Action Line 619
Opens Today For Calls, Service
"Action Line 619" begins today in a new service by The Oracle staff for the University Community, according to Jim Rock, editor for the June 14 issue.
In Action Line, USF's student body can ask questions, receive answers and attempt to gain action out of some of the problems that may be affecting the students.
Members of the Oracle Editorial Board will investigate the problems presented by the students in Action Line and attempt to bring about the solution.
To see this service, you won't have to do it in USF's Student Union or call "the Oracle Line."
A member of The Oracle Editorial Board will then take your complaint, give or request action.
The calls will then be investigated and the findings presented in The Oracle.
If there is no one to respond to your problem, you will be asked to identify yourself to all members of the Editorial Board so that the problem can be brought to their attention.
Anonymous calls will be accepted.
For the first week only, private answers may be called into Action Line.
The action cannot be taken during the investigation. Do not present the entire problem but only the details of the circumstance and why action may be taken.
If interested, the USF or others who are present with your problems will not be asked or told. The Editor Line will change to begin in a week.
"I have to do it is odd?" Whaley said, "And what did you or why any is.
The service begins today.

OPINION

The Councils Must Unify Student Voice

BY JEFF WELLS

In order to operate a student governance system that has never been more representative of student ideas and sentiments, we must first fully understand each student themselves.

In this student body, there is a wide variety of students. Some are members of the fraternity system, some are members of the sorority system, and some are students who are not affiliated with any of these groups. It is important to understand each student and their individual needs and desires.

The first step in achieving this goal is to understand the nature of student governance. Student governance is the process by which students are involved in the decision-making process of the university. This can be accomplished through the establishment of student councils, which are elected by the students to represent their interests.

The establishment of these student councils is essential for the unification of student voice. By forming these councils, students can come together to discuss and debate the issues that affect them. This can be done in a variety of ways, such as through meetings, forums, and debates. In this way, students can come together to form a unified voice that can be heard by the university administration.

Additionally, student councils can be used to improve the university experience for students. By involving students in the decision-making process, the university can ensure that the needs and desires of the students are being met. This can be done by establishing committees and task forces to address specific issues, and by involving students in the development of policies and procedures.

In conclusion, the establishment of student councils is essential for the unification of student voice. By understanding each student and their individual needs and desires, and by involving students in the decision-making process, we can ensure that the needs and desires of the students are being met.

Sincerely,

Jeff Wells

South Tampa - The Rats, led by Mike Stuart and Ron Num, scored four runs in the first two innings and held off a late Rollins charge to defeat the Tars, 8-1, Saturday.

Several records were set by the Rats, including a long two-run homer by Mike Stuart in the fifth inning. The Rats also set a new record of four minutes and 19 seconds over their last four pick-up games. With the division for the original ten fraternities broken into two divisions, six team fraternities and inter-play only in tournament, Lambda Chi Alpha picked up the league with inter-play only in tournament and in championship play, of the two as is attested by their close level with the larger fraternities in team sports. Paris Chamber Orchestra To Play

A widely acclaimed chamber orchestra from France will perform here this week. The Paul Kuentz Paris Chamber Orchestra will present two concerts on Tuesday, 15 March at 7:30 p.m. in the University Theatre as a part of the USF Artist Series.

Tickets are on sale today through Friday at the Theatre Box Office, 1537 Tampa Ave., or by calling 221-3711. The 15 actions were taken in honor of a 50th anniversary of the previous year in Europe for the same period of 25 years. The Kuentz orchestra first performed here in 1962 and is widely recognized as one of the leading French musical ensembles. Its first American engagements took place in 1968 and seven seasons ago, the Kuentz orchestra made its debut in New York. According to reports from the New York Times, the orchestra was rehearsing in the Metropolitan Opera House in New York, New York.

The Kuentz Paris Chamber Orchestra has made some 65 recordings for the Decca, Columbia, and Vox labels and has given more than 160 performances of various works. It is the first time that the Kuentz orchestra has appeared in the United States. Its repertoire includes a wide range of music, from the early baroque to contemporary works.

On Tuesday, March 15, the Kuentz orchestra will present a program that includes music by French composers such as Berlioz, Debussy, and Ravel. The program will also feature works by other notable French composers, including Fauré and Dukas.

Two concerts of the Paris repair, sponsored by the USF Music Department, will be presented at the University Band, under the direction of Dr. James Whaley, on Tuesday, March 15, at 7:30 p.m. in the University Theatre. The program will feature works by French composers such as Berlioz, Debussy, and Ravel. The program will also feature works by other notable French composers, including Fauré and Dukas.
