Ferguson: University System In Danger Without State Funds

By ALLAN SMITH

USF Press Director and the press that the University System is in danger without state funds was among the main points discussed at the press conference held by the Florida Board of Regents, Thursday. The Board met in the University Center to discuss budget problems and the possibility of entering into a new contract with the University System.

The Board's meeting was the first of its kind this year, and it was attended by University President John Allen, USF Provost Robert G. Hoffer, USF Chancellor Charles F. Ferguson, and USF Treasurer J. D. Hoffer.

The Board's decision to hold the meeting was based on the need to address the financial situation of the University System, which has been facing severe budget cuts due to the lack of state funding.

In his opening remarks, University President John Allen emphasized the importance of the meeting and the need for the Board to take action to ensure the future viability of the University System.

The Board discussed the possibility of entering into a new contract with the University System, which would provide a financial injection to help alleviate the budget crisis. However, the Board also pointed out that a new contract would not be enough to solve the underlying problems and that more drastic measures may be necessary.

The Board's discussion was not without controversy, and there were some members who expressed concern about the impact of new contract on the University's autonomy and the rights of faculty and students.

In conclusion, the Board agreed to continue discussions on the budget crisis and to consider all possible options to help the University System. However, they also emphasized the need for the state to provide adequate funding to ensure the future of higher education in Florida.
Registration ‘Went Well’
In Short Time Allotted

November 30, 1967, students interested in joining Chemistry Club met in the Fisk Union Building of Temple Terrace to plan the club’s first meeting. Dr. Frank J. Spain, registrar, said, “The work was fantastically well out in the mass of people and so many people could be registered within a short period of time.” Students felt the check-in as needed to be done in the Fisk Union Building to the left of the Fisk Union Building and the proceeds from the registration went to the Chemistry Club.

Professors Will Form Problem Solving Group

Concerns for immediate university problems has prompted the USF administrators to encourage professors to form problem-solving groups. A meeting with Dr. Allen Freeman, chairman of the chemistry department, is scheduled for 4:30 p.m. at the USF Administration Building, according to the registrar. The department committee appointed to conduct the discussion.

The College of Liberal Arts has determined that Dr. John Herring, professor of philosophy, Dr. Carla Mayhew, assistant professor of psychology, and Dr. George Ellis, director of the psychology, psychology presides professors interested in solving the problem directly with the professor, or the educational problem and not the Registrar.

The majority of professors are presently working on their research, and Dr. Spain explained, “I do not think that there will be a lot of problems involved in registering.”

An extra door must be added to the student center before the first week of the academic year begins.

The recommendation will be made to bring up for consideration that payment was after registration had already been accomplished. The Board of Regents are preliminary to placing the accumulation of student funds into the use of the student financial aid account for the 1970-1971 academic year. Dr. Spain said, “We believe that the college should be and that it is possible that we may change this.”

Many students complained about the lack of financial aid during registration, especially when those registered find themselves. Dr. Spain said that course scheduling was the responsibility of the college department and management and not the Registrar.

State Revises Old By-Laws

The Florida state legislature has revised a set of by-laws which has been enacted by the Presbyterian Church. One of the revisions is the by-laws to be revised is the church’s charter for state governance and not the national charter. The church is changing to a state charter. The changes of the church’s charter will be revised in 1970.

The current charter of the church is subject to the control and guidance of the parish council, but by the administrative committee, the administrative committee is made up of a lay representative, a church member and a lay representative. The changes of the church’s charter will be revised in 1970.

Good Registration Despite Problems

Last week's registration was a remarkable success, an achievement which the circumstances under which it was conducted made it a little too early. At the same time, there are several steps which could be taken to improve it. In addition, we hope to make improvements to the process in the future.

We are happy to report that the registration process was well organized and efficient. The lines were not too long, and the system was able to handle the large number of students who attended.

Registration took place from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. each day from Monday to Friday. The registration area was located in the Student Center.

The process began with the students checking in at the registration table. They were then directed to the appropriate department for their major.

The departments were staffed with knowledgeable and helpful personnel. Students were able to ask questions and receive answers quickly.

The registration process was completed in a timely manner. Students were able to register for their classes and obtain their schedules within a short period of time.

We would like to thank all of the students who attended registration. Your cooperation and patience were greatly appreciated.

We are confident that the next registration period will be even more successful. We appreciate your support and look forward to serving you again.
Hippies Have Been Driven From Frisco, Way Of Life

By JACQUELINE LEJELLE

Collegian Press Service

Over 200,000 of the city's group of hippies, beatniks, and beatnik sympathizers who lived in the San Francisco Bay area were estimated to be living in the city in 1967. Among them were so many people who lived in the city that it was difficult to count them all. They have been known to carry high rackets, and the fact that what they did was illegal made it difficult to count them all. However, it is estimated that there were at least 200,000 of them in the city as they had been living for some time.

The difference — and it is a striking one, seeing how much more of a people that is in San Francisco than it is in other cities — is that the hippies have been living in the city for some time.

Co-op Program Offers Training And Money

The University Senate last month approved a new Co-operative Education Program for the University's School of Education.

The program offers students an opportunity to gain practical experience in the classroom setting while earning academic credits. The program is open to all University students and is designed to complement their academic coursework.

Students participating in the program will work part-time in schools or related institutions, gaining hands-on experience in teaching and other related fields. They will be expected to complete a minimum of 120 hours of work per academic year.

The program is divided into three levels: the first level requires 40 hours of work per year, the second level requires 60 hours, and the third level requires 80 hours.

The program is supervised by a full-time coordinator and a part-time adviser. Students interested in participating should contact the Coordinator of Co-operative Education, located in the School of Education.

Job "Hunting Season" Set For Monday

The "Hunting Season" begins Monday, for prospective employers and potential students. The buzz begins in high.

Many students have loud and airy bulletin boards near their dorms. But few have the capabilities of a campus magazine.

For the job hunter, the most effective way to get your name out there is to use the job fairs and upcoming career colloquiums.

Gene Bishop, assistant professor of psychology, said, "The job market is tough this year." He said that the students should expect to wait a little longer for interviews.
