not been affected because of budget restraints.

Ms. Subadan further stated that the county is formulating an After School Transition Task Force. Its purpose is to make contact and assist all of the families impacted by the closing of the after school programs.

"We want to ensure that every family receives assistance and no family gets left out," Ms. Subadan said.
A Veteran Warrior Comes Back To Visit

For many of us, sitting and listening to him was a time machine. It whisked us back to the days when his brash, articulate voice represented not only America's vibrant civil rights movement, but spoke unerringly for the rights of every human being, living or yet to live.

And it didn't hurt that Jesse Jackson was stylish and handsome, too, during those years of the 1960’s and 70’s. But like everything, the hour on the clock and the pages of the calendar havenever restored their final day. As he spoke in the pulp it of Rev. Tom Scott’s, Jackson’s jaw was not as lantern as it once had been. But for the hundreds of people who jammed the pew, Pastor Jackson’s message was unchangingly the same: “Hope is the key. Activism is the pass-word.”

Rev. Jackson had returned to Tampa to speak out against one of his old foes, Scott’s (no relation to Tom Scott’s) newest pets: a law that would among other things reduce early voting privileges from 14 days to eight days and would also force voters who have changed their address to cast provisional ballots if they haven’t updated their voting address. Opponents scream foul, especially regarding the adverse impact such law will no doubt have on ethnic minorities, students, the poor and the middle class. Jesse Jackson is among the ones who oppose this new anti-law that flouts the Voting Act.

He said so, loudly and clearly to ears itching for galva­nizing words, that he hoped Barack Obama’s (so much for the rhetorical touchdown. Then as quickly as it came, the moment was past. And we here in Hillsborough County were far, far too quick will recognize.

Regarding this obvious attack on our hard-fought voting rights, no matter who comes to save us, we may only save ourselves. Therefore, to vote is to speak and to speak is to vote.

Children Are Starving In Africa

For generations it had been a private joke, shared through whispered conversations between tables of our elder America. The joke usually began at the end of dessert when blond bellies caused family members to recall younger days at dinner when a parent or grandparent would exhort children to eat everything on their plates by simply saying, “Children are starving in Africa.”

Poltite laughter usually follows as people at the table recall their confusion regarding the eating dimes of children they never knew nor could see. But now things have changed. Now we Americans can see upfront and in color.

And what we see looks back at us with dark brown eyes that are the color of our own eyes. As a matter of fact, thanks to the magic of the Internet, we Americans can no longer wonder why children in Africa are hungry when the hunger is straight at us. All we need to do is pick up a paper, turn on our HD tele­visions, or log on to Google. There staring back at us will be the face of hunger, what we will see and hear in our well-fed minds is the kindred cry of the children of our own children. For, the question “What-if?” is only a button away.

“Tell me America is on fire. But America is far from hungry. Can we not pause to share a crust of bread, or a seed of grain to sustain the innocent and the helpless? Today, it’s East Africa. Tomorrow, it could be East Tampa.”

America: ‘And I Thought It Was Just Racism’

All my life I thought America was the great­ est nation on earth. I thought America was the richest, safest, most powerful and most intelligent country in the world.

Oh, I knew the United States had a problem, but the problem was racism. If America could fix that problem that was being raced, it would really be a place.

I thought of most other countries in the world as being a giant step behind the U.S. of A. This was especially true of China, an overpopulated coun­try of totalitarian government and poor people. Somewhere along the way, did I the Rip Van Winkle and fell into a deep sleep for about two decades.

When I woke up, I was shocked to find America was in such just in that it had broken or was headed that way fast. I was surprised to find out that we owed China trillions of dollars. I was dumbfounded that Americans could not find jobs and were losing every­thing that they had managed to accumulate.

It blew my mind that our system of democratic govern­ment, once thought to be the greatest known to the uni­verse, was no longer working. I knew that our democratic form of government was al­ways divided, but I was horri­fied to find out that it had become dysfunctional, too. Elected officials are not capa­ble of running the United States government.

Folks, I am in a daze over how bad of a shape America is in. All this time I thought it was just racism. Racism, as se­riously as I did before, I now in com­par­ison to all of the other problems America has.

They keep calling America the richest country in the world. Yet, there is a big debate going on about raising a debt ceiling.

There is a big debate about paying down the debt. But it seems that being thrown about like America may not be able to pay its bills in August. Is it true that veterans, disabled veterans and people on disability may not be able to get the government checks they depend on so much.

There are Republican members of Congress who have let the country go into de­fualt. There are some Republic­an presidential candidates who we hope that they’re hopeful that America goes into default. Even a fool knows that going into default and being able to pay bills is not a good thing.

This dysfunctional attitude of the federal government has spread to state government. Like their big brother and the federal government, they care only about the welfare of the average citizens. They care only about the welfare of the average citizens of each state and district. This ‘let them eat cake attitude’ of government affects people of all races.

Today, it is about more than racism. Voters need to pay close attention and to realize that by getting out to vote in the 2012 elections and vote out all elected officials who don’t care about you and your best interest.

The The The Miracle

The The The So­le­Man Speaks

Governor Rick Scott says a possible default by the federal government would cause a crisis in the State of Florida. What he re­ally means is a possible default by the federal government would cause a crisis in Florida! But unfortunately, most of us are not like Governor Rick. So, what’s happening is that what’s not happening in the halls of Washington most surely attracts our Floridian attention.

And what is, indeed, hap­pening in the halls of law on Capitol Hill, these days? The French would call it a “Coup d’etat” (the overthrow of the gov­ernment). But unfortunately, like most coups – going all the way back to the days of Julius Caesar – the perpetra­tors (with an emphasis on “trators”) are assuming that all they need to do is start the ball rolling and that the common folk will blissfully do the rest.

What such an assumption means is that the architects of this coup d’etat are simply making assu­ptions that all they need to do is start the ball rolling and that the common folk will blissfully do the rest.

Negligent people in Washing­ton, who have let the country go into de­fault, are now in a position to compromise by saying, “The Democrat’s fiscal alternative contains highly suspect spend­ing reduction features,” you be the judge.

Indeed, if the present fi­sco­sis in Washington was a game of chess, both players would have lost by now. But there is a more sinister edge to this comedy of errors.

Several years ago, a popu­lar black comedian said, to the consternation of his audience that he hoped Barack Obama would not win the presidency. His audience howled and jeered until the young comedian explained, “If Obama wins the election, then that means Black Americans are going to be holding him responsible for what another white guy did before he got in office.”

Regardless of grandiose plans presently placed on the floor by a grandiose, con­tinuously scowling Nixonian­looking GOP House Speaker, zillions of people are still substitute for the truth.

But why? How can that be true? During a past-century of Korean Wars, Vietnam Wars, and a century of suicide bombers, are we now facing suicide politicians? Are we currently viewing the very conservative re­publicans who would commit to grind our government to a halt simply to prove a point?

And what point might such fas­cists be attempting to prove? Jackie Robinson would know. He was the first Black man to play professional baseball on a major league team. We wonder how many Rush Limbaugh said Jackie Robinson, “I hope he fails!”

Best amused, Black America knows quite well why Washington, D. C. is presently on fire and will remain on fire until we face it in the history of us. For, we realize that there is only one thing, which if it happened, could quiet Conservative America.

