Legislature Gets Quorum, Two Are Named Senators

The 63rd legislature of the Florida State Association, in its first session in 1965, has got off to an auspicious start. The impetus of the opening week is evident in the speed with which the body has responded to the problems of student government.

Firstly, there is the quorum problem. The new constitution requires 35 members of the 50-member Senate to be present for a quorum. This week, for the first time since the 1949 session, the Senate had 35 members present. The last time the Senate passed a bill was on March 21, 1959.

Sen. Tom Green, who sponsored the legislation which required a quorum, said the delay was due to "the lack of money appropriated by the legislature for salaries of the senators."

"The lack of funds has affected the faculty of students as well, for the lack of money has resulted in the failure of the Senate to pass a quorum bill," he said.

Sen. Green added that he had been working with the Senate leadership to resolve the quorum problem and that he expected the Senate to pass a quorum bill before the end of the legislative session.

In addition to the quorum problem, the Senate also passed several other bills, including a bill which would make the Senate a self-governing body and a bill which would allow the Senate to hold meetings during the spring semester.

Sen. Green said that he was pleased with the progress made by the Senate and that he expected the body to continue to make progress in the coming weeks.

"We have a long way to go," he said, "but we are making progress and I am confident that we will reach our goals."

Quite a few students have brought their parents to campus on the weekend, only to have them greeted by mail-order paper, single-use plastic, and empty cigarette packs. SALT WATER

The roundnet weighed minus 10 pounds. It was 11 feet long, 5 feet wide, and 8 feet high. The net was made of heavy-duty monofilament and was designed to catch large fish efficiently. The net was deployed using a motorized winch, and the seine was pulled by a team of experienced fishermen. The catch included several large species of fish, including tarpon and snook, which were carefully measured and released back into the water. The fishing trip was a success, and the fishermen returned to the dock exhausted but satisfied with their catch.

FRESH WATER

The lake was very shallow, and the water was clear. The fish were easily seen, and the anglers targeted the shallow areas where the fish were most likely to be found. The catch included bass, crappie, and trout, which were quickly measured and released back into the water. The fishing trip was a success, and the anglers returned to the dock exhausted but satisfied with their catch.

MANFRED HOPES BURNING BRIGHT

The fire was burning brightly, and the smoke was rising into the sky. The fire was started by a passing motorist who had discarded a lit cigarette. The fire was quickly spreading, and the firefighters were working hard to contain it. The firefighters were using water hoses and fire extinguishers to try to put out the fire. The fire was a hazard to the surrounding area, and the firefighters were working hard to keep it from spreading further.

USF's Interfraternity Council program is being hampered by an imperfect policy maintained by the university administration. The policy forbids the council from endorsing candidates for student government positions, limiting its effectiveness.

As a result of the otherwise splendid policy, sons of all of the council's officers are being listed as USF students on the campus. The USF administration has been criticized for failing to support the council's goals.