Simply enough, if Presi­dent Barack Obama turned what he hoped the Limbaugh said, “I hope he fails!”

Well assured, Black America knows quite well why Washington, D. C. is presently on fire and will remain on fire until we face it in the history of us. For, we realize that there is only one thing, which if it happened, could quiet Conservative America.

On Thursday, Mayor Bob Buckhorn presented his balanced budget to the Tampa City Council.

Mayor Buckhorn addressed the Council by saying as far as Tampa is concerned, ‘we’re better off than most, but we still have a lot of challenges.’

“Our major service program is smaller now, but we still have to provide the services the people of Tampa expect from us.”

The new budget, $765.4 million, reflects cuts necessary to cover the city’s $34.5 million shortfall.

Mayor Buckhorn said the city’s general fund budget decreased by $4.8 million with reductions in pension costs and operating costs as contributing factors.

“Contributing factors to the shortfall were a $17 million decrease in property values, $6 million in increased expenditure, $11 million in pension costs, and $1 million in health care expenses.”

Mayor Buckhorn said the city departments have suffered a $13 million decrease in their budget, and he hopes the decline in property values has stopped.

“We are also going to aggressively seek unpaid Fire Rescue fees and Code Enforcement liens. They total more than $2 million and we will help our budget tremendously.”

Mayor Buckhorn said the budget does include step increases for employees.

Mayor Brings Budget To Sentinel Board

After the sharing of the budget with the Mayor, Mayor Buckhorn immediately brought the information to the Sentinel Editorial Board.

The Mayor was accompanied by City Administrator Dennis Rogero, Budget Officer BOB BUCKHORN

Mayor, Mayor Buckhorn announced that he is pleased with the budget, which is left by former Mayor Pam Iorio.

Board members were pleased to hear that with the budget shortfalls, there are no layoffs and no raises in property taxes. The City eliminated 30 vacant positions. Step and merit increases are still in the budget.

He’s hopeful that the fees from the red-light cameras will generate an additional $2 million to the budget, in addition to changing people’s behavior around running the lights.

Although the City looks well, Mayor Buckhorn says there are still some challenges.

He named the Parking System operation, where 8 of the 11 parking garages are not generating any money; and he’s looking to make changes in the Solid Waste Dept. (recycling is costing $3 million).

Mayor Buckhorn stated that the funding is down in the East Tampa TIF and the City will have to refund it so they don’t lose it. He’s also concerned about the millions of dollars being lost for unpaid Code Enforcement fees.

Looking ahead, he said the prognosis looks good. “After the budget is adopted, we’ll start working on getting these numbers down further.”

Community Fair At Oak Park Hopes To Link Kids With Sponsors

BY LEON B. CREWS
Sentinel Staff Writer

On Saturday, July 30th from 10 a.m. until 3 p.m., Caregivers Helping Hand, Incorporated along with the City of Tampa Parks and Recreation Department will be hosting a community fair.

The event will be held at the Oak Park Center, 5255 East 15th Avenue. Caregivers Executive Director and Founder, Richean Hills-Akbar, said the community fair is an effort to get local businesses to come out and sponsor some kids for after school programs.

There are a lot of trailer parks in that area, and the adults send their children to the park in the area unsupervised. That’s a problem because if they aren’t registered at the park, they can’t take advantage of all the programs.

“We intentionally targeted that area because the majority of the residents can’t afford to pay the fees required for their children to participate in the programs at the park, nor can they afford health and other services.”

Mrs. Hills-Akbar said the Tampa Family Health Center Bus will be there to do screenings, and other health organizations will be there as well.

“We’ve made this a family event, and there will be free hot dogs, snow cones and popcorn for the kids. We will also have entertainment as Rose Bilal will be performing.”

For more information about this event, call (813) 379-8666.

City Grants Earmarked For Home Rehabilitation

BY IRIS B. HOLTON
Sentinel City Editor

Recently, the City of Tampa provided grants for home rehabilitation to four non-profit organizations. The grants allow up to $20,000 in repairs per home.

To qualify for the rehabilitation grants, the applicant must live in the home; the owner cannot have any liens against the property; the owner must be current in mortgage payments even if the owner is currently in a loan modification program, and they must meet the income guidelines.

The household income cannot exceed 80% of the Area Median Income. One person qualifies if the income does not exceed $31,650; a family of two will qualify with an income of $36,200 or less; a family of three will qualify if their income is less than $40,700; and a family of four will qualify if their income is less than $45,200.

2011 LEGISLATIVE UPDATE

STATE REPRESENTATIVE

JANET CRUZ

Standing Up for the Victims of Domestic Abuse

I proudly sponsored a bill that would strengthen penalties to help keep repeat abusers away from their victims. We need to do everything we can to protect victims from further trauma.

Protecting the Rights of the Insured

I co-sponsored a bill that changed the rules to ensure that insurance policyholders are made whole, even when their insurers become insolvent, while also protecting state employees who work to help process these claims.

Fighting to Protect Your Health

I voted against a plan to overhaul the state’s Medicaid program by shifting patients to privately-run managed care plans because I worry about the effects of such a harmful experiment on the care of millions of Floridians. I also strongly disagree with a plan to reduce nursing home staffing. But I was proud to support an effort to crack down on prescription drug abuse at “pill mills.”
Six Year-Old Shocks Experts With Oratorical Win

WALTER SMITH, III

School District, was on hand to observe Walter’s qualifying performance at First Baptist Church of College Hill.

His grandfather, Dr. Walter L. Smith, president emeritus of Florida A & M University, said that Walter’s performance elevated medical limitations to unparalleled expectations. “He smashed the glass ceiling. This competition gave him a sense of empowerment. We expect that some of his developmental delays can now be overcome with greater confidence. I am impressed,” he said.

At the West Coast Baptist Association Congress of Christian Education competition at Friendship Missionary Baptist Church, Walter was supported by about 20 family members, friends to include: Mary and Nathaniel Forbes of Infants and Young Children of West Central Florida, Inc., Marla Jones, Walter’s teacher of Deaf-and-Hard-of-Hearing at Foster Academy, Dr. S. Evan Burrows, Senior Pastor at First Baptist Church of College Hill, Cory Smith, Director of the Youth Division at First Baptist Church of College Hill, and Dr. Denise Ford, Coordinator of Oratorical Contestants from First Baptist.

Attorney Jeraldine Williams-Shaw, his maternal grandmother, wrote the speech, coached and prayed with Walter. “I am elated about Walter’s enthusiasm relative to his exploring unchartered intellectual territory at every phase of this experience. His exemplary performance represented more than one child’s capacity, it was an alarm to get the attention of other parents and interested persons to raise their level expectation of other special needs children.

Walter, III is the son of Yolanda and Walter Lee Smith, II. His maternal grandfather is Ms. Helen Bourdon. Walter will celebrate his seventh birthday on Friday, July 29.

‘Real Men Wear Pink’ Cancer Awareness Campaign Planned

BY IRIS B. HOLTON

Sentinel City Editor

The word “cancer” automatically evokes fear whenever it is diagnosed. Although research continues, it seems that more people are being diagnosed with the disease every day.

Ms. Sonia Franklin, a survivor of breast cancer, is president of Sisters Network of Tampa Bay, Inc., and her role is to continue to draw attention to the disease. She recently announced plans to launch a cancer awareness campaign directed at the spouses, brothers, and friends of those stricken with the disease.

Entitled “Real Men Wear Pink,” Ms. Franklin is planning an event for the first weekend in February to focus attention on the men in the lives of those battling cancer.

“She takes someone who has been through the battle of cancer to talk to someone who has been diagnosed with the disease. My vision is to focus on the men who hang in there with their wives, sisters, mothers, or daughters who have been diagnosed.

“They are the ones who hang in there through the loss of hair, the pain, the surgeries, and all of the hiccups we go through. These men make sacrifices like no one else and they need someone who can talk to as well.”

Ms. Franklin said the campaign is still in its infancy stages of planning. However, she plans to make it an integral part of the cancer awareness campaign.

Ms. Pat Spencer, a cancer survivor and knows all too well about the devastating effects of the disease. “The three most common cancers in women in the United States are breast, lung and colon.

“Coming to terms with a cancer diagnosis can be very difficult, which is why the number of members of our community being diagnosed with cancer is high, yet persons are remaining silent and don’t share the information, sometimes even with family members and close friends.”

I am blessed to be a 6-year breast cancer survivor. For those of us who have battled cancer, and those who are still in the fight, my prayers are with them and their families.”

Don Daughtrey is standing beside his wife, Cathy, as his partner, who battles cancer for the second time. He said, “My wife is a survivor of two often fatal cancers, the first of which was the second one more recent. She was diagnosed with a cancer in 2008 and her chemotherapy is a large pill but is being swallowed. Her cancer has become active again; the miracle-like drug was no longer as effective as it had been before.

In keeping with support for his wife, Daughtrey, who wears a full head of hair and shaves his face and head bare to show his support. He said it was for a friend of the family stricken with the disease that “I first became a bald-headed old man.”

Ms. Franklin said the men in the lives of cancer victims often remain in the shadows. Her hope is to shed light on the sacrifices they make sharing the walk with those diagnosed with cancer.
Gospel Star To Appear On Local Radio Show

BY LEON B. CREWS
Sentinel Staff Writer

For the second straight week, the Michelle B. Patty and King Cobra Gospel Radio Show will feature a popular Gospel artist.

This week, Paula Chance Melbourne will be the guest artist on the show aired on WTMP 1500AM radio Sunday morning.

Ms. Melbourne was raised in the church with her father, Pastor Aaron Chance and her mother, Ethelene Chance. As the third oldest of eight children, Mrs. Melbourne began singing in church when she was 4 years old.

"When I was 16, I was baptized and began to serve at my father's church, Love Gospel Baptist Church, leading the praise and worship teams."

In 2002, Mrs. Melbourne left her father’s ministry and became a member of Rhema Life Deliverance International Ministries. She soon started training to become a minister, and not long after, she began ministering through music and became the praise and worship leader at Rhema for 8 years.

In 2010, Mrs. Melbourne signed a contract with Praise Hard Records and Productions.

"Music has always been my passion and I know that God is the reason for this passion," said Mrs. Melbourne.

"God has ordained me through music. The songs that are placed in my heart are designed to save and set free the hurting, bruised and lost. These lyrics have one goal or purpose in mind, which is to restore the hurting, heal the bruised, and guide the lost back to God through song."

District Gets Award For Highest Number Of Minority AP Students

Last week, the College Board presented the Beacon Award to the Hillsborough County Public Schools District. The prestigious award is given for profound achievement in using AP to create a culture focused on college readiness.

Hillsborough County was one of four districts the College Board honored this year. The presentation took place in San Francisco.

"Hillsborough has attained unmatched achievement by aligning and focusing an entire community — from principals to teachers to parents and students — on the goal of college and career readiness," Eric Cantor, Senior Vice President of the College Board's College Readiness division said.

Statistics from 2008 to 2010 show that Hillsborough achieved the largest increase in the number of students earning AP scores of 3 or better of any school district in the nation. This was an increase of 1,814 students.

The College Board credited Hillsborough County as being the only school district on this year’s AP District Honor Roll that has this large of an increase in the number of individual students who earned scores of 3 or better and thereby qualify for college cost savings.

The Board also pointed out that during the same time period, Hillsborough County increased student participation in the AP courses and exams by 19%.

The College Board also recognized the fact that during the same time period, Hillsborough County increased student participation in the AP courses and exams by 10%.

The Board also pointed out that the percentage of underserved minority AP students scoring 3 or better improved over the 2008 score, making Hillsborough County have the second largest increase of any district in the country.
Entrepreneurship Program
Teaches Students Business Skills

The 17 Middleton High School students participating in the program are: David Anderson, Quinnesha Anderson, Justin Bell, Ronald Blaylock, Jr., Mariana Brandon, De’Andre Coachman, Charmell Davis, Tyneisha Davis, Kyle Gibson, Reggie Hill, Junelyce Santos, Derrick Smith, Adonis Tanner, Justice Tribleing, Timothues Williams, Sashalle Willie, and Donald White.

The summer months, is the time when parents attempt to enroll their youngsters in various programs to occupy their time. Some older students find employment while others go to the educational route.

This summer 17 students attending Middleton High School participated in a unique experience. They had the opportunity to take part in an entrepreneurship program entitled “Igniting Entrepreneurship.”

A unique program, it spans 4 weeks and focuses on the business arena. However, what sets it apart from its predecessors is the manner in which the students learned. Its founders did not bring in guest speakers, lecturers, or successful members of the business community.

Instead, the students were given the assignment of starting a business from a basic idea. They were responsible for learning how to develop a business plan; building a website; and taught financial literacy, education and entrepreneurship skills development.

The 9th grade students participating in the program are David Anderson, Justin Bell, De’Andre Coachman, Tyneisha Davis, and Donald White. The five 10th grade students are Quinnesha Anderson, Kyle Gibson, Reggie Hill, Adonis Tanner, and Sashalle Willie.

Ronald Blaylock, Jr., (who is an 11th grade student), along with Mariana Brandon, Charmell Davis, Junelyce Santos, Derrick Smith, Justice Tribleing, and Timothues Williams, (who are incoming seniors), round out the student group.

Sean Dickerson, President of 100 Black Men of Tampa Bay Inc., said, “This intensive program is not only an extensive program is not only an intensive program is not only an innovative approach to providing these high school students with something to do. It is an opportunity for students to get exposure to the nuts and bolts of what it takes to build a business. Providing the tools for planning and a practical environment for implementation is one of the aims of this program.”

He further stated that when the program ends next month, the students will have the opportunity to showcase what they’ve learned. They will propose their business plan and website to a panel of professional business owners and community members. The students will compete for cash awards.

Dickerson further stated that his organization will serve as mentors for those students who wish to pursue their business plans to the next stages.

The program is sponsored by the 100 Black Men of Tampa Bay, Inc., and was made available through a grant from Bank of America Foundation. It was coordinated in conjunction with ENABLE Business Development Institute, Computer Mentors Group, the National Association of Black Accountants, the Society of Emotional Intelligence, and The Open Café.
Tax Collector’s Office Moving To New Location

BY LEON B CREWS
Sentinel Staff Writer

As of noon Thursday, July 28th, the Hillsborough County Tax Collector’s North Tampa Office was closed. The office, located at the corner of Busch Boulevard and Florida Avenue in the Floriland Business Center, was closed due to a 2010 law passed by the Florida Legislature that mandated the closing of most State Department of Motor Vehicle Offices statewide in the coming years.

Dale Hoffman, Director of Branch Operations, said the move was necessary because they needed more space to accommodate new issues with the building at 3011 University Boulevard East. "Aside from the inadequate parking and some other issues with the building at Floriland, we needed to expand to include our service of issuing drivers licenses."

Hoffman said their new location at 3011 University Center Drive has plenty of parking, and the building is adequate in size to accommodate the additional services. It will officially open on Wednesday, August 3rd at 8 a.m.

"We looked at many and decided the one near Bougainvillea and 30th Street gave us everything we were looking for. I also think the new location is accessible as the old one."

"As of June 30, 2015, the Tax Collector’s Office will have taken over all the driver license services from the state. We’re also looking at third-party testers to conduct road tests and other changes."

Hoffman said the offices in Brandon at Falkenburg Highway 60, Hillsborough Avenue near 30th Street and Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Boulevard and Lois are still up and running.

Hillsborough County Tax Collector, Doug Belden, said it will also be his pleasure to re-dedicate their new offices to Ms. Mary Alice Dorsett.

"We dedicated the building on Florida and Busch in her honor, so I thought this was more than appropriate."

"Ms. Dorsett’s accomplishments warrant this and I hope she’ll be there for the re-dedication." Ms. Dorsett said she didn’t know the office was moving, but thinks what Belden is doing is wonderful.

"I feel humble and grateful with this honor. I try to do whatever I can at all times, and I do my best. It’s nice to know someone is thinking about you."

Student Nutrition Community Event To Be Held At Middleton

BY IRIS B. HOLTON
Sentinel City Editor

On Saturday, July 30th, parents will have an opportunity to learn about the nutrition program in the Hillsborough County School District. The first Student Nutrition Power Up will take place at Middleton High School, 4801 N. 22nd Street, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Ms. Ginain Grayes, of Student Nutrition Services said, “This is our first time hosting this event and we want the community to come out. We will provide computer stations where parents can apply for free or reduced meals.” During the event, recently hired District Chef Ben Guggenmos will be on hand to talk about healthy snacks. Others making an appearance include the Tampa Metro YMCA, and Zumba with fitness demonstrations.

"We are reaching out to the community because there is a huge need and we want parents to know what is available to them. Many parents don’t realize what we can provide," she said.

Some students may require special diets or they may be allergic to certain foods. Ms. Grayes stated that both allergy forms and those for special meal requests will be available at the event.

There will also be health programs for students such as Germ City, which is a hand washing activity for kids.

In addition to healthy snacks, those in attendance will also be eligible for the giveaways being offered.

"This is a great event and we’re very excited about it. We just want the community to come out and see what benefits are available for families and students."

Wealth Gap Widens: Whites’ Net Worth Is 20 Times That Of Blacks

The wealth gap between whites on one hand and blacks and Hispanics on the other stretched during the Great Recession to its widest level in a quarter-century, according to a new analysis of Census data. All racial groups saw their net worth shrink during the downturn, but that of whites shriveled much less, with the result that their median net worth is now about 20 times that of blacks and 18 times that of Hispanics.

The recession, which included a collapse in home values and high unemployment, took the greatest toll on minority homeowners and 53 percent among Hispanic households and two-thirds of their household wealth. Among Hispanics, about two-thirds of their household wealth in 2005 derived from homes. When the housing bubble burst, their median level of home equity declined by about half - from $99,983 to $49,145 - taking much of their wealth with it.

Home equity for Blacks - which accounted for about 59 percent of their household net worth in 2005 - fell by 23 percent, from $76,910 then to $59,000 in 2009.

Meanwhile, white families tend to own other assets in addition to homes, which add to their wealth.

Whites are three to four times as likely as Hispanics and Blacks to own stocks and mutual fund shares, according to the Pew study. About 26 percent of white net worth in 2005 came from stocks and mutual funds, IRA, Keogh and 401(k) accounts, compared with 10 percent of net worth for blacks and 15 percent for Hispanics.

Minorities have also lost much of their wealth due to higher unemployment during and since the recession.

FrontPage Firm client Kevin Frazier, host of The Insider and founder of HipHollywood.com, recently attended the Black Sports Agents Association (BSAA) Post-ESPY Reception, co-hosted by Andre Farr, BSAA Chairman and CEO, and LA Lakers Forward Matt Barnes. Frazier, Farr and Barnes came together to raise awareness to Athletes vs. Cancer (founded by Matt Barnes) and to honor ESPN’s Stuart Scott. Frazier introduced his friend and former colleague, Stuart Scott for his charitable work to raise awareness for Cancer research. Frazier commended Scott, a Cancer survivor, for the professional and positive demeanor that he always displayed during their time together at ESPN. Scott received an exclusive customized watch from Lex Diamond International.

\[\text{Michael Vick} \]

PHILADELPHIA – Michael Vick’s endorsement deal with a sports nutrition company lasted less than one month because of a similar contract with a competitor. Earlier this month, Vick signed a five-year agreement with FUSE Science, Inc., to promote its line of sports nutrition products. But Double Eagle Holdings Ltd., which owns FUSE Science, terminated the deal after MusclePharm Corp. wrote a news release stating Vick agreed to a three-year pact with that outfit, and in doing so, MusclePharm became the exclusive sports nutrition company of Vick.

FUSE Science disclosed in SEC filing on Tuesday that the company learned of Vick’s association with a competitive company on or about July 20. Vick, who led the Philadelphia Eagles to a 10-6 record and an NFC East title last season as his comeback continued, reported to the team’s facility on Tuesday, and will begin training camp later this week.

Jalen Rose Gets 20 Days In Jail For Drunk Driving

BLOOMFIELD HILLS, Mich. – ESPN analyst and former NBA player Jalen Rose was sentenced to 20 days in jail Wednesday for a drunken-driving crash along a snowy suburban Detroit road.

Rose, a college star at the University of Michigan, actually was sentenced to 92 days in custody, but District Court Judge Kimberly Small suspended all but 20. He also was given a year of probation.

Rose pleaded guilty in May. At that time, he said he veered off a West Bloomfield Township road in March after drinking six martinis. His blood-alcohol content was 0.12 percent, above Michigan’s legal driving limit of 0.08. No one was injured.

Jets, Santonio Holmes Agree

The New York Jets addressed the No. 1 item on their free-agent list, coming to terms Wednesday morning with wide receiver Santonio Holmes, according to a league source.

The deal is for five years and $50 million, with $34 million guaranteed. It’s one of the biggest guarantees ever given to a wide receiver. The Cardinals gave Larry Fitzgerald a $30 million guarantee.

In accordance with the rules of the recent labor agreement, Holmes isn’t permitted to sign the contract until Friday.

Chargers Add Spikes, Sanders And Re-Sign Two

Free agency has not been a road well traveled for the Chargers’ general manager A.J. Smith. But he has generally prioritized the re-signing of players within the organization rather than fishing in the foreign waters of the free-agent pool.

Tuesday, the Chargers captains of personnel reeled in two veteran defenders and prevented two unrestricted free agents from jumping ship.

The Chargers defense will be immediately infused with veteran leadership after the reported agreements with linebacker Takeo Spikes and safety Bob Sanders. The Sanders deal was agreed to in principle months ago, but was not consummated prior to the lockout and

Vikes Have Trade For McNabb

DONOVAN McNABB

The Washington Redskins, Vikings and Donovan McNabb have a preliminary agreement in place for the veteran quarterback to be traded to Minnesota.

The compensation issues that were the stumbling blocks to the trade appear to be resolved.

The one sticking point now appears to be McNabb’s concern about how the Vikings’ side of the situation was handled. Sources said there were some in the organization who expressed a preference in acquiring quarterback Tyler Thigpen, who since has agreed to terms with the Buffalo Bills.

McNabb will be making far less than the $14.75 million he would have due from the Redskins, but it is not clear how much he will be paid, and how any incentives would alter his compensation.

Trade for Bush on Thursday by negotiating a new two-year contract for nearly $10 million with him, a person familiar with the talks said. It wasn't known what the Saints would receive in the trade. Miami acquired former Heisman winner Ricky Williams from the Saints in 2002, with mixed results. He won an NFL rushing title with the Dolphins, but they haven’t won a playoff game since that trade. Bush was due about $11.8 million this season, the final year of his Saints contract. It would have been difficult for them to justify paying that when they can get a small piece of compensation for getting a two-time All-Pro with one of the most lucrative contracts in NFL history. Haynesworth has been a constant headache for the Rams since signing a seven-year, $100 million contract as a free agent in 2009. He was "blown away" by Carolina’s offer and the money convinced him to choose Carolina over Atlanta and Denver, who also expressed interest. "Could you have turned that down?" Johnson said of the contract with a laugh.

To Acquire Albert Haynesworth From Redskins

ASHBURN, Va.— The Albert Haynesworth saga is finally over in Washington. A person familiar with the deal says the disgruntled defensive tackle was shipped to the New England Patriots on Thursday for a 2013 fifth-round draft pick, a relatively small piece of compensation for a two-time All-Pro with one of the most lucrative contracts in NFL history. Haynesworth has been a constant headache for the Redskins since signing a seven-year, $100 million contract as a free agent in 2009. The deal included a then-record $41 million in guaranteed money.

Last year, Haynesworth constantly feuded with coach Mike Shanahan and was suspended for the final four games of the season. It goes without saying that Beck isn’t the most revered figure in left-wing politics, and is certainly not a favorite in the talks said. Saints, Dolphins Agree To Reggie Bush Trade Pending Renegotiation

MIAMI — Nine years later, the Miami Dolphins have again traded for a New Orleans Saints running back who won the Heisman Trophy. This time it’s Reggie Bush. The Dolphins finalized a trade for Bush on Thursday by negotiating a new two-year contract for nearly $10 million with him, a person familiar with the talks said. The team confirmed the deal Tuesday night and Johnson said he plans to sign the deal on Friday. Johnson said he was “blown away” by Carolina’s
Jay-Z, Kanye West Announce Album Release Date, Tour

Throne watchers now have another date to focus on, this time an official one. It has finally been confirmed that on August 8, Jay-Z and Kanye West will release their highly anticipated joint LP, Watch the Throne, digitally on iTunes. Compact disc lovers will be able to purchase physical copies a few days later on August 12. But when searching for the CD at local retail spots, fans shouldn’t look under “J” for Jay or “W” for West, but rather “T,” as the duo has officially christened their group the Throne. Multiplatinum hip-hop supergroups cannot live by album sales alone, so on August 8 tickets for the Watch the Throne tour will also go on sale to the general public. The 24-date Live Nation-produced run will begin in Detroit on September 22 and wrap up on November 3 in Boston.

Dave Chappelle Apologizes To Stand Up Audience For ’Bad Attitude

After he made national headlines Friday night by bombing at Alonzo Mourning’s Summer Groove charity comedy event, comedian Dave Chappelle appeared at the Summer Groove gala Saturday night and poked a little fun at himself.

“His ten-minute outing was a well-received,” reported a media member present, and consisted of a little self-effacing humor, praise for Mourning, and two funny stories about run-ins with headliner Alicia Keys.

Chappelle also apologized for his “bad attitude,” introduced performer Cee-lo Green, and -- this time -- got off the stage on time.

“The second [was] try better than the first,” tweeted Miami.com. “No hecklers and Dave Chappelle doing well...time to call it a comeback.”

Trial Won’t Feature Unreleased Michael Jackson Footage

LOS ANGELES -- Jurors in the Michael Jackson manslaughter case will not watch previously unseen footage from the singer’s final rehearsals to determine the state of his health before his death, a judge ruled Monday.

Superior Court Judge Michael Pastor agreed with the characterization of a defense attorney for Dr. Conrad Murray that more than 100 hours of rehearsal footage condensed into the film “This Is It” did not show the singer in poor health.

Pastor also agreed with attorneys for Sony Pictures Entertainment that the clips have significant value and should not be publicly shown without a good reason.

Flo Rida -- I Am Not That Baby’s Daddy!

Flo Rida is in the middle of a paternity war -- even though the rapper claims he has scientific PROOF he’s NOT the baby daddy. Mr. Rida is accused of fathering a son with a woman named Gloria Halloway.

The kid was born earlier this year.

Flo’s attorney, Sandy Becher, tells TMZ ... the rapper took a paternity test last month that ruled him out as the boy’s father ... but he used a pseudonym to protect his identity.

But Halloway isn’t buying it -- claiming she has yet to see a document with Flo’s REAL NAME on it ... and her lawyer, Damon McDougal, tells us, “There is ab-
Dame Dash Owes $3M To IRS

Dame Dash's financial records have been faltering the past few years and now the Roc-A-Fella co-founder owes $3 million in taxes to Uncle Sam.

To clear his debt, Dash has to pay $2,984,364. Back in 2008, it was reported he faced foreclosure on his home after missing mortgage payments.

At that time, the former music mogul had owed $2 million to the IRS.

After selling his share of the label to Def Jam, Dash has since been working with various music artists in New York City.

None of which seem to be paying his bills, however.

R. Kelly Owes Over $837,000 In Back Federal Taxes

R. Kelly's medical hiatus from performing seems to have come at the wrong time financially. The Chicago crooner reportedly owes over $837,000 in delinquent federal taxes.

The IRS filed an $837,442.59 lien against the singer on January 6. Kelly recently had his debt to Uncle Sam lightened when the IRS lifted a $1,036,858 tax against him last month, but he still has the $897.K tab.

The singer also faces possible foreclosure on his $2.9 million Chicago mansion.

As previously reported, Robert was rushed to the hospital for an emergency throat surgery. He was released following the procedure and will take a break from performing to heal.

Game Says He Wants To Join Cash Money After New Album

While Game is still receiving criticism over his "Uncle Otis" track, he may be getting even more criticism for a recent quote.

Game hinted that after the release of his R.E.D. album that he'd like to make the move to join Birdman and Lil Wayne at Cash Money Records.

"We been playing with the idea of going over to Cash Money or trying to marry that and Black Wall Street. So, we'll figure it out before the end of the day. I definitely think that's where I'll probably end up. Cause they winning, they want to win and I been winning and want to continue to win."

With only one more album to Uncle Sam, that's what Game said he expects to reach a new agreement with Cash Money sooner rather than later.

According to Game, who's recorded in the past with Weezy, he's been tight with the YMCMB clan since NBA player Baron Davis's days with the New Orleans Hornets.

T-Pain Battles Autotune In Court

T-Pain and Antares Tech. has ended in a lawsuit over the rapper/producer's association with the company's Autotune effect.

The rapper, who used to officially endorse Antares autotune effect, ended his deal with the company in June and formed a new company with Izotope, to promote his own line of "T-Pain" audio effects.

Game hinted that after the release of his R.E.D. album that he'd like to make the move to join Birdman and Lil Wayne at Cash Money Records.

Jacksons Announces MJ Tribute Concert

The Jackson family is announcing a tribute concert for the late Michael Jackson nearly two years after his death.

Katherine Jackson and her children, Tito, LaToya, Marlon and Jackie held a press conference Monday on the "Michael Forever Tribute Concert" scheduled to take place October 8 in Cardiff, Wales.

Waka Flocka Flame Arrested In NYC, Later Released

Waka Flocka Flame was arrested in Queens, New York last weekend, and later released. The Atlanta rapper was spotted by officer's smoking pot in the parking lot of the Coliseum Mall and popped on criminal possession of marijuana.

According to Waka, he spent a night in jail, but was never charged with a crime and later released.

He missed a show date because of the ordeal and later addressed the incident via his Twitter page tweeting.

"I'm finna jump on my flight 2 Ka ... sorry 2 da whole m town 4 not coming. I had spend a nite njail with the $1,000 fine, which is basically $11.70 in U.S. currency."

Nicki Fined For Using Profanity At Concert In Jamaica

Nicki Minaj might not have been informed, but she wasn't supposed to curse during her show at Jamaica's Reggae SunFest.

According to reports, The Harajuku Barbie was fined for using expletives during her show.

Minaj was handed a summons as she left the stage early on Sunday morning.

She did not appear in court, but her attorney Hugh Thompson appeared on her behalf, entered a guilty plea and paid the $1,000 fine, which is basically $11.70 in U.S. currency.

Recession Strategies For Your 401(k)

Tips For Successful Retirement Planning

Part II

Here are some tips that can help you achieve 401(k) success.

- Resist the urge to stop contributing to your workplace-provided retirement plan. Yes, times are tough and money is tight. But an invading spirit of human behavior is inertia. Once you’re in the plan, you tend to stay in it, and once you leave it, it will be tough to restart. Do yourself and the plan a favor, and stay on course and reap the benefits when the economy recovers.

- Keep your focus on the long term. Retirement plans are long financial vehicles, so keep your eyes on the goals: investing as much as possible for your future retirement and investing for the long-term. Attempting to time the market or looking for a hot buy can be very dangerous. It’s easy to cause you to miss out on upturns you can’t predict.

How A Reverse Mortgage Works

Reverses mortgage are available to homeowners who are at least 62 years old, allowing them to convert a portion of their home equity into cash, receiving either a lump sum or regularly scheduled payments. Borrowers may convert their home equity into cash for any purpose they wish, providing they continue paying the property tax and insurance, and maintain the property. Once the last borrower on the loan moves out of the house or dies, the home is sold, the lender collects its money, and any funds that remain go to the borrowers or their heirs.

Borrowers, however, have to pay an upfront mortgage insurance premium fee if they are seeking a Home Equity Conversion Mortgage that is offered through the Department of Housing and Urban Development and insured by the Federal Housing Administration. And like a traditional loan, borrowers may also end up paying a loan origination fee and closing costs.

Dear Deanna!

My daughter ended a relationship that was abusive, degrading and disrespectful. We went through the hassle of moving her to another location, helping get her a new job and a new school for the children. As soon as she gets some money saved, a few new friends and things look promising, she lets her boyfriend come back. We’re losing our minds because he’s put her in the hospital, took her money and everything else. What can I say to get through to her.

Mad Mother

On-Line Reader

Dear Mad Mother:

Have a talk with your daughter and let her know that she can’t smell the roses if she’s dead.

Relationships can make people do crazy things including hurting the ones they love. Your daughter has low self-esteem and only counseling and strong family intervention can help. As a mother you need to stand by your daughter, love her and try not to be judgmental as she gets it together and hopefully we’ll see the reality of the monster she’s with before it’s too late.

Dear Deanna!

I’m a senior citizen female and very active in all areas of my life with no plans to slow down.

FLORIDA SENTINEL, BULLETIN PUBLISHED EVERY TUESDAY AND FRIDAY
ON JULY 14TH, ANTONIO DAVIS WAS CONVICTED BY A JURY AND SENTENCED TO 30 YEARS IN PRISON AS A HABITUAL FELONY OFFENDER.

In late July 2010, DAVIS was tracked through the court system after he was arrested for his latest crime spree on July 7, 2010.

On July 7, 2010, DAVIS reportedly entered a Sweetbay Supermarket and tried to pass a bad check. While awaiting verification of the check, DAVIS reportedly stole a woman's wallet from her purse in a shopping cart.

The owner of the wallet witnessed the theft and followed DAVIS out of the store into the parking lot. The photo of the wallet started screaming for help and a Good Samaritan driving through the parking lot stopped to help. The Good Samaritan got out of his vehicle and chased DAVIS, who had entered an older model vehicle.

Davis then started the car and struck the Good Samaritan as he was fleeing. The person received minor injuries.

A sergeant with the Hillsborough County Sheriff's Office was on duty driving through the parking lot and witnessed the incident. The sergeant activated his emergency lights and, when DAVIS saw the sergeant approaching, he reportedly rammed the vehicle head on. The sergeant called for back-up while DAVIS backed his vehicle up and rammed the sergeant's vehicle again.

A detective responded to the call for help and when he pulled into the parking lot, the detective struck a concrete light pole and was seriously injured.

Judge Daniel Sleet sentenced DAVIS as a habitual felony offender which will require him to serve 100% of his prison term. The judge also told DAVIS that his actions endangered the police, innocent shoppers and citizens in the area.

East Tampa Resident Continues Pursuit Of Loud Music Legislation

BY LEON B. CREWS

No one has been more persistent about combating the loud music coming from cars than East Tampa resident, Clay Daniels.

On numerous occasions, Daniels has appeared before the Tampa City Council and County Commissioners, asking for support in getting something done legally to put a stop to the disturbing and annoying loud music.

"Sometimes, it seems they are right in here with me. Anything loud enough to rattle the windows inside your home has to be wrong. There's no reason for anyone to ride around playing music that loud."

Daniels was disappointed to find out that a Florida Statute regarding amplified sound from cars was held unconstitutional.

"I wish more people in the community would stand by me on this issue. This is a quality of life issue, and I'd like to see some legislation passed that will give the police something to work with in combating this problem."

BISHOP MATTHEW WILLIAMS
Pastor

Many are the sorrows of the wicked, but steadfast love surrounds the one who trusts in the LORD.

Psalm 32:10
What Are You Going To Do Now?

God is a God of love, care, compassion, grace, mercy and a lot more. Often times people think they can take advantage of God because of these attributes. They demonstrate this by living a life of contradictions. They make people believe they are for God by “acting churchy” and talking a good game. But their lifestyle and where they spend most of their time tells a different story.

This behavior brings us to this week’s lesson in Judges 10:10-18; 11:4-6, 32, 33. The people have upset God yet again by being unfaithful to Him after all He has done for them. Consequence of their actions has led God to allow their enemy to have victory over them sequence of their actions has tells a different story.

As usual the children of Israel cried out to God and acknowledged their sin of forsaking God and serving other gods (vs. 10). Being oppressed and mistreated for a period of time will bring most people to a place of repentance. Too often people get so caught up in life and living that they do not recognize that the thing they used to control is now controlling them. God wants you to recognize the state of life you are in, humble yourself, and repent.

You can repent, but you must hear what God has to say. God spoke to them reminding of previous times they were in bondage and when they cried out He delivered them (vv. 11, 12). This reminder can serve two purposes: 1) to remind you of where He has brought you from, and 2) to help you understand why He is about to punish you.

God says in spite all the things He has done and all He has brought you out of, you still forsake Him and serve other gods (vs. 13). God takes note of the times He has come to your aid and rescue and how you respond to His deliverance. God does not take delight in you coming to Him when you are in trouble and you show your gratitude by going back over those who want to oppress you.

Perhaps you do not feel that you are being oppressed in your life but often times it is about the comfort you show your commitment. God sees that when you are in trouble, you come to Him but when things are well you give your time, talent, and attention to other people and things.

God’s conclusion is “I will not deliver you no more”. God has had enough! God will eventually get enough of your treatment of Him and taking advantage of His grace. He further suggests to them to go and cry to the gods they have chosen and let that god deliver them (vs. 14). God speaks with a tone to let them know that He is certainly not happy with them. They are in a bad place. The god they have forsaken God for cannot deliver them and they have upset the God who can.

What are you going to do when you find yourself in a situation where God has gotten enough of you calling Him when you are in trouble but you keep going to back to serve those who can’t help you? Can you call on the people you are forsaking God for to help you when you are in over your head? Can those people you neglect God for deliver you from the sickness and disease that plagues your life?

They pleaded with God, He delivered them and they returned to Him (vs. 15). Although God gets tired of the games His people play, He remains faithful to them and shows them mercy. God wants His people to be as faithful and committed to Him as He is to them.

They put away the other gods and served the Lord (vs. 16). That is what they did. What are you going to do? Are you going to put away the other gods and people you allow to separate you from the God who has delivered you?

Breakthrough Research On Beating Arthritis Pain Naturally

Osteoarthritis has long been considered a "wear and tear" disease associated with age-related changes that occur within cartilage and bone. Now: A growing body of evidence shows that osteoarthritis may have a metabolic basis. Poor diet results in inflammatory changes and damage in cartilage cells, which in turn leads to cartilage breakdown and the development of osteoarthritis.

Get Creative With Exercise

If you have diabetes or prediabetes, you’ve probably been told to get more exercise. Walking is especially helpful. For those with diabetes, walking for at least two hours a week has been shown to reduce the risk for death by 32% over an eight-year period. For those with prediabetes, walking for 90 minutes five days a week reduces by about 60% the risk that your condition will progress to diabetes.

Acupuncture Cools Hot Flashes Caused By Cancer Drugs

As if breast cancer weren’t bad enough. After the chemotherapy and radiation, women usually take anti-estrogen drugs (such as Tamoxifen) for five years, which often trigger severe hot flashes and night sweats.

The standard medical treatment for these hot flashes is venlafaxine (Effexor), an antidepressant drug. It works (though doctors don’t know why), but it comes with its own set of possible side effects, such as nausea, dry mouth, dizziness and anxiety.

To Achieve Long Term Happiness, Challenge Yourself

You might think that the secret to everyday and long term happiness is avoiding emotional, mental and physical stress as much as possible.

A new study shows that the momentary stress and lack of pleasure from mastering any challenging activity – such as learning to play a new instrument or speak a new language – can lead to more daily and long-term happiness.

There are three main types of diabetes:

- Type 1 diabetes: results from the body’s failure to produce insulin, and presently requires the person to inject insulin. (Also referred to as insulin-dependent diabetes mellitus, IDDM for short, and juvenile diabetes.)
- Type 2 diabetes: results from insulin resistance, a condition in which cells fail to use insulin properly, sometimes combined with an absolute insulin deficiency.
- Gestational diabetes: is when pregnant women, who have never had diabetes before, have a high blood glucose level during pregnancy. It may precede development of type 2 DM.

What Is Diabetes?

Part II

The Signs and Symptoms

The symptoms of type 1 diabetes are often sudden and severe. These symptoms include: increased thirst, increased hunger, dry mouth, frequent urination, unexplained weight loss, fatigue, blurred vision, numbness or tingling of the hands and feet, loss of consciousness, slow healing sores and cuts, itching of the skin, yeast infections, recent weight gain.

The symptoms of type 2 diabetes may be the same as those listed above. Most often, there are no symptoms or a very gradual development of the symptoms of type 1 diabetes.

Seafood Twice A Week... Keep Your Heart And Your Health At Its Peak

By Tonia Turner

Wondering how you'll manage fitting seafood into your diet twice a week?

Look no further than the nutrient filled, protein packed, super shellfish - shrimp.

Shrimp can benefit your heart and your health by eating just one 3 oz. serving of shrimp, twice a week.

This equates to just 100 calories and less than two grams of fat, while also delivering healthy omega-3s and a whopping 20 grams of protein.

Great food and benefits, what a meal deal!

Ginger Glazed Shrimp

1-1/2 pounds jumbo shrimp, peeled and deveined
2 tablespoons ginger preserves
Juice of 2 limes
1/2 cup coarsely chopped cilantro leaves

DIRECTIONS: In a large skillet, heat 2 tablespoons extra-virgin olive oil over medium-high heat. Add the shrimp and stir-fry until partially cooked, 1-2 min. Stir in the ginger preserves and cook until the shrimp are pink and firm, about 2 min. Remove from the heat, toss with lime juice and cilantro; season to taste.

---

Shrimp Cocktails

1-1/2 pounds cooked, frozen shrimp (peeled)
2 cups bloody mary mix
3/4 cups tomato catsup
3/4 cups pico de gallo or chunky salsa
2 tablespoons fresh lime juice
1 avocado, diced

Garnish: tortilla chips

DIRECTIONS: To thaw the shrimp, place them in a collander under cold running water and toss several times to expose all the shrimp to the water. Let drain for 5-8 minutes.

Please Note: This is very important. Thawing shrimp in the refrigerator makes them "fishy"....this process takes less than 10 minutes.

Combine the bloody mary mix, catsup, pico de gallo or salsa, fresh lime juice and avocado (mix and match the variety of ingredients to add a little pizzaz.)

Add thawed shrimp that has been chopped and refrigerate until ready to serve. This can be done up to 24 hours in advance.

Display the shrimp mixture in decorative martini glasses... festive and fun!
Shrimp Martini

Shrimp, peeled and deveined
Salsa
1 ripe mango, diced
1 ripe papaya, diced
2 roma tomatoes, diced
1/2 red onion, diced
1 red bell pepper, diced
1 green bell pepper, diced
1 bunch cilantro chopped
(2 tablespoons)
1 lime, juiced
1 teaspoon honey
1-1/2 tablespoons vegetable oil
Salt and pepper to taste

Garnish
4 ounces prepared cocktail sauce
4 pitted green olives
4 Slices lime
2 ounces wasabi aioli

DESCRIPTION: Poach shrimp in 2 quarts salted water until cooked through (3 minutes). Remove and chill in ice water.
Salsa: Mix all ingredients and season with salt and pepper.
To serve: Arrange 4 oversized martini glasses (about 10 oz) with salsa. Divide salsa evenly among the 4 glasses. Arrange 4 shrimp per glass. Garnish each with olive and lime slice.
Make a design on the plates with the cocktail sauce and wasabi, aioli.
Place 1 glass on each plate and serve.

Shrimp Ceviche

1 lb. cooked, peeled and deveined shrimp
3 lemons, juiced
3 limes, juiced
1/2 cup cucumber, peeled, seeded and diced
1/2 cup red onion, finely chopped
1 serrano chile, seeded and finely chopped
1 cup seeded and diced tomatoes
1 avocado, peeled, seeded, and chopped
1/2 bunch cilantro roughly chopped,

Garnish
Cilantro leaves

DIRECTIONS: Defrost and drain shrimp. Transfer to a bowl. Add lime and lemon juices. Stir in cucumber, red onion and Serrano chile. Refrigerate for 1 hour.
Stir in tomato, avocado and chopped cilantro. Mix gently, taste and season with salt. Allow to sit at room temperature for about 20 minutes before serving.
Serve: Spoon ceviche into martini glasses or small bowls.
Garnish with sprigs of cilantro and slices of lime.
Serve with tortilla chips or fried plantain strips.

WASHINGTON -- In unprecedented back-to-back appearances on nationwide television, President Barack Obama and House Speaker John Boehner clashed Monday night over the cause and cure for the nation's debt crisis. The two men spoke as Congress remained gridlocked on legislation to avoid a threatened default after Aug. 2.

Decrying a "partisan three-ring circus" in the nation's capital, Obama assailed a newly minted Republican plan to raise the nation's debt limit as an invitation to another crisis in six months' time. He said established congressional leaders must produce a compromise that can reach his desk before the deadline.

"The American people may have voted for divided government, but they didn't vote for a dysfunctional government," the president said in a hastily arranged prime-time speech. He appealed to the public to contact lawmakers, then his own, to demand "a balanced approach" to reducing federal deficits -- including tax increases for the wealthy and cuts in spending cuts.

Responding moments later from a room near the House chamber, Boehner said the "crisis atmosphere" was of the president's making.

"The sad truth is that the president wanted a blank check from the American people," Boehner said. "The president had a balanced approach to turning the nation around." He said the president must push a debt plan to Congress by Aug. 2.

Despite warnings to the contrary, U.S. financial markets appeared to take the political maneuvering in stride -- so far. Wall Street posted losses Monday but with no indication of panic among investors.

Without signed legislation by day's end on Aug. 2, the Treasury will be unable to pay all its bills, possibly triggering a government default. Without a balanced approach to reducing the federal debt by at least $2 trillion in one vote, enough to avoid a recurrence of the acrimonious current struggle until after the 2012 election.

Republicans want a two-step process that would require a second vote in the midst of the 2012 campaign with control of the White House and both houses of Congress at stake.

President Barack Obama

Democrats, drafted rival emergency legislation to head off a potentially devastating default.

The back-to-back speeches did little to suggest that a compromise was in the offing, and the next steps appeared to be votes in the House and Senate on the rival plans by mid-week.

Despite warnings to the contrary, U.S. financial markets appeared to take the political maneuvering in stride -- so far. Wall Street posted losses Monday but with no indication of panic among investors.

Celebration Of Appreciation For Service And Leadership

Recently, the Pastors and members of the Tampa WestCoast District Church of God by Faith traveled to the City of Palms (Fort Myers, Florida) to render a service of appreciation to Elder Calvin and First Lady Belinda McDonald. The chosen theme of this memorable occasion was Conquerors through Christ.

Minister Anthony Landers served as the Master of Ceremony. The Tampa WestCoast District Choir stirred it up with a few praise selections.

First Lady Regina Phillips rendered the introduction of the messenger of the hour, Elder Neal T. Phillips, Pastor of Victory Temple COGFB in Lakeland. Elder Phillips’ message of encouragement and recognition of the honorees was entitled “He is One of Them.”

In her Expression of Gratitude, Sister Carolyn Cowan thanked all of the guests who traveled from near and far to show homage for New Life’s great leader and leading lady.

Congratulations, Graduates!

On Friday, May 20, 2011, Luster-All Training Center of Hope (L. A. T. C. H.) hosted commencement exercises for graduates of its Home Health Aide program. The host-site was Mt. Olive Freewill Baptist Church in Bartow, Reverend Andrew Farley, Pastor.

Dr. Harvey Lester, President/CEO introduced the keynote speaker, Jessica Butler of Utopia Home Healthcare. The presentation of certificates was conducted by Dr. Lester and Eula Lowe, R.N., Program Instructor.

The graduates were: Takisha Faison, Carlena James, Amber Jones, Sharonda Strong and Sharon K. Turley. Congratulations, Graduates! Shaw-Nuf wishes you much success in your future endeavors.

Fundraiser Event To Be Held

Prime Time Sister Circles held its graduation at the Children's Board on July 6, 2011. During this ceremony, the 300th graduate was recognized. She is Lashawnda Gissendanner. The goal of Prime Time Sister Circles is to empower African American women over the age of 40 to give attention to their own body, mind and spirit. (Photos by BRUNSON)

Among those who attended the graduation ceremony were Robin Berry and C. Bowden.

Angela Kelly, Valerie Williams and Jacquelyn Walker attended the ceremony.

With the support of Dr. Carolyn Collins, President of the Hillsborough County Branch of the NAACP, Ms. Yvette Lewis spearheaded a recent community political meeting. Ms. Lewis is the NAACP Political Action Committee Chair.

There were about 50 attendees at the meeting held the day after July 4th at the Lee Davis Center. There were no special invitations extended to elected officials, "simply because we are trying to get the grassroots community involved in politics again," she said. The theme is "My Voice, My Vote, My Power - Taking My Community Back."

Of the nine Greek organizations in the community, 5 of them were represented, a positive sign on concern, Ms. Lewis stated. Some have already committed to adopt a precinct and so have several neighborhood associations.

Ms. Lewis' involvement in politics came about "after attending a lot of meetings, hearing about a lot of problems, but there were not problems or implementations. God put it on my heart to stop talking about it and do something. I talked with Dr. Collins and she gave me the go-ahead ... so that we can empower, educate and take ownership of our community."

This meeting is one of many that will be held leading into the 2012 elections. Travis Abercrombie of the Supervisor of Elections Office was in attendance to assist with questions. Also in attendance was Dr. Joyce Hamilton of Restoration of Felons Rights to discuss the road felons need to take to insure that they will be able to vote in 2012.

Travis Abercrombie of the Supervisor of Elections Office was in attendance to assist with questions. Also in attendance was Dr. Joyce Hamilton of Restoration of Felons Rights to discuss the road felons need to take to insure that they will be able to vote in 2012.

There are 35 predominantly African-American precincts in Hillsborough County. "We are going to need poll watchers - grassroots people who live in the area and really care. We've had roadblocks in our way before."

The next community meeting is planned for late August. The date will be announced later. (Photos by BRUNSON)
